DEFICIT LIKELY DESPITE CUTS AS TAX YIELD FALLS

Beer Alone Is Up to Estimates.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The Roosevelt administration it was learned tonight, is preparing a new tax program to finance extraordinary depression relief expenditures and also to meet a prospective 130 million dollar excess of ordinary expenditures over revenue in the fiscal year 1934.

The President discovered in the course of a talk with Budget Director Lewis Douglas today that even with economies aggregating one billion dollars it is going to be impossible to balance the budget of ordinary receipts and expenditures unless business speedily improves or additional taxes are imposed.

Tax Returns Keep Falling.

Mr. Douglas told the President that the prospective ordinary expenditures for 1934 are 2 billions 330 millions, and that the revenue in sight is estimated at 2 billions 200 millions.

About the time the Roosevelt administration came in the 1934 revenue was estimated at 2 billions 400 millions. In the intervening two months the administration has been compelled to revise the estimate downward to the extent of 200 millions, chiefly because of the failure of the increased income taxes to yield anywhere near the expected amount.

The only tax conspicuously measuring up to original estimates is the levy of $5 a barrel on beer and the licensing of breweries. It was stated that the beer tax is coming in at a rate exceeding the 150 million dollars a year estimate.

Billion Deficit This Year.

The deficit for the 1933 fiscal year will exceed one billion at the present rate that receipts are running behind expenditures. The prospective 130 million dollar deficit for 1934 is based on business conditions approximating those now prevailing.

If business improves the deficit would be reduced, if not wiped out. If business conditions become worse the deficit will be greater.

Mr. Douglas has been insisting all along that the budget must be balanced at the earliest possible moment in the interest of maintaining the national government's credit. Mr. Roosevelt perceived that this was going to be exceedingly difficult to accomplish in spite of vast economies because of the even vaster outlays on depression relief undertakings.

Announces Two Budgets.

He therefore announced that there would be two budgets, one confined to ordinary expenses of administration of the government, which would be balanced, and the other, including the emergency expenditures, which there would be no attempt to balance. Incidentally, this is the sort of bookkeeping Mr. Douglas condemned before he became budget director.

To balance the ordinary budget, taxes on coffee, tea, sugar and cocoa, on gross incomes and on corporations are under consideration. The billion dollars of prospective savings in the cost of the federal government which the President is putting into effect will be wiped out by cost of the various depression relief projects.

There will be, for example, 500 millions for outright grants to the states to aid destitution relief, 100 millions for administration of farm relief, 100 millions for loans to joint stock land banks, 200 millions for loans to farmers and 200 millions for subscription to stock and home loan corporations.

Public Works Program.

In addition to those outlays there will be the public works construction program which is to be financed by a bond issue of about three billion dollars, according to the President's present plan. Mr. Roosevelt is considering special taxes to provide for interest payments on these bonds and amortization. Among taxes suggested for this purpose is a "processing" tax on the construction industry—half the tax to be levied on materials and the other half on contractors' profits.

The billion dollars of economies in federal expenditures consists roughly of the following: Veterans' benefits, 420 millions; adjusted service certificates, 50 millions; reduction of government pay, 100 millions; reorganization of departments, 100 millions; navy, 70 millions; army, 70 millions; nonmilitary war department, 54 millions; interior department, 29 millions; post office department, 100 millions; commerce department, 25 millions; miscellaneous, 50 millions.

LIFE TERM BILL FOR BOMBERS; GUARD DAIRIES

Another Dynamite Theft Revealed.

Alarmed by Chicago's current bombing epidemic with its seven blasts in seventy-two hours, the state legislature acted yesterday to enable the courts to inflict life imprisonment on convicted bombers.

Equally alarmed by discovery that the theft of 1,000 sticks of dynamite from a Lemont powder plant was the second such burglary there recently, Police Commissioner Allman, in a general order last night, called for special details to stand guard at all Chicago dairies. Lieut. John Treacy reported that the Lemont plant appeared to have become the main source of explosives, by theft, for Chicago's bomb trust.

Guard for Milk Union Chief.

In the commissioner's order Grand Crossing police were instructed to pay special attention to the home of Steve Sumner, 7348 Constance avenue, head of the milk wagon drivers' union. A condensary affiliated with the Borden's Farm Products company, big milk distributor, was the target of bomb No. 7 early yesterday and the commissioner feared another dairy would be attacked with bomb No. 8.

The first theft at the Lemont powder plant, Lieut. Treasy reported, was committed on March 8. The loot comprised 350 sticks of dynamite and 1,850 feet of fuse. Within ten days of the theft, police records show, there began a series of bombings averaging about three each week until a grand climax was reached last Monday morning with five blasts in the loop and on the near north side.

Forty-One Blasts This Year.

Earlier blasts took heavy toll among cleaners, dyers, beer distributors, and contractors, the total for the period until the second theft last Saturday being nineteen blasts. The total for the year now stands at forty-one.

"The Lemont plant makes dynamite to sell to farmers for stump blasting," Lieut. Treacy reported, "but from the recent thefts it appears that much of the output is being stolen by bombers to rip up city real estate. The explosive storehouse is a flimsy structure which a man with an ordinary crowbar could enter without difficulty. There ought to be a night watchman at the plant."

According to Springfield dispatches, the house of representatives suspended its rules to receive the bill stiffening penalties for bombers, the author being Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski, Chicago Democrat. The bill makes the bombing penalty ten years to life. The present penalty is one to twenty years.

Final Passage Due in Week.

After hearing Representative Adamowski inveigh against the cowardice of bombers and the peril to Chicago life and property in the current bombing epidemic, the house rushed the bill through to second reading. It was considered probable that the bill would be passed by house and senate and be placed in the hands of Gov. Horner within a week.

"Bombing is one of the most cowardly of all crimes," said Representative Adamowski. "At the same time it is the most formidable weapon in the hands of the racketeers who have fastened their grip on Chicago unions and Chicago commerce. The merchant or the honest union leader never knows when his foes may touch off a blast of dynamite which may wreck his business or maim and perhaps kill his family. The present penalty is wholly inadequate. The need for action is imperative."

Crime Foes Indorse Bill.

Representatives of anti-crime organizations declared the Adamowski bill merited support. A suggestion for inclusion of an amendment removing bombing from the list of crimes protected by the statute of limitations was offered by Walter G. Walker, attorney for the Employers' association and a veteran investigator of bombings.

"Murder, arson, and forgery are among the few crimes now exempt from the statute of limitations," he said. "It seems to me that bombing is at least as heinous as forgery. The adage that 'thieves fall out' is equally true of bombing trusts. When they do fall out and one of them 'squeals' there should not be a statute of limitations to protect the conspirators from prosecution."

Ask Federal Investigation.

While the legislature heard Representative Adamowski in Springfield, plans were afoot in Chicago to ask the

LABOR'S GREATEST ENEMY

Forecast Pay for Teachers by Next Week

A month's pay for 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other school board employés late next week seemed assured yesterday afternoon. Henry P. Chandler, head of the "Liberty loan" drive to pay teachers, announced that a total of $1,307,000 worth of 1932 school warrants had been sold. He said that he expected to receive this amount of cash by tomorrow.

This money is to be added to $750,000 received from the state distributive fund to meet part or all of the $3,400,000 pay roll for last September. In the meantime warrant sales are continuing.

Pay Waits on Board.

The only obstacle in the way of an immediate payment of part of the overdue salaries is the necessity of school board action to make available for pay roll purposes the money received from the state fund. This money, now in the hands of the city treasurer, must be transferred to the working cash fund of the schools and paid out by vote of the board members.

The next board meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday and, unless a special meeting is called before then, a pay day appeared impossible before that time.

Mayor Calls Conference.

Mayor Kelly held a conference in connection with the 16 point school economy program. The plan was announced Tuesday by President Orville J Taylor of the board of education and contemplates a slash of approximately $10,000,000 in the 1933 budget of $71,549,701. Facing a tax collection of only 65 per cent of the levy for this year, the board would have to cut $19,909,556 to stay within its income.

Among those at the conference were Joseph P. Savage, school trustee; Roscoe L. Douglas, assistant school auditor; Frank H. Cenfield, adviser to the city council finance committee, and Leon Hornstein, assistant corporation counsel.

The mayor said the purpose of the meeting was to discuss proposed economies and to "get acquainted with school finances." No decisions were made.

Work of Economy Plans.

The school department heads were working to complete their figures on the savings to be effected. The data will be given to Mr. Taylor on Monday. Supt. William J. Bogan refused to comment on the situation, but he detailed James E. McDade, assistant superintendent, and Frank P. Sullivan, director of educational expenditures, to work out the proposed savings for the educational department.

The economy program proposes to cut out all the district superintendents, some of the assistant superintendents, and a number of high supervisory heads in the school system.

CIRCULATION WAR IN LONDON BOOMS CHARLES DICKENS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 3.—It is too bad Charles Dickens is not alive to see the sudden unprecedented boom in sales of his works as a result of a circulation war now being waged among four London newspapers.

Recently the Laborite Daily Herald had the inspiration to improve its sales by "giving away" 4 guinea ($20) sets of Dickens for 11 shillings ($2.75) plus coupons. The response was enormous. Almost immediately three other papers—the Daily Mail, the Daily Express, and the News-Chronicle—announced simultaneously similar offers for 10 shillings ($2.50) and coupons.

The printing presses are working night and day to cope with the demand for the works of Dickens.

Ann Harding of Films Saved from Sharks

HAVANA, May 3.—(AP)—Ann Harding, screen star; her secretary, Maria Lombard, and Alexander Kirkland, film actor, narrowly escaped drowning late today when their 20 foot sailboat capsized off the Jaimanitas Yacht club.

A sailor who attempted to swim to shore for aid was killed by sharks.

Kirkland and the Misses Harding and Lombard clung to the overturned boat three hours before they were rescued.

Miss Harding was pinned under the boat and was rescued with difficulty. She was confined to her hotel tonight.

Phones Hollywood Friends.

Hollywood, Cal., May 3.—(AP)—Ann Harding, film star, telephoned friends here tonight from Havana, Cuba, where she is visiting, that a sailboat in which she was riding today in the harbor there had capsized and the master of it, in attempting a rescue, had lost his life among the sharks.

The actress said the accident occured while she, her secretary, Maria Lombard, and Alexander Kirkland, film actor, were sailing in the harbor in a boat owned by a resident of Havana and the master of the craft. The name of the master was not obtained.

Boat Capsizes.

About three miles off shore, the actress related, the boat capsized in making a turn and the four were thrown into the sea. As they swam to the surface, she said, the sailor cried out to them to swim to the boat and "hang on."

After they had succeeded in obtaining safe holds upon the keel of the boat, Miss Harding said, the master decided to attempt to swim to shore and obtain help. He had progressed but a short distance, she related, when a fin broke the water and, with a scream, the sailor was dragged under the surface.

Mallen has made restitution and had no previous record of dishonesty, Judge Prystalski was told by officials of the company.

Fear Kidnaper of Girl Made Escape by Air

Harwich, Mass., May 3.—[Special.]—A child's and a man's fresh footprints on a South Chatham beach, the screams of a little girl near the beach at 2:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the roar of an airplane motor a short while later led police tonight to fear that Peggy McMath, kidnaped daughter of Neil C. McMath, retired Detroit steel man, had been taken from Cape Cod in a seaplane.

Fearful that the kidnapers had escaped, but hopeful that the little girl was still alive, state troopers interviewed two highway engineers and other persons whose stories led to the discovery of the footprints.

The fact that there was only one pair of adult tracks and that only one man was seen in the kidnaper's car at any time caused police to hope that the kidnaping was a one-man job.

Believe Face Blackened.

The theory that the kidnaper was a Negro was virtually discarded when Miss Florence Eldridge, owner of a store at South Chatham, where he made two telephone calls, said she had suspected he was a white man blacked up.

Two schoolboys who saw him, just before the girl was kidnaped in front of the Harwich grammar school, also believed he was a white man masquerading as a Negro.

It was not until tonight that investigators learned about the clews in South Chatham. Two highway engineers said they had been viewing a site for a road across the dismal swamps adjoining the deserted beach.

At 2:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon they heard a child's screams. They searched the brush, but found nothing.

As a result of their story the beach was searched tonight. The fresh imprints of a small girl's feet were seen for about 50 feet, leading to the water. Beside them were the tracks of a man, apparently of large stature.

Hear Motor of Plane.

Several persons heard the roar of an airplane over the cape this forenoon and again in the afternoon. Several aviators said they believed it was a seaplane and that it could easily have landed and taken on passengers.

Brig. Gen. Daniel Needham, commissioner of public safety, in command of state police, said he would work on the theory that the kidnapers were hiding on Cape Cod.

"The state police are going right ahead with their job, although we will try not to interfere with the family," said Gen. Needham.

The 50 troopers who will arrive tomorrow morning will start a systematic search of the entire district.

Agrees to Immunity Pledge.

Earlier in the day, when questioned whether he would agree to an immunity pledge for 48 hours while the family tried to establish a contact with the kidnapers, Gen. Needham said, "If the parents requested it and the safety of the child demanded it I probably would agree."

All of the state police have automobiles and plan to keep contact by radio with a short wave station on an automobile chassis. Temporary state police barracks are in the Harwick police station and in addition to the fifty there are 15 state troopers on the job, and the pick of the detective service besides.

Mr. McMath gave out a formal statement addressed to the kidnapers, which read:

"To those who have my daughter, Peggy, in their possession:

"Please be good to her.

"Second, you may get in touch with me in any way you see fit. Mrs. McMath and I pledge ourselves to deal faithfully and honestly with you, without thoughts of prosecution or punishment. I guarantee immunity to all of you if you will speedily get in touch with me and deliver my daughter back to me unharmed."

He said if a ransom offer were made he would go alone to any rendezvous named by the kidnapers.

HOUSE, 307-86; WIDER MARGIN THAN IN SENATE

Farm Section Sent to Conference.

Senate passes Muscle Shoals bill by vote of 63 to 20, putting United States government in power business. Story on page 2.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—By a vote of 307 to 86 the house of representatives today gave its enthusiastic approval of the inflation amendment to the administration farm bill.

Rolling up a majority of 3½ to 1, the house outdid the senate's majority of 3 to 1, recorded last Friday, when the Thomas amendment was written into the farm bill in the upper chamber, 64 to 21.

The fourfold executive power contained in the amendment—to expand the currency and credit, to devaluate the gold dollar, to enter into international agreements to stabilize world exchange and to remonetize silver—will be handed to President Roosevelt as soon as the farm sections of the encyclopedic bill can be carpentered into shape.

Sections Are Separated.

The measure was taken up in two sections when it came before the house at the opening of the day's session. Inflation was dissociated from the remainder of the bill and pushed to an immediate vote. The two farm sections of the bill were sent to a conference committee of the two houses, there to have differences between house and senate compromised and adjusted.

First of the farm sections is the original administration farm relief bill; second is the administration program for refinancing farm mortgages and providing farmers with new millions of credit aimed at helping them regain farms and homes already lost at sheriffs' sales.

Thus it was, by the house vote, that the inflation straggler became the bellwether of the flock, while the farm bill proper, once the leader, lagged behind.

May Drop Farm Measure.

As he prepared to lead the senate delegates into the conference committee tomorrow Chairman Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.] of the senate agricultural committee summed up what many members of congress have been saying openly of late.

"With this inflation bill to give the people more money and to raise prices," he said, "if we could have a bank guarantee bill to restore popular confidence and cause the banks to loosen up on credit we could throw out all this farm relief nonsense."

There was a great rush in congress when the Roosevelt farm relief bill was first sent to Capitol hill by the President. Orders were that it must be passed in a hurry because the planting season was even then beginning in some sections of the country. It was jammed through the house. In the senate opposition developed.

Mortgage Refinancing Next.

The farm mortgage refinancing bill came along, a measure which many congressional researchers into the farm problem deemed more important than the so-called relief bill devised by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and his professorial assistants, Rexford Guy Tugwell and Mordecai Ezekiel.

It seemed strategic, therefore, to bolster the relief bill with the mortgage measure, and the latter was tacked on as a rider when the original farm bill came up for senate consideration.

Then came the telling senate vote on the Wheeler free silver bill when 33 senators cast their votes for 16 to 1—to an approving chorus from the other end of the capitol. If inflation was to come, was the way it was figured at the White House, it had better come quickly and in a version dictated by the executive. The Thomas inflation amendment was the result.

Tied to Farm Bill.

In vain opponents of inflation pleaded that the inflation bill be left to stand on its own feet. Inflation was tied to the combined farm bill and the farm mortgage measure.

The Democratic leadership decreed that there should be no choice. Advocates of farm relief must swallow inflation. Inflationists must espouse the Wallace-Tugwell-Ezekiel formula for fixing farm production and farm prices. It was one for all and all for one.

It was an excellent system for getting the bill through. Haste to pass the farm relief section was forgotten.

Inflation took the play and led the procession.

Few important measures have commanded the unswerving party support that house Democrats, heeding the commands of their President, gave the inflation amendment on today's vote. Out of 280 voting 273 voted "aye." Four more were paired for the amendment.

30 Republicans for It.

Out of 109 Republicans voting, 30 left the fold and voted with the Democrats, as did the four Farmer-Labor members voting.

South and agrarian west were overwhelmingly in favor of the inflation amendment. Only in the industrial states of the east and central west did opponents make any real showing.

The two farm sections of the bill are expected to be reported out by the conference committee without great argument. While the farm mortgage section was added in the senate and has not been approved by the house, the house recently passed a similar bill of its own and so will be ready to adopt the senate amendment.

Only two points may cause trouble. Sugar was put into the farm relief section as a basic commodity by the senate. It is scheduled for elimination in conference and there will be words of protest from senators and representatives from sugar states. The senate also included the so-called Simpson cost of production plan and if that is stricken there may be objections from members who believe it is the only possible way of raising farm prices.

NAB 4 HOODLUM SUSPECTS AFTER AUTO PURSUIT

Four suspected hoodlums, two of them jail breakers and alleged bank robbers, were arrested yesterday by Sergts. James Smith and James Carpenter of the Warren avenue station after a chase in west side streets which ended when the fugitives crashed their car into another automobile. Two guns and a set of stolen auto license plates were found in their possession.

The prisoners are George Nolan, alias James [Irish] Murray, 5424 25th street, Cicero; Frank Conway, alias William Sullivan, 4452 Sheridan road; Dominick Monaco, 1033 Lytle street, and Charles Alfe, 1921 Taylor street. Sergts. Carpenter and Smith chased them from Jackson boulevard and Damen avenue to Hamilton avenue and the boulevard. Nolan was wearing a special Lake Forest star.

At the detective bureau later Nolan was identified as "Irish" Murray and Conway as Sullivan. Lieut. Phil Sullivan said the two broke jail at Salem, Ill., last January while being held as bank robber suspects. Twelve police "stop orders" were against their names, one from Milwaukee, where they are wanted for a $22,000 bank messenger holdup.

PRECINCT LINES TO BE CHANGED IN COUNTRY TOWNS

The county commissioners yesterday agreed to redistrict the country town precincts which are outside the jurisdiction of the Chicago board of election commissioners. The move will tend to equalize the number of voters in each precinct at 500. The board also announced that in all subsequent elections there will be two clerks of election, instead of three, at each polling place.

A new list of judges of election is being prepared for presentation to the board at the same time the new precinct lines are approved. In the new list, the commissioners decided, two of the three judges at each polling place will be Democrats and the third a Republican. Until the recent election two of the three judges had been Republicans.

Inspection of the Chicago postoffice was announced today by Roberts as the ostensible reason for the trip. But he also admitted that plans were being pushed on the new public works program and that he was anxious to talk with interested people.

Puts Government Into the Power Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The entry of the government into the power business at Muscle Shoals was assured by the senate today.

By a vote of 63 to 20 the senate passed the latest bill by Senator George W. Norris [Nebraska radical] requiring the government to develop and operate the wartime project on which some 150 millions of dollars already has been spent.

An almost identical bill having been passed by the house, all that remains is for the differences between the two measures to be adjusted, and for the President's signature to be affixed.

Presidential O. K. Certain.

President Roosevelt's approval is assured, for government operation of Muscle Shoals is an administration project, and in addition both senate and house measures carry the initial authorization for the President's favorite plan of making the Tennessee river valley a test area for experimentation in social legislation.

By the action of the senate another chapter was begun in a history that was started in 1916 when 20 million dollars was authorized to be expended to provide the United States with a plant to turn out the nitrates so essential in time of war. Under the power then written into the national defense act, President Wilson ordered construction begun at Muscle Shoals on a dam and power house, and on two nitrate plants.

From that day to the present, Muscle Shoals has been a constant problem before congress. The nitrate plants never turned out any nitrates for war purposes. Plant No. 2, in fact, never turned out any nitrate at all.

Miss Guess at Process.

It was constructed as a factory for the adaptation of the then secret Haber process, by which the Germans were supplying their munitions factories with the chemicals necessary for the manufacture of explosives. But American chemists and engineers missed in their guess that they had penetrated the mystery of the German technique, and Nitrate Plant No. 2 has ever since been merely an untenanted building.

Bills for the disposition of Muscle Shoals began to make their appearance in congress. Efforts were made to lease the property to Henry Ford and to the American Cyanamid company, but fell through.

Two Bills Vetoed.

Twice in recent years bills for government operation of the leasing of Muscle Shoals were passed by congress. That passed in 1928 was given a pocket veto by President Coolidge. That passed in 1930 was vetoed in a vigorous message by President Hoover.

To the group of radicals headed by Senator Norris, Muscle Shoals has been constantly attractive as offering a laboratory in which to try out their theory that the water power resources of the country should be owned, developed and operated by the government.

They have looked on this as the starting point of a program of government operation which would eventually, if not put the "power trust" out of business, at least coerce it into good behavior.

As an invitation to still further adventuring by the government into new fields, the plan of President Roosevelt for the development of Tennessee valley suited the radical group exactly.

Roosevelt's Plans for Valley.

Today's senate vote was a mere confirmation of the expected. With its strong agrarian representation the senate has always been friendly to Muscle Shoals. For in addition to the allurement of cheap power in rural districts, the prospect has been held out by so-called farm leaders of cheap fertilizer to be produced by the nitrate plants.

The argument did not seem to suffer despite the admissions of some of the most ardent advocates of the bill that fertilizer could not be produced at the shoals as cheaply as by privately owned commercial plants.

Inflation Powers Given President

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The inflation amendment, passage of which was assured by today's house vote, vests the President with four different forms of extraordinary authority with respect to the monetary and fiscal policies of the nation.

As has been made much of during congressional debate, these various grants of authority are not mandatory, but discretionary with the President. He may employ all, any, or none as he sees fit.

As a first step toward inflation the President may direct the secretary of the treasury to enter into agreements with the federal reserve board and federal reserve banks whereby the banks shall purchase up to 3 billion dollars worth of government securities and securities of corporations, a majority of whose stock is owned by the government. This is an extension of the open market operations already engaged in by the federal reserve system.

May Issue 3 Billions.

As a second step, the President may revive the greenback act of 1862 and under it issue up to 3 billion dollars of treasury notes, to be used in purchasing and retiring government obligations, and against which an annual sinking fund appropriation is to be made in the amount of 4 per cent of the outstanding notes per year.

As the third step in the inflationary program, the President may diminish the gold content of the dollar, cutting it, if he chooses, to 50 per cent of its present weight. As corollaries to this power, he may make agreements with foreign nations looking to the stabilization of world exchange on a gold basis and as part of the agreement may devalue the dollar; and he may remonetize silver at any ratio with gold that he sees fit.

May Take Silver on Debts.

For his fourth power, the President may put into effect a plan advocated by members of congress from the silver states. He is authorized to accept from foreign nations in payment of their debt installments during the next six months up to 200 million dollars' worth of silver, the silver to be received at a value of not more than 50 cents an ounce.

250 PATIENTS SAVED AS BIG HOSPITAL BURNS

Sayre, Pa., May 3.—[Special.]—An old wooden wing of the Robert Packer hospital here, the largest institution of its kind in northeastern Pennsylvania, was destroyed by fire tonight after all of the 250 hospital patients had been saved. Nurses, staff physicians, attendants and volunteers risked their lives as they plunged into the tinder box of the old wing to wheel, carry and assist patients to safety. Ambulances and private automobiles were pressed into service to take some of them to the Tioga county hospital at Waverly, N. Y., 15 miles distant. Others temporarily were quartered in the Episcopal home and in the homes of relatives.

MRS. W. G. M'GUIRE DEAD; KIDNAPING THREATS BLAMED

Mrs. Frances McCormick McGuire, wife of Dr. Walter G. McGuire and a niece of the late John P. Hopkins, who was mayor of Chicago, died yesterday at her home, 4822 Ellis avenue. She was 38 years old.

Members of the family attributed her death in part to shock due to kidnaping threats made against her 15 year old son, John McGuire, last October. Although the youth escaped through careful guarding, she became ill and an acute uremia developed later. This was the direct cause of death.

Mrs. McGuire was well known in Chicago society. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ambrose McCormick. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons and five daughters.

The unclad body of an unidentified man about 55 years old was found early yesterday in a barrel in the sanitary canal at Lockport. Apparently the body had been in the water for several months. The police think he may have been a gang victim.

FIRST FORESTRY COMPANY STARTS FOR NORTH WOODS

Recruits to Work in Timber 5½ Months.

The first contingent of 208 forest workers left the civilian conservation army camp at Fort Sheridan last night for Brink, Wis. The men, all residents of Wisconsin, will spend five and one-half months planting trees and trimming timber in the Moquah National forest area.

The company, commanded by Capt. Norman M. Rogers, marched to the Chicago and North Western station behind the 40 piece Fort Sheridan band as the 4,350 remaining members of the camp gathered to see them go. At the station they were addressed by Lieut. Col. Scott Wood, in command of the camp.

Nation Watching Recruits.

"You men have made a favorable impression," Lieut. Col. Wood said "You have performed your work well and have proved yourself good citizens. The eyes of the country are on you and you must continue to conduct yourself as good soldiers."

More than 40,000 pounds of equipment was packed to accompany the men to their work camp. This included ten army hospital tents capable of housing 24 men each, portable steel stoves for cooking, extra clothing and spades, axes and other working equipment.

Army officials announced that nonperishable foods would be shipped to the camp and that perishable foods would be purchased from local merchants.

Second Unit Leaves Sunday.

The 4,350 forestry recruits remaining in the camp are to be sent later to work projects at Three Lakes, Nine Mile, and Riley Creek, Wis., and other points to be announced later. The men are to receive $30 a month from the government under the plan of President Roosevelt to remove 250,000 men from the ranks of the idle.

A second company, made up of 21 men from Wisconsin, is scheduled to leave Sunday for Three Lakes. This company will be commanded by Capt. Everett Busch and will work in the Flambeau forest area. Arrangements to send more men to Fort Sheridan for two weeks' conditioning have been held up pending word from Washington.

FOOD HOARDED ON BIG SCALE, OFFICIALS SAY

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—A new type of hoarding—the hoarding of staple foods and materials—is sweeping over the country, federal reserve board and department of commerce officials admitted today.

Large purchases of canned foods, staples like flour and sugar, clothing and household linens are being made all over the country in anticipation of inflationary prices, it was said. Most of the goods are not for immediate consumption, but for use after prices rise.

In some respects the purchasing reflects a domestic flight from the dollar. Secretary of Commerce Roper today noted "a growing desire to shift cash and bank deposits into equities." Elsewhere in the government it was suggested that even the increased automobile sales were a reflection of a movement to convert money into goods before the value of money is depreciated.

Under the impact of the increased buying department store sales, indicators for April, soon to be made public by the federal reserve board, are expected to show a sharp advance.

U. S. AND BRITAIN FAR APART ON SETTLING DEBTS

Roosevelt Plans Remain State Secret.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—An effort was made by the administration this week, before the departure for London of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, economic adviser of the British treasury, to negotiate a new and final settlement of the British war debt to the United States.

It is learned that the two governments were too far apart in their ideas even to approach a figure for consideration. As far as is known, President Roosevelt temporarily has abandoned his hope of action on this matter before the assembling of the world economic and monetary conference in London on June 12.

The view was expressed today that the effort and the conversations, despite their present failure, had done no harm and may have done some good.

Will Report to Cabinet.

The discussions were pursued in such secrecy that it is not known who took part, excepting the representative of the British treasury. He has since departed from the United States capital and will be in London soon to report to the cabinet precisely what this government's suggestion was. Its details are being guarded as sedulously as the names of those who spoke for the President. Sir Frederick called at the White House yesterday to say good-by to Mr. Roosevelt, but it is not known whether they had any further conversation on the debt subject.

The President must, within a day or two, decide when he is going to ask Congress for powers to deal with the war debts during the recess of that body, and what powers he will seek. He must also decide what methods he will use to induce congress to give him the latitude he wants.

General Default Feared.

Despite the official assertions that the President expects all debtors to pay on June 15, there is fear in high quarters that there will be a general default unless some accommodation is reached meanwhile whether in the form of a moratorium or otherwise. A general default would be a body blow to the London conference, called to assemble three days before the June payments are due.

Some of the President's advisers have urged him to proceed boldly with congress; to state the cold facts of the debt case and ask for the broadest authority to use his judgment as to what to do until congress meets again. These counselors are certain the country will support his statement of the facts and overwhelm any congressional effort to balk his policy.

Want to Help Committee.

There are others, however, who propose a more ingenious, less direct course. They want the President to simply ask congress to name a committee to advise him, after consultation with the leaders and individual members what to do about the debts. The advice of this committee, it is pointed out, could be guided of course, by the President himself and then put in the form of an advisory resolution. This resolution, if adopted, would be the authorization of congress for the pursuit of a certain course. With added powers to negotiate reciprocal trade treaties and make tariff reduction compacts, it would put the President in a position, through his delegates to London, to sign agreements to which the approval of congress would have been forecast.

Both sets of advisers are united in the belief that the President should dramatize his appeal to congress in every way consistent with the dignity of his office and the momentous importance of the issue.

President Awaits Events.

As far as is known, the President has not finally decided on how or when to approach congress. But many believe the action will be taken next week. To postpone it until a few days before the hoped for day of adjournment would, it is feared, invite a filibuster by those senators who are opposed to any war debt concessions and who refuse to be swayed by predictions of the consequences of a general default.

Many of these senators rely on that section in the inflation rider to the farm act, passed by the house today, which authorizes the government to receive up to 200 millions of the war debt payments in silver. In diplomatic circles this is viewed without enthusiasm, although some statements have been made that it would be helpful.

India's Vast Silver Supply.

The government of India has more than enough silver for the total $144,000,000 due on June 15. If that can be purchased at about 27 cents an ounce and received by this government at 50 cents, which the inflation rider authorizes, it would cut the installments by more than 40 per cent.

The British debt to the United States was funded in 1923, England agreeing to pay $4,600,000,000 over a period of 62 years with interest at 3 per cent for the first ten years and 3½ per cent thereafter.

All of the payments were made until the Hoover moratorium of 1931, the net principal of the debt having then been reduced to $4,398,000,000. Interest payments during that period totaled $1,149,720,000 and payments for reduction of principal $202,000,000.

In December, 1932, with the expiration of the moratorium, Great Britain paid $65,550,000 in interest and $30,000,000 for reduction of the principal. An additional $75,950,000 in interest will be due on June 15 unless a suspension is permitted or some adjustment made.

ITALY'S 'MYSTERY MAN' IS RELEASED FROM THE PENITENTIARY

VERONA, Italy, May 3.—(AP)—Still considered by the state to be Mario Bruneri, convicted thief, Italy's "mystery man" returned to Verona today insisting that he is well-to-do Prof. Giulio Canella, who disappeared during the world war. He was released from prison in Pallanza yesterday and was met at the prison gates by Signora Canella, who still claims him as her husband. He will live with her, but under a court ruling he must also support Signora Bruneri, who also claims him.

Court after court has declared the man is Bruneri and not Canella, despite his and Signora Canella's protests to the contrary. With equal insistence Signora Bruneri convinced the courts that he was her husband.

The case began several years ago when the mystery man was found wandering in a Turin cemetery. Unable to tell his name, he was held as an amnesia victim. The law learned that Bruneri was wanted for theft. After a sharp court battle the amnesia sufferer was legally branded as a thief and imprisoned.

Young Milwaukeean Tries to End Life.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 3.—[Special.]—The atmosphere around his home at 2911 West Galena street was not peaceful—so he said tonight—and William Eckhardt, 20 years old, went out to the Washington park zoo this afternoon.

He took his station at the edge of the barless animal den and pondered a while. Roaming about in the big den, which has a waterless moat with a high concrete wall to confine them, were a large number of bears. Some were polar bears, some were grizzlies, some were just little black bears, and some were brown bears. There also were a few wolves.

Bears Sharpen Claws.

One or two of the bears were sharpening their claws. Others were lumbering about looking for peanuts. To Eckhardt they all looked hungry. Then an idea struck him. It is not known just what it was, but the police believe he figured it out that if a lot of bears ate him up somebody would be sorry.

So he jumped into the den with them.

He landed in the moat. On his right was a 20 foot wall he could not climb. At his left was a craggy slope up which the bears climb and down which they slide. And as Eckhardt awaited his martyrdom, one of the ursine animals gave his mates a signal. All the rest shambled over to the edge of the slope and looked down.

They Sniff and Grunt.

They all sniffed. Several grunted. But that was all. It was apparent to the man in the moat and to the spectators of the exciting drama that William Eckhardt was no treat to a den of bears.

Even when William Borkenhagen and two assistants, Fred Schultz and Charles Stanke, hastened with a ladder and compelled Eckhardt to come out they refused to be bothered.

Questioned about his motives, Eckhardt replied, sadly:

"I just felt like trying it out."

FINED ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

Judge Leon Edelman in the Stockyards court yesterday fined Walter Krug, 25 years old, 2713 West 43d street, $200 on a disorderly conduct charge when Miss Florence Milowski, 4746 South Kedvale avenue, testified that he dragged her into a hallway on May 1.

6 ORPHAN BOYS SEE RAILWAY WASHOUT; AVERT TRAIN'S WRECK

Passaic, N. J., May 3.—(AP)—Six boys watching a storm tonight from the Passaic Orphans' home saw more than 150 feet of embankment wash out from under the Erie tracks at Passaic park. Rushing out into the rain, the boys flagged the 8:20 o'clock train from Jersey City with their raincoats. The train was loaded with Passaic and Paterson commuters. Engineer John McGlynn of Nutley stopped his train forty feet from the edge of the washout.

A flood of water rushing down a hillside had carried away part of the roadbed, leaving the ties and tracks suspended in the air. The boys are Jacob Melnizck, 15; John Murdock, 11; Douglas Fleming, 14; Rudolph Borsche, 15; Michael Mazzola, 11, and his brother, Frank, 13.

FREED ON WRIT IN FIGHT WAGED ON EXTRADITION

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner today honored a requisition from the governor of North Carolina for the return to that state of Harry L. Drake, 1500 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, who has been indicted in Raleigh on a charge of conspiracy to evade and nullify the state laws on usury.

Immediately afterward Drake's attorneys, led by former Justice Floyd Thompson of the Illinois Supreme court, went before Circuit Judge L. E. Stone and obtained a writ of habeas corpus. Drake furnished bonds of $2,500 and was granted his liberty pending a hearing on the writ June 7.

Drake, it was alleged by representatives of North Carolina in hearings on the requisition matter, is "king of the loan sharks" in that state and charges rates as high as 350 per cent to small borrowers.

Slayer of J. A. Hartsook, Lumber Man, Is Captured

Sheriff John Foster of Steamboat Springs, Colo., yesterday notified Blue Island police that he is holding Michael Martino, 42 years old, who is under indictment for the fatal stabbing on Dec. 6 of James A. Hartsook, president of the Mutual Lumber company of Blue Island. The message said that Martino, who was seized on his son's ranch near the Colorado town, is willing to waive extradition. Hartsook was stabbed when he attempted to collect rent from Martino.

M'DONALD HOME; REPORTS ON DEAL WITH U. S. TODAY

Reveal Some Details of Talks with Roosevelt.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3.—Smiling and happy at the end of what he considers a successful mission to the United States, Prime Minister MacDonald arrived in London tonight and plunged into work. He was met at the Waterloo station by J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions; several other officials, Ray Atherton, counselor of the American embassy, and Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large in Europe.

Davis, who came here last week from the disarmament conference at Geneva, had remained in London to urge MacDonald to make a trip to Geneva in the near future in an effort to pull the conference out of the new hole into which it has fallen—the Franco-German deadlock.

MacDonald drove straight to Downing street, where he plunged into consultation with Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, and other cabinet members.

Reports to Parliament Today.

The cabinet, which postponed its regular weekly meeting from today until tomorrow, will hear its chief's report then. Tomorrow afternoon MacDonald will make a report to parliament, which, after studying it during the week-end, will debate it on Tuesday.

Some details on three of the subjects discussed between President Roosevelt and the prime minister were revealed today. On at least two of them satisfactory results were achieved. These three subjects had all reached an awkward corner, and the United States and Great Britain were far from understanding each other's points of view.

The first and most pressing was disarmament. On that a full agreement was reached, with the immediate result that the United States came out in support of the British proposals at Geneva. The second was the world economic conference. In connection with this a grave situation had arisen owing to the attitude of the French. Former Premier Herriot arrived in Washington furious at the United States having left the gold standard and declaring that it would be useless to hold the economic conference in these conditions. Herriot was pacified, however, and agreed to the date set for the conference, June 12.

Still Split on War Debt.

The third question, that of war debts, was not so satisfactorily solved. The President and the prime minister talked with each other with utmost frankness, each explaining his difficulties, and they arrived at a mutual understanding that whatever is done on June 15, when the next British payment is due, it will be done so as not to arouse bitterness or misunderstanding on either side of the Atlantic.

As matters look now, the British will not default if President Roosevelt finds it impossible to grant another moratorium or postponement of the payment. It is unlikely that MacDonald will refer at all to the war debt question in his statement to parliament, and it is probable that any attempt to force him to do so by questioning will be discouraged. At the moment it is felt that the less said on the subject the better.

With regard to the report that President Roosevelt intends to visit London during the world economic conference, it is reliably reported that such a visit was never mentioned when the British delegation was in Washington, and no credence is attached to the story by any member of the British misison.

INVITATIONS TO WORLD ECONOMIC CONFERENCE SENT TO 66 NATIONS

GENEVA, May 3.—(AP)—Invitations to send representatives to the world economic conference in London, opening June 12, were sent today by the secretary general of the league of nations to 66 countries, 56 of which are league members.

The invitations said, in part:

"The United States delegation intends to ask the participating governments to join in an agreement or understanding to be carried out in good faith providing that all governments should refrain during the period of this truce from creating or making any material and upward modifications in tariff rates and from imposing any new restrictions or enhancing any existing restrictions against the importation of goods, which would give domestic producers an additional advantage compared with foreign producers."

100 CLEANERS UNITE TO CLEAN UP THE INDUSTRY

One hundred owners of cleaning and dyeing establishments met last night in the Knickerbocker hotel and organized the Public Protective Association of Cleaners and Dyers. The organization plan was presented by Joseph De Fay.

Members of the new association agree to a five year plan which it is hoped will stabilize the industry. A board of three governors will be elected by secret vote. A treasurer and a secretary will also be chosen. The association will try to fix a minimum price for cleaning work, retail and wholesale, and will levy fines for violation of its code of ethics.

Judge Francis Borrelli was chief speaker at the organization. He urged the cleaners to unite their industry and "cut out all foolishness." While not mentioning bombings, Judge Borrelli warned that the public did not have to read about certain outrages "because they could hear them and look at the results."

COUNTY FACING BUDGET DEFICIT OF $12,000,000

Commissioners Deaf to Tax Warnings.

An aggregate deficit of $12,479,590 will face the county government at the end of the 1933 fiscal year, it was disclosed yesterday when tabulations by County Treasurer McDonough were made public. The deficit will result from the predicted non-collection of approximately 35 per cent of the 1931, 1932 and 1933 tax levies, it was explained.

Tax experts pointed out that such a deficiency constitutes another step toward the breakdown of county government. They said that it was a direct outgrowth of a practice begun by the county commissioners during the years when wasteful governmental spending was the rule and when the ability of the taxpayer to meet his growing tax bill was never considered. This is the practice of balancing on paper a budget which stands no chance of balancing when it is placed in operation due to the slow collection of taxes.

Warnings Given Long Ago.

Predictions that a deficit in the county budget would exist were made as long ago as 1930 when a citizens' committee on public expenditures first began to function. Efforts to curb the tendencies toward waste in corporate expenditures, graft, and unjust taxation, brought few results.

Since 1918 the tax eating governments within the county have increased the total tax extensions from $58,056,201 to a maximum of $290,284,505 in 1930. The result has been a tax strike which gathered impetus during 1928 and 1928. Tax collections sank from an average of 90 per cent of the extensions to 85 per cent for 1928 and then to 73 per cent for 1929. On last April 24, when the 1930 taxes had been in collection for almost one year, only 60 per cent of the aggregate bill for that year had been paid.

Yesterday the county treasurer completed his audit of collections for 1928, 1929 and 1930, which have been turned over to the county. A table showing the year, the extension, and collections for the county government, and the percentage paid, follows:

Year.	Extension.	Collection.	Pct.
1928	$19,904,425	$16,815,489	*84
1929	19,824,731	14,259,228	*71
1930	25,297,788	14,677,140	58

*The percentage of county collections is slightly less than the percentage of total collections because the county treasurer receives a small fee for collection of taxes.

Pointing to the steady decline in percentage of taxes collected during the last three years, governmental experts assert that the "tax strike" did not reach its peak until shortly before the 1931 taxes were placed in collection.

Predict 65 Per Cent Collection.

Despite the legislative program of Mayor Kelly, which includes the Skarda law and six other measures to force the large property holders to pay their delinquent taxes the experts predict that not more than 64 per cent of the 1930 taxes will be collected.

This percentage, they add, is the proportion of 1931, 1932, and 1933 taxes which the citizens' committee on public expenditures has warned the major taxing bodies to expect from their levies for those years.

George Hagenauer, chief auditor for the county treasurer, yesterday completed a tabulation of the county's 1931, 1932, and 1933 tax levies based on the budgets already passed for those years. The table by years, listing the corporate, highway, bond and interest funds, and the employés' annuity fund levies follows:

	1931.	1932.	1933.
Corp.	$10,514,000	$12,016,000	$10,514,000
High.	4,338,891	3,601,414	1,943,286
B. & I.	3,855,565	4,786,375	6,612,880
Ann.	680,000	None	500,000
Total	$19,488,456	$20,403,789	$19,570,166

The auditor explained that for 1931 and 1932 despite protests of the citizens' committee the commissioners allowed only 15 per cent for anticipated losses from the total levy through collection failures. In 1933, in order to balance the budget on paper, the commissioners allowed only 12 per cent of the total levy for the loss and cost item.

Tax Anticipations Cut.

These losses cut down the tax revenue anticipations to $16,565,188 for 1931, to $17,343,221 for 1932 and to $17,221,747 in 1933. The board has provided for expenditures up to these amounts in the budgets for all three years.

Auditor Hagenauer, however, has compiled totals of collections for the same three years on the basis of the 35 per cent loss and cost item advocated by the citizens' committee. These indicate that for 1931 tax revenue of only $12,667,497 should have been anticipated, for 1932 only $13,262,462, and for 1933 only $12,720,607.

In order to balance the budgets already adopted by the county commissioners for the years 1931, 1932, and 1933, tax revenues for the three years should total $51,130,156. The citizens' committee experts, however, predict that the total collections for the three years will amount to only $38,650,566. The difference accounts for the estimated deficit of $12,479,590 which, it is predicted, will confront the county commissioners at the end of the 1933 fiscal year.

Defend Their Budgets.

County officials defend their passage of the last three budgets by asserting that eventually 90 per cent of the extensions will be paid. Until that time, the officials say, the uncollected taxes will be carried on their books as accounts receivable.

The economists reply that if such taxation is continued the percentage of actual collections will continue to dwindle even below the 65 per cent figure.

HOLD SLAYING JUSTIFIABLE.

A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of William Hazelbauer, 25 years old, 341 West 42d place, who was shot to death by a watchman during an attempted robbery Sunday of a delicatessen store at 6530 South Halsted street.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In a roll call published yesterday the name of Harry M. McCaskrin [Rep., Rock Island] was omitted from the list of those who voted against tabling the Burns bill in the Illinois legislature to abolish jobs of assistant directors in state departments. He voted against tabling this economy bill, but the official roll call did not list his name.

Miss Estelle Robinson's age was incorrectly given as 28 years in an item yesterday telling of a robbery in which she and Sam Alvin, a New Yorker, were held up. Miss Robinson is 17 years old.

12 OF 36 JUDGES IN CITY COURTS ACCEPT PAY CUT

Three Demand Sonsteby Reduce Office Costs.

Twelve of the thirty-six municipal judges yesterday expressed willingness to accept the 48 day pay cut provided by the city council pending passage of the 1933 city budget. Three others declared themselves opposed to the cut until Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby reduces the expenses of his office. Two more refused to commit themselves.

Controversy between the judiciary and the city controller's office prompted the poll of the bench. The judges' pay rolls for the first three months of the year have been returned to the court unhonored by the controller's office because they had not accepted the cut, though all other municipal employés had been cut in salaries. Some of the judges hold they should be paid in full until the last 48 days of the year.

Controller Cuts 4 Days a Month.

The controller contends that the council ordinance provides that the cut shall be made at the rate of 4 days each month. Other city employés are being cut 6½ days each month except those in the Municipal court clerk's office and the bailiff's office, who are subject to the same cut as the judges. Employés of the clerk's and bailiff's offices have made no complaint against the controller's method of handling the reduction.

Refusal of the controller has made it impossible for all but seven of the judges to get salary advances. A separate pay roll is made for seven judges who have signified in writing to the controller's office their willingness to take the cut. These judges are Thomas A. Green, Howard Hayes, Lambert K. Hayes, Cecil Smith, Michael G. Kasper, Frank M. Padden, and Francis Borrelli.

Casey, Jonas, Lupe Opposed.

Those who announced active opposition to any reduction are Edward B. Casey, Edgar A. Jonas, and John J. Lupe.

Judge Jonas asserted that before members of the bench should take salary slashes the chief justice should reduce the expenses of his own office. He said Chief Justice Sonsteby had increased these office costs to $76,000, while his predecessor needed only $31,000. At the same time, Judge Jonas continued, the business of the Municipal court dropped 30 per cent.

Specifically, Judge Jonas objected to a salary of $6,000 which he said was paid to John D. Hayes, Democratic committeeman of the 49th ward, and a salary of $7,500 which he said was paid to John W. Miller, formerly a law clerk in Judge Sonsteby's office. These men have the rank of assistants in the office of the chief justice.

Sonsteby Declines to Reply.

Judges Casey and Lupe made similar objections.

The chief justice, who has announced he will accept the 48 day pay cut, said he would make no reply to the objecting jurists.

"We have been into that before," he averred. "The three judges are Republicans and two of them are seeking office."

Judges Samuel B. Trude and Nuncio Bonnelli declined to comment on the pay cut matter. Trude said he had not decided his position and Bonnelli said he would rather not talk about it.

Green Takes Cut Second Time.

Other judges commented as follows:

JUDGE GREEN: I took the cut last year and am willing to take it this year. I am opposed to cuts of low salaried employés, however. I am willing to take a 50 per cent cut to help such employés.

JUDGE GEORGE V. McINTYRE: I was one of the first to take the first cut when I voluntarily returned a portion of my salary. I will not swerve in my position until conditions change.

JUDGE HOWARD HAYES: I took the cut last year and I am taking it now. I have so informed the controller's office.

JUDGE BORRELLI: I am doing my share to aid the city in its financial difficulty. I did so last year.

Bows to General Conditions.

JUDGE SMITH: I bow to general conditions and readily accept the cut.

JUDGE KASPER: Every judge should do his bit to aid in these times. I do so gladly.

JUDGE PADDEN: I declared my intention of accepting the cut in the belief all judges were doing so. Even though they will not I stand by my intention.

JUDGE LAMBERT K. HAYES: Acceptance of the cut by all judges is necessary as part of the program to rehabilitate the city's finances. For that reason I declared myself in writing to the controller.

Not for Him to Decide.

JUDGE JAY A. SCHILLER: It really doesn't matter whether I take a cut or not. I have not been paid since Oct. 10, 1932, and not at all in 1933. The cut was taken from my salary last year and I presume it will be deducted from that which may come in 1933.

JUDGE THEODORE F. EHLER: There is nothing we can do but take the cut. We have to go along and make the best of conditions.

JUDGE JOHN F. O'CONNELL: I am making no objection. I am willing to go along.

JUDGE ALFRED O. ERICKSON: If the other judges will take the cut, I will be with them.

Other judges will be asked to express themselves today.

17 MILLION ESTATE OF GEORGE J. GOULD SHRINKS TO $324,630

Newark, N. J., May 3.—(AP)—Shrinkage of the estimated $17,000,000 estate of the late George J. Gould, who died in 1923, to $324,630.03 was disclosed today when Vice Chancellor John H. Backes approved allowances of over $100,000 for executors and counsel.

Twelve applicants for fees and commissions sought $206,000, but Vice Chancellor Backes reduced that amount to $108,479.98. He allowed the executors, Kingdon Gould, a son, and Schuyler Nelson Rice, $23,677.52 each instead of the $75,000 requested for equal distribution.

The accounts showed a balance of $324,630.03 remaining in the hands of executors after various sums had been paid to trustees. The court directed this balance to be turned over to the trustees following deduction of counsel feel and other commissions.

The late George J. Gould, son of Jay Gould, railroad builder, lived at Lakewood.

Find 16 Story Building 'Lost' in Assessor's Office

Assessor J. L. Jacobs discovered yesterday that assistants in his office had "lost" a 16 story building at 1540 Lake Shore drive. The loss occurred when 1,200,000 parcels of real estate were transferred from the 1930 assessment records to the 1931 assessment books. A recent examination of the assessment rolls disclosed the omission of the property from the 1931 rolls. The mistake was corrected yesterday.

HANGS SELF IN WILMETTE.

Michael Madigan, 73 years old, 1204 Gregory avenue, Wilmette, was found dead yesterday in a bedroom at his home. Apparently he had hanged himself from a bedpost with a necktie. Friends said Madigan had been despondent over ill health.

McDonough Files First Suit Under Tax Receivership Law

The first county receivership suit for collection of back taxes was filed late yesterday afternoon in the Circuit court. The defendant was the Bankers' building, 220 South Clark street. County Treasurer McDonough asked the court to appoint him receiver to collect the income from the property until $143,945 in back taxes are paid.

An additional $140,000 in delinquent taxes was paid yesterday as a result of the treasurer's recent activity in enforcing collection under the Skarda act giving him the power to act as receiver for tax delinquent properties.

Barnett Rossett, chairman of the bondholders' committee of Straus Brothers, paid $100,000 in 1929, 1930, and 1931 taxes on fifty pieces of property. Another $40,000 was paid in 1928 taxes on the Midland building, 168 West Adams street, by E. J. Zuehls, receiver for the property. Mr. Zuehls said that the balance of the 1928 taxes, amounting to $20,980, will be paid in a few days.

Lawyers Building to Pay.

Representatives of the Laywers building, 108 North La Salle street, one of the properties against which the county treasurer announced he would proceed, called at the County building yesterday and promised to make an immediate payment of $10,000 and a monthly remittance of $5,000 until all the back taxes are paid. A total of $127,000 is due on the property.

A number of other suits against tax delinquent properties will be filed today by Attorney Thomas Nash, representing the county treasurer. A thorough examination of the records involving the properties in question was being conducted to avoid any defense when the cases are heard in court.

The records on thirty-seven delinquent properties were sent to the county recorder, county assessor and the clerks of the Circuit, Superior and County courts for investigation to ascertain ownership, description and other details before filing county receivership suits against them.

Five More Face Suits.

The names of five more tax delinquent properties against which the county treasurer plans to proceed under the Skarda act were given out yesterday. The list, with the amount of taxes owned on each property, was as follows:

Planters hotel, 9 North Clark street, $124,487.

Morton Salt company, Chicago avenue and Lake Michigan, $95,647.

Masonic Temple building, 13 West Randolph street, $77,452.

Loop-End building, 177 North State street, $34,810.

Putnam building, 8 North Clark street, $20,690.

More properties against which the county treasurer plans to proceed will be revealed today.

ALD. A. F. SCHULZ DENIES OFFER TO FIX TAX BILLS

Ald. Albert F. Schulz [47th] last night denied that he had offered to "fix" personal property tax bills in his ward in return for votes to beat former Ald. John J. Hoellen. A telephone call to the alderman's office Tuesday had resulted in a reply that "we may have it [a tax bill] cut if we can't have it canceled."

"I deny it all," said Ald. Schulz, when questioned about the reports that he had gathered up personal property tax bills under $25 during his aldermanic campaign with a promise to "fix" them. "I told the people in the ward that if their tax bills were unjust we would try to correct the discrepancies. The city is in a deplorable state for lack of money and I certainly would not do such a thing."

Meanwhile, County Assessor Jacobs charged that a number of ward committeemen in the city had sent out letters directing the precinct captains to collect all 1931 personal property tax bills under $25, indicating that the property owners would not have to pay the bills. Mr. Jacobs also said that a number of tax associations were seeking clients, with promises of having their bills reduced or wiped off the books.

BOTH HOUSES OF ASSEMBLY HEAR COL. McCORMICK

Tells Effect of Taxes on U. S. Welfare.

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, today carried his campaign for a solution of economic problems by a reduction of taxes to the Illinois capitol, asserting that inflation "must not be a prelude to further extravagances."

He addressed both houses of the general assembly at a joint session this afternoon and spoke before an audience which included Gov. Horner and other state officials at a meeting of the Midday Luncheon club.

"I am not opposing inflation any more than I am against the giving of severe medicine to a patient who has abused his system by riotous living," Col. McCormick said.

Extreme Measures Necessary.

"Extreme measures must be resorted to. But after the trouble has been diagnosed and treatment administered, recovery can be looked forward to only if the sufferer changes his ways."

Col. McCormick praised the national and state administrations for efforts to reduce public expenditures.

Addressing the legislature, Col. McCormick expressed confidence that it would meet its problems courageously and successfully. Never before, he declared, had a general assembly been faced with so many serious problems. In both speeches the need for retrenchment in governmental activities and expenditures was stressed.

"Overtaxation has been the cause of the depression," he said. "Taxation has taken money away from constructive lines and has handicapped legitimate business. Taxation has even taken money away from taxation. Municipalities in every region have defaulted on their obligations because sources of revenue have dried up. Taxation has exhausted the wealth of the federal government, which has had to repudiate its promise to pay its debts in gold."

Discussing the inflation program, Col. McCormick said that "if drastic measures are to be only a prelude to further extravagances, the end is just as inevitable for the nation as it would be for an individual."

Makes Recommendations.

To achieve the desired reduction in taxes and governmental expenses, the publisher recommended that outstanding men of sound and unimpeachable character should be elected to office and that the public should organize in combating un-American propaganda.

After describing a recent reunion with wartime comrades, Col. McCormick said:

"The Liberty bond drives were not to raise money for battle—they were for the building of concrete ships, for paying prize fighters garbed as shipbuilders, for loans to allies which they will never repay, for hospitalization of cases not incurred from war, for party patronage and other matters."

State Treasurer John C. Martin, Attorney General Otto Kerner, Lieut. Gov. Thomas F. Donovan, and Senator Richey V. Graham were among the officials who attended the luncheon club meeting.

Col. McCormick accepted an invitation to address the legislature, extended by resolution.

SMASH 2 MORE WINDOWS.

Windows were smashed in the W. L. Douglas shoe store, 64 West Washington street, and the Sumatra Gem shop, 62 West Madison street, yesterday by burglars who obtained merchandise at each place.

HAYMARKET VETERANS GIVE FLAG TODAY TO HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Seven former policemen, all who are left of the band of nearly 200 who battled a mob of anarchists in Haymarket square on May 4, 1886, will surrender the flag of the Haymarket Veterans' association to the Chicago Historical society today. Under this banner they have held all their meetings for the last forty-seven years.

Last night six of the surviving seven were guests of honor at a reception and entertainment at Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue, given by the West Side Kiwanis club. They heard their actions on the day of the riot extolled by Judge Kickham Scanlan and others. It was recalled that the little detail battled some thousands of anarchists, who tossed bombs and used firearms, until the mob broke up and fled. Four of the anarchists were later hanged.

Veterans present last night were Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell, 643 Clarence avenue, Oak Park; John P. Gibbons, 3618 Maple Square; George W. Roycraft, 3234 Diversey avenue; John Meany, 215 North Parkside avenue; John J. Brown, 229 North Central avenue, and Andrew O'Day, 1940 North Ridgeway avenue. Absent through illness was John Sisk, 3516 South Damen avenue.

BLOCK ATTEMPT TO ELIMINATE CORONER'S JOB

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Moves to abolish the office of county coroner in Illinois were blocked today by the house committee on efficiency and economy which killed Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg's resolution to amend the constitution in that respect by a vote of 8 to 4.

An attempt may be made to revive the resolution on the floor of the house but no very favorable predictions for its success were made. Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee], one of the principal advocates of economy in the legislature, worked with Schnackenberg in behalf of the bill but it was killed by a combination of six Democratic and two Republican votes.

A little better luck for proponents of economy was had on the floor of the house, however.

There two bills sponsored by Representatives Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago], Michael F. Hennebry [Dem., Wilmington], and M. F. Browner [Rep., Mound City] which would establish a budgetary control system for public monies were passed without much opposition. Schnackenberg said they would make for economy in appropriating county expenses.

HOUSE TO HEAR PLEAS FOR U. S. RECEIVER QUIZ

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—The house rules committee approved today a resolution calling for investigation of federal equity receiverships. This inquiry, it is understood, will include the conduct of federal judges in such cases.

Representative Sabath of Chicago, and Representative Celler of New York, presented the resolution. The former recently announced his intention of trying to impeach Federal Judge Charles Woodward of Chicago, on the basis of a bar association report bearing on receivership matters in that judge's court.

Representative Sabath submitted the bar association's report to the committee.

COUP REVIVES CHICAGO BILLS ON FIREWORKS

Rival Measure Beaten at Springfield.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—Combat over two subjects made the afternoon session of the senate lively.

By a vote of 30 to 11 the senate took two anti-fireworks bills from a committee that sought to throttle them by placing them on the table. The two bills were placed on the calendar for consideration by the senate.

The other matter was a proposal for the investigation of all insurance companies doing business in Illinois.

Cermak Backed Bills.

The measures to stop the sale of fireworks were introduced by Senators Edward P. O'Grady and Frank McDermott, both Chicago Democrats, on Jan. 10. They were almost identical, and the O'Grady bill was given the backing of the late Mayor Cermak. Then on March 1 Senator L. C. Sieberns [Dem., Gridley] presented a bill to permit the sale of such explosives from June 27 to July 4, prescribing certain precautions.

With only twelve members participating, the committee on license voted by 7 to 5 to kill both earlier bills, recommending passage of the Sieberns bill.

O'Grady moved that his bill be taken from the committee. There were protests from Sieberns and from Joseph Mendel [Dem., Chicago] but with arguments for O'Grady's motion by Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago] and Minority Leader Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet], the pro-fireworks people were beaten decisively.

Asks Insurance Inquiry.

A few minute later Senator George M. Maypole [Dem., Chicago] surprised his associates with a resolution for the appointment of a special committee to examine into the operations for all insurance comapnies doing business in Illinois.

The situation became tense as Richey V. Graham [Dem., Chicago], president protem, announced that Gov. Henry Horner had asked that consideration of the resolution be postponed until tomorrow. Graham said the governor wanted to see Maypole. Maypole called on the governor, but the result of their talk remained a secret.

In support of his resolution Maypole recalled the highlights in the scandal of the Illinois Life Insurance company.

"I charge here and now," he said, "that there are insurance companies doing business in this state and carrying in their portfolios stocks and bonds at valuations four, five, and six times their actual worth."

Maypole insisted that the premiums paid to insurance companies "go to buy stock at 43 which is worth 13" and to pay the salaries of presidents and vice presidents "at $40,000 a year up." He added that "a certain life insurance company president received an annual salary of $175,000 in 1929, and that the same man now receives $200,000 a year, and his first vice president receives $125,000 a year, double what he received in 1929."

Insurance Department Delayed.

The house passed today the administration bill creating a department of insurance, headed by a director at $6,000 a year. Insurance affairs now are handled by an insurance bureau in the department of trade and commerce.

Powers granted to the director by the bill led to the charge by Senator Joseph V. Mendel [Dem., Chicago] that the head of the new department would be made a czar. He added that the insurance companies had not had a hearing.

Ernest Palmer, superintendent of insurance, and probably slated for director, listened as only 25 of the needed 26 votes were mustered for the bill in the senate.

Half a dozen senators, most of them Democrats, refrained from voting after Senator Graham had explained that the measure was part of the program of the governor. It had been hoped to pass the bill and make it effective as of July 1.

OFFERS BILL TO FORCE BEER MAKERS TO GIVE EXACT ALKY CONTENT

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—A bill to require brewers to print the date of manufacture and exact alcoholic content of beer was introduced in the house today by Representative Joseph L. Rategan [Dem., Chicago]. It was advanced to second reading without committee reference and will become immediately effective if passed.

Violations would be punishable by fines of from $100 to $500 for each offense. When he presented the bill, Rategan asked unanimous consent for its advancement to second reading without committee reference.

There were some objections from Republican members to immediate advancement and Rategan then moved for suspension of the rules. A rising vote gave him 66 supporters and only 18 stood against advancement. The motion therefore carried and Rategan will try to push the bill to third reading tomorrow.

Slayer Gets 99 Years for Killing "Old Friend"

Nicholas Valcancantu, 53 years old, was found guilty of murder yesterday and sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph Desort of the Criminal court. The case was heard without a jury. Valcancantu was charged with the murder of George Rusu, owner of a poolroom at 2229 Clybourn avenue, on April 3 last. The two men had been friends for 35 years, but after a quarrel Valcancantu killed Rusu by striking him on the head with a hammer. The slayer fled with $8.95, but was arrested shortly afterward.

ILLINOIS SENATE PASSES BILL TO SPEED TAXATION

Would Bar the Courts to "Strikers."

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—The second bill of the Kelly-Horner program aimed at Chicago tax strikers was passed by the state senate today. It would require tax objectors to pay at least 75 per cent of their levies before their objections could be filed in court.

Second in a series of measures which the governor of Illinois and the mayor of Chicago hope will bring in a flood of overdue taxes and permit payment of school teachers and other employés, the so-called "75 per cent bill" went through by a vote of 36 to 1. The dissenting vote was cast by Earl B. Searcy [Rep., Springfield]. He believed that the percentage provision was too high. Fourteen other senators were either absent or silent in their chairs when the roll was called.

Following upon approval, last week, of the Skarda tax receivership bill, today's action sent the second bill on the program to the house which was likewise prompt. There, Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski [Dem., Chicago] moved that it be sent to second reading as soon as it came over from the senate. His motion prevailed, and it is expected he will ask that it be advanced to third reading tomorrow and set for passage next week.

How Senators Voted.

Passage in the senate was achieved by the following roll call:

Behrman	Lohmann	Stuttle
Hickman	McDermott	Vogelsang
Karraker	Monroe	Williams—11
Lee	Mundy

REPUBLICANS.

Barbour	Leonardo	Woods—3

The action today was swift. Senator R. V. Graham [Dem., Chicago], who introduced the bill for the city and state administrations, called it on third reading and briefly explained its provisions.

As drawn by Corporation Counsel Sexton of Chicago, the bill requires, Graham said, that persons desiring to object to taxes on real estate must pay at least 75 per cent of such taxes under protest and obtain the proper receipt before they can file an objection in the courts. Upon a hearing the court may order a refund or order sale to cover any additional amount found due.

Without much more delay the roll was called.

INDUSTRY GOES NAZI IN GERMANY; HITLER IS BOSS

Chancellor Plans to Bend Business to His Ends.

BERLIN, May 3.—(AP)—Nazi control of the federation of German industries became complete today after a final conference between Baron Gustav Krupp von Bohlen, head of the Krupp works at Essen, and Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

The baron early in March was authorized to negotiate with the chancellor and his cabinet in a reorganization of the federation which aimed at adoption of an industrial policy coinciding with the views of the government, meaning Nazi control of the vital industries. The old executive board resigned April 7.

Nazis in Control Positions.

A federation communique said the baron would remain as president of the federation, with Otto Wagener, Hitler's economic adviser, and Alfred Moellers, a Nazi reichstag member and a prominent economist, acting as reich commissars.

Baron Krupp von Bohlen, the communique stated, has undertaken "to bring his powerful organization into line with the government's policy."

Overlapping interests will be eliminated to save expenditure and to simplify the working of industrial apparatus. A detailed reorganization plan will be submitted to a meeting of member concerns soon, while the guiding principles for currency, credit, and taxation problems will be worked out by an advisory committee.

All Unions Surrender.

Apparently hastened by Nazi action yesterday in taking over the free trade unions, the Catholic Christian Trade union, the office workers' organization, and affiliated bodies surrendered today to the Nazi régime. The move affects, roughly, 1,000,000 members.

Bavarian police today closed refreshment rooms and Tietz stores at Gmunden and the Woolworth stores at Bamberg, allegedly because food and drinks were sold "unfit for human consumption."

Chancellor Hitler with the Polish envoy, Alfred Wysocki, went over the whole field of vexed German-Polish problems in a conference today.

It was officially stated that Hitler declared it is a firm resolve of German policy to remain strictly within the limits of existing treaties, while expressing hope both sides would proceed to solving the pending questions dispassionately.

Nobel Prize Winner Resigns.

Prof. Fritz Haber, 64, Nobel prize winner in chemistry in 1918, has resigned his directorship in the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Physical and Electro Chemistry. He is a member of the Academy at Washington and was fêted in America in 1924.

Bernard Rust, Prussian minister of education, has dismissed 17 additional Jewish and gentile professors in the Berlin Technical, Berlin Agricultural, Muenster and Griefswald universities. [Rust yesterday dismissed 30 professors, 21 in Berlin university and nine at Cologne university, at the beginning of the summer semester.]

Thomas Mann resigned the chairmanship of the Bavarian section of the Society for the Protection of German Authors at Munich, saying he intends to withdraw into complete seclusion.

At Frankfurt-on-Main, Jewish university students were ordered to turn in their matriculation cards as the first step in carrying out the restrictions of non-Aryans.

BARE LABOR PLANS

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 3.—Preparations for enactment of the Nazi labor conscription program have progressed so rapidly that the government was able to announce details today. On Oct. 1 it intends to take over the voluntary labor service and turn it into a government affair. On Jan. 1, 330,000 youths 19 years old or over will start their six months' labor army service. A second batch of the same number of youths will start to work on July 1, 1934.

To finance the program it is planned to take up an internal loan of approximately $125,000,000 at 4 per cent interest but final financial details will not be decided until Hjalmar Schacht, Reichsbank president, returns from his trip to Washington.

Jobs for 8,000,000.

The commissar of voluntary labor, Col. Konstantin Hierl, declared his amelioration plans alone will provide jobs for from 8,000,000 to 9,000,000 men in ten years. Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, has arranged with the German national railway system to electrify part of the system in Wuerttemberg but these plans have also been shelved until Schacht returns. This strengthens the impression here that Schacht is trying to strike some sort of special financial bargain with America.

Anti-corruption authorities have compelled the Behala company to return all formerly city owned ports and waterways in Berlin to the municipal authorities. The Behala company obtained the use of property worth millions of dollars for 50 years, paying $80,000. This deal has been annulled.

3 JEWISH SOCIETIES URGED TO UNITE TO SAFEGUARD RIGHTS

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—The rabbinical assembly of the Jewish Theological seminary, meeting today in the second session of its thirty-third annual three day convention, has recommended the union of the three leading American Jewish organizations in their efforts to protect Jewish rights throughout the world.

The report, which was adopted in principle, urged that the American Jewish committee merge a single central association, and that the B'nai B'rith, national fraternal society, recognize the authority of the new organization and its full responsibility for the defense of Jewish rights.

The split between the various Jewish organizations, it was pointed out at the convention, has existed since the war, but has never been so apparent as during the last few weeks when sharp differences arose as to methods of protest against Nazi anti-Semitism under the Hitler régime.

JAPAN TO DEMAND NAVAL EQUALITY WITH U. S., BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, May 3.—Official intimation that Japan may claim naval equality with the United States and Great Britain at the next naval conference, or even at the London economic parley, if the matter come up there, was made by the foreign office today in a statement which is interperted as a feeler to Great Britain and the United States.

Where Japan would get the money to build up such a fleet was not disclosed.

"Unless some such arrangement is made," the foreign office spokesman said, "the conference will come to grief. Even Germany is demanding arms equality, and remember, we did not lose the war. In these days actual wars between major powers are impossible and huge armies and navies are mere ornaments and a sign of sovereignty."

Northern Italy Drenched in Downpour of Red Rain

GARDONE, Italy, May 3.—(AP)—A half hour downpour of a blood red rain here and over Lake Garda and at Imola, 110 miles southeast of here, late today puzzled scientists. They linked it with the same phenomenon caused by showers of mud and ashes over Rome and Naples yesterday afternoon, but continued to disagree as to the exact nature.

DISARM PARLEY SPLITS AGAIN ON TYPES OF ARMIES

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 3.—(AP)—Whether European armies in the future will be professional or conscript again split the disarmament conference today. The French and English delegates failed to induce Germany to agree to abolition of the long term professional reichswehr.

Count Rudolf Nadolny, German delegate, suggested a compromise under which the armies would be a mixture of professionals and conscripts. This was promptly rejected by Rene Massigli of France, who said that such a body of troops would "constitute the most formidably offensive army of all."

Count Nadolny repudiated an earlier accusation of the French that the reichswehr is "an army of offense," declaring that if this were true then the American and British armies were also offensive.

Lindbergh Will Testify at Gaston Means Trial

Washington, D. C., May 3 [Wednesday].—(AP)—The Post said today that definite assurance has been received by United States Attorney Rover that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will be ready and willing to appear here next Monday at the trial of Gaston B. Means and Norman T. Whitaker on charges of conspiring to steal $35,000 from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean.

"WHAT ARE WE FIGHTING FOR?" BOLIVIANS ASK

Salamanca's Government Imperiled by Cry.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 3.—Public wrath is rising against the Bolivian government, according to information trickling through the rigid censorship at La Paz, and President Daniel Salamanca, unable further to justify the unofficial war adventure in the Gran Chaco, is reported fearful for his political security.

Hostility to continuation of the struggle with Paraguay is no longer confined to noisy student elements. The merchant classes in La Paz, the political capital, and Oruro, the commercial capital, have raised their voices against the government's bellicose policy, and processions of protest have had to be dispersed by the police.

Few Boys Come Back.

Martial enthusiasm, which formerly wafted the Bolivian soldiers from the capital to the front, has given place to sobbing, because home folks now realize that few of their boys come back from the carnage and fever of the swamp jungleland where the fight goes on with the Paraguayans.

Popular disapproval also is voiced against Gen. Hans Kundt, the German who reorganized the Bolivian army and was hired for the specific purpose of "smashing through to Asuncion." Bolivians, even some of the junior officers, criticize Gen. Kundt because he is a foreigner and also because of his "wave attack" tactics, which, they state, are pursued regardless of losses.

Reports reaching Chile today added that, while these facts were telling against Salamanca, the government was also criticized by powerful political elements because there was no fixed war aims. "What are we fighting for?" is a daily question in La Paz shouted by politician and mob.

Answer: "National Honor."

The Chilean government, acting concertedly with Argentina and Brazil, made peace overtures on the basis that Bolivia wanted an ocean outlet, either on the Atlantic or the Pacific oceans. La Paz retorted that "to assume we require an ocean outlet is to demonstrate ignorance of the vital principles at stake in the Gran Chaco."

"What are the principles at stake in the Chaco?" inquired the A. B. C. powers, determined to sift the matter to its foundations.

"National honor" was the reply, and that was as far as the peacemakers got. Meantime Gen. Kundt has been ordered to continue his wave attacks regardless of cost.

JOE GREIN FACING DEFEAT IN DEMANDING YELLOWLEY OUSTER

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Joe Grein, Chicago city sealer, probably will be disappointed in his attempt to obtain the removal of Federal Supervisor of Permits E. C. Yellowley from his position in Chicago. That was indicated today.

Prohibition Administrator A. V. Dalrymple and Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol James M. Doran, have read the city sealer's complaint against Mr. Yellowley, they said, and also have read a report on the case sent to them by Chicago Prohibition Administrator Malachi Harney. They have decided, it was said, to pursue the matter no farther, and Mr. Yellowley will be retained.

Mr. Grein charged that Mr. Yellowley, while Chicago prohibition administrator, illegally seized fifteen hundred corkscrews and other paraphernalia owned by the firm of Grein & Pahls. The goods came back after three years.

WIFE KILLER CONVICTED.

Carrollton, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Harry F. Oberlin, rural mail carrier, of Jerseyville, was convicted by a jury last night of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his wife, Clara, at their home on April 16, 1932.

If Employment be Increased

Undoubtedly many who can well afford the very best deprive themselves, in times like these, of the quality that they most appreciate — chiefly as a gesture of economy. This attitude is an unnecessary sacrifice and is also directly responsible for causing much needless unemployment.

More men are employed on quality products, proportionately, than on the cheaper articles. Mass production is by no means production by the masses but just the contrary—production by machines. There is a demand and a necessity for machine-made products, of course. But if employment be increased, if pride in individual achievement be stimulated, and if skilled labor be encouraged, men as well as machines must be kept busy. Thus, the fact remains that in buying the better qualities one not only benefits himself but also helps to increase employment.

FOES OF MARXISM IN SPAIN DECLARE WAR ON PREMIER

Spurn Truce; Parliament Is Deadlocked.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, May 3.—A war to the bitter end was openly declared today between Premier Manuel Azana, who insists upon remaining faithful to his Socialist allies, and the Republican opposition, which claims that the Socialists will lead the young republic to ruin.

For two months the united opposition has been running a filibuster, expecting to bring down Azana's Republican-Socialist coalition, force the retirement of the Socialists and bring about the creation of an all-Republican government. Since the recent municipal elections, which the Republicans interpreted as showing that the country is opposed to the Marxists, they have intensified their filibuster and today Azana found himself obliged to offer a truce. But the opposition refused and now it is war.

May Close Parliament.

The most immediate result will be the complete breakdown of legislative function, since under parliamentary rules a complete majority is required for the government to apply cloture rules. A complete majority Azana has, but almost never is he able to muster them all together. Consequences of the legislative breakdown are as yet unpredictable.

Its peace offer rejected, the government is prepared, it is understood, to close parliament on May 17, the earliest date possible under the constitution, and keep it closed until the middle of October, which is as long as the constitution allows.

"If we cannot legislate, we can govern," a government spokesman said today.

Whether the opposition, which is known to have been ready on several occasions to join nonrepublican elements in a revolt against what they call Socialist tyranny, will take this lying down remains to be seen.

Azana Offers to Quit.

Azana pleaded with the Republicans to halt the filibuster for the sake of the régime and offered the resignation of his ministry as soon as two essential pieces of legislation required to make the constitution effective are passed. These are a law governing religious orders and a project establishing a tribunal of constitutional guarantees.

"It is a bad sign when the wings of gloomy night birds are heard," Azana told the opposition, referring to the monarchist's delight in a battle between Republicans. "I do not know which is a keener monarchist pleasure, this impasse or Republican grief."

Fearful of the consequences of a further paralysis of parliament, a group of intellectuals known as "at the service of the republic" left the ranks of the opposition.

The Socialists insist that an all-Republican government without them would only prolong some form of dictatorship. Five leading writers today quit the famous newspaper a Libertad, claiming it was financed by Fascist money.

Irish Abolish Oath to King; De Valera Plans Republic

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, May 3.—(AP)—The hope that he soon would have the pleasure of proclaiming Ireland a free republic was expressed in the dail eireann tonight by President Eamon de Valera.

The president added that he was resolved to wipe from the existing constitution "everything inconsistent with the sovereign rights of the Irish people." This utterance was the most definite of the kind De Valera ever had made.

The president's remarks were made after the oath to the British king had been abolished from the constitution by a vote of 76 to 56 in the dail and the measure formally signed by the governor general.

Assails "Inferiority Badge."

"We are going to remove from the constitution every badge of inferiority," President de Valera declared. "The people will be consulted before the republic is declared."

Holding aloft a copy of a draft constitution submitted by an Irish delegation to Great Britain in 1922, which was amended by the British, De Valera said the Free State would take from it every clause Great Britain had forced it to accept.

There was one dramatic moment when the president charged the Cosgrave party with beginning a civil war.

Former President Cosgrave retorted: "You began it, but we ended it."

De Valera replied: "No, we are ending it here today."

In the course of his speech the president alluded to the recruiting campaign of the Irish republican army. When it became a danger, he said, the government would use all its resources to crush the danger, but he said he believed the removal of the oath would remove the danger.

Those who wish could work for the republic, he added, but there must be no attempt to assume to dictate by force of arms to a majority of the people. He appealed for a cessation of all bitterness.

The bill to abolish the oath had twice been rejected by the senate, but it automatically became law today with the second passage through the dail and the assent of the governor general.

Denies Breach of Treaty.

The motion to pass the bill was made by De Valera, himself, speaking in the Irish language. Several speakers opposed the motion on the ground that it was a violation of the Anglo-Irish treaty setting up the Free State. This De Valera denied.

Under the provision of that part of the constitution removed today, every officer of the state, including members of parliament, was required to subscribe allegiance to the British crown. From the beginning of his political career in the Free State President de Valera has campaigned against this provision.

POLICE OF CUBA GET NEW ARMS; TROOPS ON MOVE

BY ELLIOTT TARBELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, May 3.—President Machado tonight equipped the Havana police with 5,000 additional rifles and 1,000,000 rounds of ammunition, backing up his recent manifesto in which he said that he intends to retain the rule of the island at all costs.

Two weeks ago Machado called in Gen. Alberto Herrera, chief of the army general staff, and told him that he would brook no interference with the Cuban army and navy. On May 1 he told labor representatives that he would continue in office until 1935.

Rush Troops to East.

The government is tightening its hold on the eastern provinces of Oriente and Camaguey. About 1,000 troops, light artillery and infantry, were sent there today.

Heavily armed guerrilla bands are reported active throughout Oriente province. Others are reported at Jucaro and Moron, at opposite ends of the cross island railroad, in Camaguey province. A large band is reported in the hills near Trinidad, Santa Clara province.

The government is expecting a heavily armed rebel expedition from the United States to attempt a landing. This is cited to explain the heavy troop movement to Oriente. Many entire families are reported to have been arrested in Oriente.

Guard Kills Four Prisoners.

HAVANA, May 3.—(AP)—Four prisoners charged with participation in last Saturday's revolutionary disorders near San Luis, Oriente province, were killed today in Santiago in an application of the old Spanish "law of flight" as the government continued its pursuit of remnants of the rebel bands.

The four, with three other prisoners were being taken from the Santiago railway station to the municipal prison when, their guards said, they attempted to escape.

Corporal Isidoro Gort Castenada, commanding the guard, ordered his men not to fire, but leveled his own pistol and in quick succession shot down the four prisoners.

A number of pedestrians witnessed the killings.

FRANCE TO HIRE YANKS TO SPREAD ITS PROPAGANDA

Will Put 'Specialists' in U. S. Centers.

PARIS, May 3.—(AP)—Americans will be employed by the French foreign office to make France known to the United States. This is announced by Henry Berenger, chairman of the senate foreign affairs committee, in a report on the senate foreign affairs budget which will be distributed tomorrow.

An information bureau, directed by Americans, will be established in the Maison Francaise, New York, for which former Premier Herriot recently laid the cornerstone, Senator Berenger says.

His report adds that a "specialist" will be employed in the embassy at Washington as a further means of making France known.

He Explains "Misunderstandings."

One of these Americans was installed at the Quay d'Orsay, the French foreign office, several months ago.

Discussing French news in the United States, Berenger comments: "Misunderstandings between France and the United States are aggravated through reciprocal lack of comprehension." As a remedy he says that the government intends to strengthen the news service of the Washington embassy through "the aid of a specialist," while "the Quai d'Orsay will have an American collaborator and editor, and will, if necessary, prepare replies to attacks against France."

"This specialist," the report continues, "will concern himself also with pamphlets for distribution in the United States. In addition, the press service of the ministry of foreign affairs will give American journalists, among other things, articles in English."

Urges Diplomatic Shakeup.

Berenger discusses French news throughout the world. He mentions the achievements of certain countries which utilize for propaganda their large colonies. Commenting upon the foreign ministry, he urges its reorganization, because "it has been approximately the same for a century, while other countries have reorganized their diplomatic services and adapted them to present needs."

The senator says that among the measures contemplated is a photographic service for newspapers in central Europe, where the competition of German agencies "will oblige France to reorganize her telegraphic service."

NEW ARGENTINE CONGRESS TOLD OF BIG DEBT CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, May 3.—President Augustin P. Justo, addressing the opening session of congress today, asserted that the government has reduced its floating debt by 330,000,000 paper pesos [about $93,500,000] and its foreign and internal debt by 66,000,000 gold pesos [about $63,676,000].

Justo added that the government will submit to the 70th congress bills embodying recommendations of Sir Otto Niemeyer, British expert who made a study of Argentina's finances this year. The report advised setting up a central bank of issue, balancing the budget, putting all loans under federal control, abstinence from inflation and delay of stabilization of the peso.

The president made only slight reference to the trade treaty recently signed with Great Britain. He said that Argentina is still trying to arbitrate the Chaco dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay.

SCIENTIST WHO TRIED TO BREED "APE MAN" DIES

MOSCOW, May 3.—(AP)—Death has ended Prof. Ilya Ivanovitch Ivanoff's attempts to find the missing link in the origin of the human race by interbreeding apes with the human species.

The scientist died four months ago at Tashkent of natural causes at the age of 59, it was learned today, and was buried at that place, where he had a laboratory. He was considered an authority on artificial fecundation of animals.

Whether the soviet government, which is said to have financed his studies of apes in Africa, will continue the experiments is not known. Few details of the biologist's interbreeding experiments were published, except that two of his subjects were female chimpanzees. His colleagues say his efforts to produce an "ape man" were not successful.

CARPENTER, U. S. JUDGE HERE 23 YEARS, RESIGNS

Gives His Age as Reason; 66 Next October.

Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, senior judge of the United States District court in Chicago, yesterday sent his resignation to President Roosevelt, to take effect on June 30. The letter to the President was not made public, but, in a statement, Judge Carpenter explained that his resignation was due to the "ravages of time" and a disinclination to carry on the daily routine of judicial work at his age. Judge Carpenter will be 66 years old on Oct. 20.

Judge Carpenter was appointed to the District court in 1910 by the late President Taft, and resigned as chief justice of the Circuit court to accept the appointment.

Born in Chicago.

He was born in Chicago on Oct. 20, 1867. He is married and has two surviving children—Mrs. Edward J. Bermingham II. and George B. Carpenter. He lives at 945 North Dearborn street. Judge Carpenter was graduated from Harvard university in 1888 and from Harvard Law school in 1891. He is a member of the Onwentsia, Saddle and Cycle, University, and Chicago clubs.

Judge Carpenter's statement said: "On the coming of June 27 next I shall have completed a continuous service of 27 years on the bench, 23 of them in my present position as United States district judge. I feel the ravages of time and at my age am disinclined to carry on the daily routine of judicial work and assume the necessary burden of decision in important cases. My colleagues have been considerate enough to assign me from time to time the lighter work, but that is not fair to them nor to be further allowed. All matters pending before me will be settled by June 30."

Three Big Cases.

During his career on the federal bench three important cases before him were the trial of the meat packers in 1912, the trial of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight boxing champion, on a charge of violation of the Mann act, in 1913, and the furniture trust trial in 1926, in which 79 furniture concerns were charged with arbitrarily fixing prices.

Judge Carpenter's resignation will leave two vacancies on the District bench. The appointment of former United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson to this court by President Hoover was never confirmed by the senate. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson will become senior judge on acceptance of Judge Carpenter's resignation.

JUDGES SEEKING RE-ELECTION

(Election June 5)

DAVID M. BROTHERS

Judge David M. Brothers, Republican, started in as a cabin boy on a lake boat, studied law at night while working on a railroad, and climbed to the Circuit bench, where he has served for 18 years. He was born 72 years ago in Neenah, Wis., and came to Chicago in 1876. He is one of the six judges not indorsed in the bar primaries.

He got a job as laborer on the Chicago and North Western railway, found time to attend a business college, and won rapid promotion. The employés made him their representative on the executive board of the Railway and Telegraph Employés' league, and the railroad advanced him until he became general freight solicitor. For 20 years he was employed by the Chicago and North Western.

He studied law at Chicago College of Law and Illinois College of Law, and was admitted to the bar in 1900 at the age of 39. Gov. John R. Tanner put him in charge of the north side free employment office. His first public law office was that of assistant state's attorney under John J. Healy, a place in which he was retained by John E. W. Wayman. He served from 1906 to 1912.

Judge Brothers was elected to the Circuit bench in 1915 and has been twice reëlected. He spent his first two years in the Criminal court, where he made an unusual record for those days by cleaning up all cases on his docket. Later as chancellor of the divorce court in two years he disposed of more than 2,000 cases, also an average of 250 contested motions a month and 700 motions of course. Long hours and strenuous work impaired his health and for a time he had to retreat to a sanitarium.

He is the father of Judge William V. Brothers, and he lives at 4525 Beacon street. Judge David M. Brothers failed to get an indorsement at the recent bar primaries and the bar association report said of him that he had had a long experience in judicial office, but "his services are not satisfactory to the bar."

WOODIN GREETS MRS. N. T. ROSS AS MINT'S CHIEF

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming, was sworn in today as director of the United States mint.

The oath of office was administered by Frank Birgfeld, chief clerk of the treasury department.

Woodin Attends Ceremony.

Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin, ranking officials of the department and a small group of Mrs. Ross' personal friends attended the ceremony.

Dean G. Acheson of Middletown, Conn., is to be named undersecretary to the treasury to succeed Arthur A. Ballantine of New York. He has been secretary to Justice Brandeis. He is a graduate of Yale and of the Harvard law school, a friend of Ballantine's and a member of the law firm of Covington, Burling & Rublee of Washington. W. A. Julian, retired shoe manufacturer, now Democratic national committeeman from Ohio, has accepted the post of treasurer of the United States.

Offers Bratton Judgeship.

President Roosevelt today offered Senator Sam G. Bratton [Dem., N. M.] a federal judgeship in the tenth Circuit Court of Appeals, which embraces New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas, Wyoming and Utah. Bratton has been a judge in New Mexico. In offering the position to Senator Bratton, the President requested him not to resign from the senate until the present extra session of congress is concluded. The senator accepted the appointment. Gov. Arthur Seligman of New Mexico may succeed him in the senate.

Sinclair Dealers in Chicago keep out Motor Oil Bootleggers with NEW TAMPER-PROOF CAN

How often do you actually get what you asked for when you buy motor oil? Some authorities say that over 25% of all motor oil sold today is substituted or bootleg oil. Many cheap, shoddy oils are masquerading under famous brand names. Some are poorly refined oils worth less than half the price you pay. Some are even crankcase drainings.

Every Sinclair service station here is an island in an ocean of bootleg oil. For Sinclair dealers here sell Sinclair Opaline and Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oils from the new Sinclair 1-quart and 5-quart Tamper-Proof cans. These cans are refinery-filled and refinery-sealed and opened only before your eyes—their contents as free of dirt and contamination as when refined. You can't help getting what you paid for—be it Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil—"mellowed 80 million years", or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil—"mellowed a hundred million years".

Help smash this "racket". Help honest men earn an honest living. Ask for Sinclair Motor Oils in Tamper-Proof cans. This service costs you nothing extra.

MOVE TO OFFER WOMAN GAVEL AT REPEAL MEETING

Temporary Chairman May Be Feminine.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A proposal to recognize the work of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Repeal by giving a member of it the temporary chairmanship of the Illinois convention to amendment, was advanced yesterday. ratify or reject the repeal of the 18th It followed a protest that the women's organization with its 225,000 members had not been given recognition on the joint slate of "For Repeal" candidates to run for delegates June 5 to the convention July 10.

Mrs. George E. Brennan, chairman of the political action group of the women's organization, was asked by the Democrats to run for delegate on the joint repeal ticket. She is sailing for Europe in a fortnight, however, and sent her regrets to the Democratic managers. Her place on the ticket was filled by a representative of the men's wet organizations.

Petitions Are Started.

Nominating petitions for the repeal slate were put into circulation at a meeting of Democratic committeemen at the Morrison hotel, and the suggestion was informally put forward that the women be recognized by giving them the gavel at the convention before it is permanently organized.

It was pointed out that Illinois would thus follow a precedent set by Michigan, first state to ratify. In Michigan, Mrs. Frederick M. Alger of Detroit, chairman of the Michigan division of the women's organization for national prohibition reform, did not run as a delegate but was appointed to serve as chairman pro tem until a permanent chairman had been elected.

Similarly in Illinois, it was argued, Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, co-chairmen of the women, might be made temporary co-chairmen of the convention.

The law provides that the governor shall call the convention to order at noon July 10, and shall preside until a temporary or permanent chairman is chosen by the delegate. The delegates are to elect one of their own number as president of the convention. It is argued the temporary chairman need not be a delegate.

Activities Commended.

Repealist groups yesterday pointed to the activities of the women's organization in the last three years in promoting the election of wet candidates for congress and the legislature. Especial mention was made of the recent activities of Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Wheeler at Springfield that had much to do with the passage of the bill providing for a ratifying convention July 10 instead of waiting a year.

When the rumor was advanced that downstate judges were trying to prevent election of delegates June 5 the women at once telegraphed every judicial candidate in the state, and the responses laid much of the opposition.

While the Democrats and Republicans were starting their nominating petitions—25,000 signatures are needed—for the repeal slate of fifty delegates published in yesterday's TRIBUNE a dry ticket of fifty anti-repeal candidates for delegate was announced by a conference of thirty-three dry organizations.

Safford Gives Out List.

The dry delegate slate was made public by George B. Safford, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. It follows:

FOR CHICAGO—Arthur M. Barnhart, Frank A. Bentley, Melbourne P. Boynton, Jennie C. Eulette, Ada Reed Ferguson, Douglas Horton, Henry Johnson, Hugh S. Magill, Mary K. Nelson, John Nuveen, Almer M. Pennewell, Ella Seaz Steward, Graham Taylor, and Harriet Vittum.

FOR OAK PARK—Henry W. Austin, Edward E. Blake, Andrew A. Bruce, and Albert Buckner Utt.

FOR EVANSTON—Thomas F. Holgate, Harry Eugene Kelly, Albert N. Marquis, and Catherine McCulloch Spray.

FOR ROCKFORD—Hugh M. Bannen, Gus S. Brown and Frank S. Regan.

FOR SPRINGFIELD—Oslas M. Hatch, T. J. Knudson, Hugh T. Morrison, and R. Allen Stephens.

OTHERS LISTED—William P. Allin, McLean; Mary Titus Bedell, Mount Carmel; E. M. Bracker, Galesburg; Clifford U. Collins, Peoria; William O. Edwards, Pinckneyville; Florence K. Gourley, Lake Forest; Wilbur J. Greer, Omaha; Louis F. Gumhart, Macomb; Clarence Shuman, Lebanon; Wendell P. Ray, Taylorville; Clarence A. Lloyd, Champaign; F. F. Lummis, Quincy; Elizabeth Mayo, Pittsfield; T. R. McMichael, Monmouth; Henry W. McPherson, Bloomington; Mabel Ott, Moline; S. S. Pearsall, Elgin; George B. Sarotti, Wilmette; Henry A. Dubois, Cobden; George C. Walker, Ashton, and Benjamin Weir, Charleston.

Both political parties yesterday took up the preparation of campaign plans. Most of the candidates on the Democratic ticket, which contains nine Republican sitting judges, attended the Morrison hotel luncheon. Activities are expected to start next week after the return of the Democratic leaders from the Kentucky Derby.

At the Sherman hotel the Republicans held conferences with their judicial candidates. Headquarters were opened for Mrs. Elizabeth M. Fihe, Republican candidate. Mrs. Fihe was formerly a referee in the juvenile court under Judge Mary M. Bartelme.

TEN BREWERIES GET MICHIGAN LICENSES TO MAKE LEGAL BEER

Lansing, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—Ten Michigan breweries have so far been licensed by the state liquor control commission, it was revealed today, with more than a score still seeking licenses. The recent act legalizing 3.2 beer and wine permits 64 breweries in the state.

Frank A. Pickard, commission chairman, said a definite day, sometime between May 10 and 15, will be set by the commisison when beer will be made generally available throughout the state. No retail licenses have as yet been issued and the application blanks to be used by local authorities, who must pass on applicants, have not yet been sent out but are being printed.

Newly Born Baby, Left for Dead, Summons Help

A boy baby less than two hours old was abandoned yesterday in the alley in the rear of 143 South Albany avenue. Wrapped in a newspaper and apparently left for dead, the infant summoned help by lusty yelling. Neighbors notified Warren avenue police and Sergt. David Mulcrone hurried to the alley, wrapped the foundling in a borrowed blanket, and took him to the county hospital. Physicians said that the youngster is a healthy, good looking boy and will live.

Gov. Pinchot Signs Bill for Repeal Convention

Harrisburg, Pa., May 3.—(AP)—Gov. Pinchot today signed the bill providing for a state convention to act on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It provides for the election of fifteen delegates at large. The governor also signed the bill for the control of manufacture and sale of beer over which there was a long fight in the legislature.

Oklahoma Repeal Plan Vetoed by Gov. Murray

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 3.—(AP)—Gov. William H. Murray today vetoed a joint house resolution providing for state conventions to consider the proposed repeal of the 18th amendment. The governor's action means the repeal question can make no further headway in Oklahoma until January, 1935.

DRY LAW COSTS TO U. S. CONTINUE AT USUAL TOTAL

Enforcement Head Hopes for Early Slash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Modification of the liquor laws to permit the manufacture and sale of beer has not yet made a dent in the high cost of federal dry law enforcement, Prohibition Administrator A. V. Dalrymple said today.

A. V. DALRYMPLE. [Acme Photo.]

But he promised a "substantial reduction" in the expenses of enforcement as soon as the government dry forces learn how to deal with new conditions injected into the prohibition picture by the legalization of 3.2 per cent beer. The $8,440,000 appropriated for dry activities in 1934, he indicated, may be slashed considerably, although the $10,250,000 available for the current fiscal year will probably be used up by July 1.

A further saving, according to the Roosevelt dry chief, is expected to accrue from the merger of the prohibition administration and the bureau of industrial alcohol.

"There is going to be a substantial reduction in enforcement costs," Maj. Dalrymple declared. "There is no question that it is going to be cheaper to carry on the work of this bureau."

The federal dry head said he expects to go to Chicago next Wednesday for a survey of conditions there.

One of the major purposes of his trip, he said, is to "renew his acquaintance" with Mayor Kelly. Maj. Dalrymple declared that if the heads of large cities like Chicago and New York will coöperate with his bureau in stamping out liquor racketeering by a cautious issuance of beer permits their revenues from legitimate beer taxes will help in solving present financial difficulties.

DISPLAYS HIS ELECTRIC CHAIR; HALTS TRIAL

Linden, Tex., May 3.—(AP)—An aged inventor displaying a model of an electric chair on the court house lawn interrupted today the murder trial of Paul Oakley, 20, self-styled "divine healer" of the Piney hills.

Judge Harvey Hirks reprimanded the man, whose name was not taken, and ordered him to leave town.

Both prosecution and defense attorneys objected strenuously to the demonstration on the grounds that members of the jury might have seen the chair and been unduly influenced.

The inventor said he had no ulterior motive and that he had displayed the exhibit "to teach bad boys what would happen to them if they were not good."

The defense then went on with its testimony intended to bear on Oakley's strange conduct about the time he was accused of choking Bernice Clayton, 3 year old invalid, to death in an effort to cure her. Oakley has declared the "devil" told him to choke the child.

TURKISH TOBACCO
comes to this country in bales. The leaves are small and tightly packed. Each bale contains about 40,000 leaves.
DOMESTIC TOBACCO
is stored in huge wooden hogsheads. Each hogshead contains about 1000 pounds of tobacco.

A flavor that neither possesses alone

Turkish tobacco is to Cigarettes what Seasoning is to Food

Early in the 17th century, tobacco seed from America was taken to Turkey. Different soil, different climate, different temperatures night and day, and different farming methods produced an entirely new tobacco—small in size, but very rich and aromatic.

This tobacco is known generally as Turkish tobacco; but there are as many varieties of Turkish as there are kinds of apples.

Four certain spots are famous for the quality of their Turkish tobacco—Xanthi and Cavalla in Greece; Samsoun and Smyrna in Turkey. And it is principally from these places that our buyers get the Turkish for Chesterfield.

These Turkish tobaccos are blended, in just the right amount, with Domestic tobaccos. It is this blending and cross-blending of just the right amount of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos which gives Chesterfield a flavor that neither possesses alone.

HIGH COURT HITS JUDGES WHO SET 4 ROBBERS FREE

Probation Order Upset by Decision.

In two separate orders received here yesterday, the state Supreme court overruled two Cook county criminal judges who freed four convicted robbers in unusual judicial proceedings.

One order sets aside the probation granted to Carl Parker, 27 years old, and Stanley Wilson, 29 years old, by Judge Charles C. Williams. Parker and Wilson were convicted of a series of drug store robberies and sentenced to one year to life. The other order rebukes Judge James J. Kelly for freeing two downstate robbers who had been sentenced to life in prison.

Attracts Wide Attention.

The case of Parker and Wilson attracted wide attention after the Chicago Crime commission disclosed that Circuit Judge Edward D. Shurtleff of Marengo, had interceded for Parker in the probation proceedings.

Parker is the nephew of Judge Carl G. Sherwood of Clark, S. D. He and Wilson were arrested in the summer of 1931 and sentenced to one year to life in Pontiac reformatory. Later Judge Williams had the prisoners returned to his jurisdiction and released them on probation. The release was effected, it was later disclosed, following a series of letters written by Judge Shurtleff to the state's attorneys office. Later Judge Williams said he released the pair "as a favor" to Judge Shurtleff.

When the facts were revealed steps were taken to set aside the probation and return the men to prison. Judge Harry Fisher, then chief justice, ordered the men rearrested and instructed the state's attorney's office to petition the Supreme court for a writ of mandamus to test the legality of the probation. The two men have been confined in the county jail since the mandamus proceedings began last June.

Jail Time Doesn't Count.

Assistant State's Attorney Grenville Beardsley said last night that had the two gunmen remained in prison they would now have served the minimum time under their sentences. Time spent in the county jail, however, does not apply on the prison sentences.

Judge Shurtleff, who is a former speaker of the state house of representatives, also figured in the release of another convict. By means of a writ of habeas corpus which he granted James [Fur] Sammons, Chicago public enemy, gangster, and machine gunner, was freed from Joliet penitentiary where he was serving a long sentence.

The case in which the Supreme court ruled against Judge Kelly arose over the freeing of Oliver A. Berg and Hymie Dickholtz, alias Harry Linard. They committed a robbery in Champaign, Ill., in 1925 and were sentenced by a judge of that county to life terms in the southern penitentiary. The judge ordered that they spend the time at hard labor.

Not a Reviewing Court.

Judge Kelly released the men on the technicality that the Champaign judge had no right to sentence them to life, but should have imposed the statutory punishment of 1 year to life. The Supreme court held that Judge Kelly had no right to act as a reviewing court and that his order releasing the men "was null and void and not justified under the habeas corpus act."

Berg and Dickholtz are still at liberty. The Supreme court order instructs "every policeman, sheriff, and coroner" to search for the robbers.

Formal expunging orders, based on the decisions, were entered in the criminal court records yesterday by Chief Justice John Prystalski.

SMASH WINDOW, MISS LOOT.

Three burglars who smashed the windows in the Spaulding Dress shop, 4632 Sheridan road, yesterday morning fled without any loot when they mistook three other men nearby for policemen.

MEXICAN QUEEN

Carmen Robles, who has been chosen to rule as queen over the fiesta which Mexicans will stage in Los Angeles to celebrate Cinco de Mayo, the southern republic's national holiday.

TAKES JURY NINE MINUTES TO FIND SWINDLER GUILTY

A Kane county jury at Geneva required only nine minutes yesterday to return a verdict finding Daniel Keene guilty of swindling George M. Peck, 90 years old, Elgin bank president and civil war veteran, of $20,000. Keene is a Chicagoan.

The verdict was returned before Judge John K. Newhall. Keene is liable to a sentence of one to ten years in prison if the judge denies a motion Monday for a new trial.

Evidence was presented showing Keene and two other men approached Banker Peck and his wife last fall and obtained securities from the couple through methods declared fraudulent.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

BONE AND SINEW IN IOWA.

Iowa farmers whose disorders have brought part of the state under martial law are quoted as saying that what they want is Russian law. This would indicate that some of them are running more to bone than sinew. If they had what the soviets decree for the farmers they would be serfs bound to the soil, unable to move without a passport, unable to raise a crop with the assurance that they could keep enough of it to keep alive, certain their produce would be appropriated, and certain also that if they possessed a herd and decent house, sufficient farm equipment and competence, they then, as kulaks, would have all their goods taken from them and be exiled to the snowdrifts in the northern forests or to the desert wastes.

Envy of the Russian peasant's lot would prove that the disorders in rural Iowa begin in the rural mind. The rioting Iowa farmers are endeavoring to destroy the only thing which protects them in any property which they have or may ever have. In their state of mind they are trying to destroy themselves in two ways. They are trying to destroy a form of government which, thus far at least, is pledged not to take their goods without due process of law. No one can tell at this time how long the Washington revolutionaries will permit this guaranty to continue, but at least considerable of it still remains. They are also endeavoring to create a condition in which there will be no recourse for them if an armed gang moves in on a farm with trucks and machine guns, slaughters the stock on the place, and carries it off with anything that may be in the granary.

These farmers, because of debts which they incurred, probably as often in speculation as in necessity, and because of taxes which are almost entirely local, assessed by their own will and collected for their own purposes, are endeavoring to upset the only form of government which can protect them in the fruits of their labor and the possession of their goods.

Their plight is in no fashion different from that of hundreds of thousands of small urban business men who were encouraged by confidence in the continuance of a great prosperity and went into debt to take fuller advantage of opportunities which they thought were not only bright but enduring. These city people were caught in the crash, their notes came due, their business has disappeared, the communities they served had lost purchasing power, and their property was taken from them by foreclosures to satisfy their debts. It has been a social tragedy, marked by the wreckage of what had been honest, intelligent enterprise.

The government has done very little to soften the blow which changed these men's lives from hope to despair, but they have taken hard luck with an understanding of what caused it, knowing that whatever chance they may have in the future depends upon the preservation of the institutions which permitted them once to accumulate that which they lost. The violence of the Iowa farmers may demonstrate their sinews but their ideas also prove their bone.

HITLER MAKES A CHOICE.

The removal of Col. Duesterberg from his position as second in command of the Steel Helmet organization seems to clarify the confused situation in Germany.

Hitler came to power as the leader of his own Fascist party and also as the leader of a coalition of parties. His allies included two highly diverse elements. There were the large-scale industrialists of western Germany led by Dr. Hugenberg, and the Junkers, owners of large estates, mostly in the eastern sections of Germany, and their following among the peasants. The geographical separation is of less significance than the economic differences. The Junkers want and already have received substantial protection for German agriculture, including such items as a prohibitive duty on imported lard. Germany for the most part is a poor agricultural country and if its farms are to supply the needs of the German market it is altogether certain that the price of food in Germany will be far higher than in any other country with which German industries must compete. The wages paid by German export industries cannot be advanced proportionately without causing such an increase in the prices of German goods as to drive them out of the world markets.

Col. Duesterberg's removal from the Steel Helmets, the Nationalist party's fighting arm, suggests that Hitler has seen that he must choose between the Junkers and the industrialists and has chosen the Junkers. If Dr. Hugenberg, the leader of the industrialist group, is next thrown out of a position of power, as the dispatches from Berlin forecast, the choice will have been made irrevocably. Incidentally, the removal of Hugenberg would raise the legal question of whether the Hitler dictatorship could continue after a change in the cabinet, but that question may be regarded as academic.

It seems reasonable to foresee, on the basis of what has happened, a sharp rise in the cost of living in Germany not compensated by wage increases. Unless Germans are different from the rest of mankind, that will breed discontent in the cities. To what extent the discontent can be controlled is any one's guess.

Hitler's difficulties have not been lightened by the depreciation in the American dollar. German industry, already handicapped by the pro-Junker policy, must now compete in the world markets against our exporters, who have the further advantage of a depreciated currency.

It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that Hitler is headed for trouble. Wishful thinking on the part of many observers will lead them to conclude that his policies will quickly destroy him. That conclusion, however, may not be warranted. Mussolini faced a somewhat similar conflict between the agricultural and industrial interests in Italy and has come through thus far. Hitler may do as well, though it is certain that his problem in a highly literate, highly industrialized exporting nation is considerably more difficult than that which faced Mussolini after the march on Rome.

THE MISSISSIPPI UNVEXED TO THE SEA.

Postmaster General Farley tells the Mississippi Valley association he is entirely in sympathy with the idea of having a commemorative stamp issued in honor of the opening of the lakes to the gulf waterway, but that the program for such stamps for this year is complete and that it will be impossible to include the Mississippi issue.

Just what is on the postoffice program is not generally known, but if there is anything more significant in its commemoration than the event in the Mississippi valley, the valley people would like to see proof of the greater importance.

The waterway from the lakes to the gulf is the broad highway of historic American advance. It carried La Salle and the French explorers down to or toward the gulf, just as it had carried the earlier Spanish explorers north. Its possibilities were what attracted the Virginia and North Carolina frontiersmen into unknown territory. It inspired George Rogers Clark to take the Northwest Territory. This waterway was the cause of American expansion out of the confines of the colonies east of the Alleghenies. The adventurous settlers and speculators saw in it the means of fulfilling their ambitions and realizing their fortunes. The pressure towards the gulf came to dominate American policy. It resulted in the Louisiana purchase and it spread the domain of the United States to the Pacific coast. It has incorporated in one continental area all that the United States now holds.

The reopening of this waterway marks a historic period which in its broadest and most comprehensive sense is equaled only by the fact of the revolution itself.

Commemoration by the issuance of postage stamps, even upon trivial occasions, is the habit of the postoffice. Mr. Farley is invited to defend whatever he may have on his list as against the valley claim. He can't do it.

THE CUBAN CRISIS.

The Cuban problem as it presents itself to our government is so simple that it can be stated in a paragraph. Cuba was peaceful enough when prosperous. Cuba is restless today largely because the country and its people are broke or rapidly becoming so. Their difficulties would be greatly lightened if the United States were to admit Cuban sugar on more favorable terms. That would work much injury to our domestic sugar industry and to sugar growers in the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and some of our other islands. It would, however, open a profitable market in Cuba for some of the farm and factory products of this country and provide the money required to meet the interest on the billion dollars of Cuban securities held by American investors. The problem before our government is one of drawing the balance of advantage and disadvantage.

The Platt amendment permits the United States to intervene in Cuba to maintain order, but no intervention is likely to have any permanent value or to be worth what it will cost unless the Cuban economy is placed on a sound basis. That can be done only by opening our ports to Cuban sugar on more favorable terms than are now offered. Intervention alone will be futile.

Editorial of the Day

TALL BUILDINGS DOOMED!

[Illinois State Register.]

That the skyscraper era is coming to a close and tall buildings of today may be curiosities in the future is the assertion of William Orr Ludlow, chairman of the committee on industrial relations of the American Institute of Architects, in a recent report to that body.

In support of that prediction he declares that the exodus from the cities of America has already begun and the congestion, of which the skyscraper is a product, is slowly yielding: that the five day week is virtually an accomplished fact, and the four day week is "just around the corner" because our inventors will continue to perfect ingenious machinery to replace hand work.

"Breaking away from the traditional forms of architecture," says Mr. Ludlow, "will bring about the change in style, and the increase in leisure time will make a demand for the kind of building that leisure time will need. The kind of building that will be required first will certainly not be the skyscraper or the factory; dwellings and institutional buildings, schools, hospitals, churches, and similar noncommercial buildings will probably lead the way.

"The time is not far away," he says, "when the heart of our great American cities will be abandoned as places for residence, amusement, and shipping. They will be given over to office buildings, centers for the distribution of freight and passengers, by rail, bus, and airplane."

Of course the continued increase in value in real estate in the metropolitan areas in recent years has has been the greatest factor in the popularity of the skyscraper construction, keeping the holders of valuable properties on the qui vive to build higher and higher in order to realize on their investments. With the "revision downward" of such valuations there may be a turn in the tide favoring lateral construction over vertical.

Mr. Ludlow argues interestingly, even though the abandonment of the skyscraper type of construction may seem to us far distant at this time. City planning authorities have for some time been decrying seriously this tendency to add to the already great problems of traffic and congestion in the big cities, and their influence may in time have some effect.

Rather curiously, considering the reluctance of Europe to espouse the skyscraper idea, word now comes from Paris that a tower more than 2,000 feet in height, or more than twice that of the Eiffel tower, is receiving serious consideration at the French capital.

A TIME LIMIT.

Young composer—So you think my composition will be played after Beethoven, Mozart, Tschaikowsky and Rachmaninoff are forgotten?

Critic—Yes—but not until then.—Pathfinder.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IT'S A GRAND VACATION or week-end place—that is, for those who like that sort of thing. It's just trees and hills, three or four thousand acres of 'em, and blue sky and soft winds from the south and the young green grass looking in some places like a Brussels carpet, so full it is of lavender ground pinks, yellow, blue, and white violets, trilliums, phlox, lady slippers, birthwort, mustard, and a lot more. There's no use telling you where this delectable place is; you wouldn't like it even though it's a very short day's motor run from Chicago. There are no jazz or taxi-dancing, brass bands, community sings, pageants, lectures, movies, sparring matches, or any of those things that people generally delight in. Not even golf, tennis, ping-pong or bridge, and there isn't a jigsaw puzzle on the premises. But there are miles of trees and grass and flowers and hills so sharp and steep that you can stall your motor before you know what's happening. There are dogwood and apple blossoms and red buds everywhere, and more kinds of green than you could believe after a long winter in town. And there are long trails that reach away and away "across the hills and far away, into the horizon's purple brim." And there's a jolly little brook tumbling down the hillside, over rocks and around corners, its banks a mass of yellow and white and purple flowers, and here and there a saucy jack-in-the-pulpit. And there are fat old woodchucks that come up and bark at you and dare you to make a hostile move at 'em, because it's a game preserve, too, this delectable place, and the woodchucks know that if you make a pass in their direction the governor will call out the state militia. And the crows know it, too, and they fly down to the cabin that shelters you and say all manner of derisive things about your housekeeping. Rabbits pop up all about and dare you to catch 'em, and a red headed woodpecker comes down and pounds away on your roof, and if you object he'll simply cock his head and say, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" And in the evening when you sit around the huge fireplace in your cabin and look out over the blue and purple hills, while the sweet, good air comes in from windows open on all sides, you hear a plaintive voice from the woods right at your door crying "Whip-poor-will! Whip-poor-will! Whip-poor-will!"

Oh, it's a grand place, a grand place. But, as we said before, only for those that like that sort of thing.

THE LIGHT.

You think in these last days I have no sun
To light my lonely way when dark o'ertakes;
How could you see
That though the darkness close
The night shall crimson as a rose
Ablaze for me!

How could you see
That all life's errors, gay desires,
Romance and song and long ashed fires
Fused into one—
God's bow of promise, brilliant, shining, makes
A light for me!

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

IF FRANKLIN DELANO gets control of all industries in the United States, what will he do with the poets, novelists, humorists, paragraphers, orchestra leaders, and other gay lilies of the field like those who toil not, neither do they spin? You couldn't make a poet work five days a week if you pointed a gun at his head, and a humorist wouldn't find life near so funny if he had to be over at the works when the whistles blew in the morning. It wouldn't do any good to put them in the reforestation army; they'd just roost on top of the first rail fence they came to and smoke cigarets and read to each other out of their own works. Well, why should we worry about it? That's F. D.'s job.

"HOOVER, SON, Inspect Dam Job."—Headline. But there are so many things being put over these days that might call for the use of the profane word, just which job was this?

HARD TO WORK these days with people calling up and saying, "What about Boiling Water?" Of course, if we said what we thought we'd say, "Great! Especially with a little toddy and sugar in it." But it isn't that kind of Boiling Water. The sort they're talking about these days is the horse that's going to be among those present at the Derby next Saturday. If you've ever been scalded or been down to Hot Springs, Ark., maybe you ought to bet on Boiling Water. But then right away the telephone rings and a hoarse voice tells you if you want to get rich sell the car and the radio and put all the money on Head Play. And right away somebody drops in and says: "Nothing to it; Ladysman has won that hoss race right now." What to do? And especially since we seemed to hear some sort of inner voice saying, "Beefsteak, Beefsteak, Beefsteak!" And look at the odds, gosh! Well, we'll bite. And then just as we've got it all settled the telephone rings again and a voice says: "Never mind about the rest of those dogs, bet on Charley O. I promise you Charley O. will win." Of course, when a fellow promises that means a good deal. Once again, what to do?

LESSON.

The day that April walked the land,
I felt an eager heart awake;
But deeming folly all it planned,
I bound it, for its safety's sake—
I clasped it with an iron band,
Fearing the thing might break!

It shrank to fit its bond; grew lean
And lank and dour. Therefore I know
Better be shattered, swift and clean,
Than treated so!

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

A WHOOPING COUGH VACCINE.

THIS column is asked whether there is a whooping cough vaccine, and if so, whether it is on the market and how much good it does.

A vaccine has been made by at least one physician. This man is a children's specialist of broad experience. He has been studying whooping cough for several years, and no one in the country knows more about the disease than he. For many years he has practiced diagnosing whooping cough bacteriologically and has made a success of it. This method of diagnosing the disease has had considerable vogue in Denmark, and for a year or more has been an official diagnostic procedure in Copenhagen, but not many American physicians have made extensive use of it.

Having satisfied himself that he was getting good results from the bacterial method of diagnosing whooping cough, this specialist turned his attention to making a vaccine. That which he devised is a suspension of bacilli of whooping cough cabilli, killed by phenol, kept for a week or more, and then tested to make certain that none are alive. This suspension is injected into the arms at intervals of a week. One treatment consists of two injections, one given in each arm. Three treatments are given.

There is some local and general reaction after each treatment, about as much as follows one of the series of typhoid vaccinations. There is some redness and local swelling at the point of injection, and a lump remains for about a week. The fever rises to a little over one hundred and is accompanied by some discomfort.

The vaccine is kept in a refrigerator, and under these conditions will retain its effectiveness for probably as long as four months. However, it needs to be reseeded with fresh bacteria grown from current cases during this period.

This physician has used his vaccine on several hundred children, some of whom were in the house with cases of whooping cough or were otherwise exposed to the disease. Exposure is something more than merely being near. He counts only as exposure having a whooping patient cough into the face of the exposed person. He is satisfied that the method of vaccination has proved successful. However, the method is still in the experimental stage. The vaccine is not on the market.

NEGATIVE.

Mrs. M. V. S. writes: Could you furnish me with a list of foods that tend to have a constipating effect? Occasionally I have heard comments from untrained people that some foods such as bananas, grape juice, crackers, hot milk, hard boiled eggs, etc., are constipating, but I have never been able to find any authoritative account or list of them. I am seriously troubled with this complaint and would very much like to avoid the foods which aggravate it.

REPLY.

No foods are constipating in the positive sense. Some are in a negative sense. Stating it differently, certain foods are not bulky or they absorb almost entirely or they contain no elements which tend to produce loose bowels. For these reasons they may contribute indirectly to the constipation habit. If grape juice is constipating it is because it is pretty much well absorbed. Water may be constipating in the same sense. Some persons find milk constipating in the same sense. Many do not find it at all so. Bananas, crackers, and eggs are not constipating in any sense. Your conception of dieting for constipation is "hind-end to." Instead of trying to avoid foods that constipate you should try to eat foods that tend to overcome constipation.

TONSILS.

D. E. M. writes: 1. Does a child need his tonsils for his growth until seven years of age?

2. If the tonsils are removed at the age of 3 because of enlargement will it harm the child's growth?

REPLY.

1. No.
2. No.

LIMITATION PERIOD.

Chicago, May 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise [1] what the limitation in years is in the state of Iowa regarding accounts of merchandise. 2. Is it valid to force collection for merchandise purchased in 1921 and part payments made up to June, 1922? Payments ceased at that time on account of unsatisfactory results. G. J. B.

1. Five years on oral agreements and ten years on written contracts.

2. No, unless special facts, such as absence of the debtor from the state in question, are involved to extend the period.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE.

Chicago, April 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have some small property and am not able at present to take out insurance for automobile accident. In case of collision with another party resulting in injury, what claim would they have against me? I have no income except about $50 rent and $40 a month pension. J. P. D.

If you are proved to be to blame and the other party not to blame, then the other party can secure judgment against you which will be collectible on your assets or income in excess of exemption. If, in addition, it is proved that you were malicious or reckless, then the judgment would authorize putting you in jail.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PURCHASE CONTRACT.

Chicago, May 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a person using his name as an officer for a "blind corporation" be sued? 2. If he purchased property for the corporation, using the name of the corporation, and allowed it to go in default through nonpayment and failed to pay taxes, can he or the corporation be sued for back taxes? 3. What is the average attorney's fee for obtaining a quit claim for a client? J. S.

1. We do not understand your question.

2. If you mean that his name is signed to the purchase contract, then presumably he could be held.

3. "Obtaining" implies that he does something more than merely drawing the deed. There would be no uniformity to such services, and hence we can suggest no significant average.

CHICAGO.—Speedy action must be taken by the Chicago World's Fair directors if the gates at Jackson park are to be open to visitors on Sunday. It rests entirely with the local board to determine whether or not there will be a Sunday Fair. The national commission yesterday practically declined to take any steps toward opening the gates until after the directors shall have proposed a new regulation.

Sixty-seven subjects of King Behanzin, ruler of Dahomey, arrived on the Midway plaisance to populate the Dahoman village. They were from the cities and bush regions along the slave coast of the Gulf of Guinea in West Africa. The new arrivals formed the strangest procession that has yet moved down the plaisance. Black as the shades of night, every one of them, they shivered from the cold, raw air and groaned along under heavy trunks which they balanced on their heads with as much skill as the southern Negroes tote smaller bundles.

Charles McSweeney, the Piper of Donegal, the man who will guide the curious through the Irish village at the World's Fair, arrived in the city yesterday. He carried with him the pipes whose lively skirl will set the feet of visitors to tingling.

Four families of Penobscot Indians have arrived and are now on the Fair grounds. They are from Old Town, Me., and have come to join the gathering of native peoples in the ethnological department.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 4, 1917.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—M. Viviani, Marshal Joffre, and their fellow members of the French commission to the United States left here late yesterday on the initial stage of their brief tour of the eastern half of the country. Their first stop will be at Chicago. Today the citizens of patriotic Chicago, responsive to the call that has been made upon the nation and appreciative of the heroic sacrifices made by France, one of the countries extending the call, will throw aside the sober garment of restraint and will unite in extending to the representatives of our sorely tried ally the sort of welcome that has made Chicago famous throughout her history.

CHICAGO.—Before 1,350 members and guests of the Chicago Bar association, James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, last night gave forth a cry to battle and a solemn warning that the United States is in a war which is righteous but which will last long. The banquet was held in the Congress hotel.

PARIS.—The French in their operations between Soissons and Auberive, according to an official statement, have since April 16 captured nearly 23,000 prisoners, 175 field and heavy guns, 412 machine guns, and 119 trench guns and mortars. The Germans, who had forty-three divisions in reserve behind the franco-British front, have been obliged since April 9 to throw in thirty-three of these divisions, and by April 27 seventeen divisions, badly cut up, had already been withdrawn.

LONDON.—The British transport Arcadian was sunk in the eastern Mediterranean by a submarine April 15. The ship sank in five minutes. It is believed 279 men were drowned.

CHICAGO.—Naval men in Chicago and the middle west went "bone dry" yesterday. Any officer or enlisted man will hereafter enter a public place where liquor is sold only under pain of court-martial. The order was sent out by Capt. W. A. Moffett, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval station and ranking naval officer in the ninth, tenth, and eleventh naval districts. Civilian clothing will not be permitted to be worn under any circumstances.

CHICAGO.—Unless the pinch of war becomes much more drastic Chicago will strive to get along without eating horse meat. The decision was made by the city council committee on health. The aldermen flatly refused to listen to a petitioner who asked that the council authorize the issuance of a permit allowing him to open a market for the sale of horse meat exclusively.

SOME CAN TAKE IT; SOME CAN'T.

Chicago, May 1.—The Iowa [and other] farmers who complain so bitterly and violently about foreclosures and attendant hardships are actually, in a large number of instances, the victims of their own greed, bad judgment, and overenthusiasm.

The only difference between the farmers and the Wall street speculators was in the vehicle of their speculations.

During the happy days of the bull market I personally ran a small shoestring up to more than $130,000 in paper profits. I lost it because I had the bad judgment and the greediness not to be satisfied, and to believe that all prices would go still higher.

And along with the loss came a drop in the market value of services, with the result that today my salary is just half what it was in 1928-'30.

My experience has been duplicated by dozens of my friends and by thousands of others, but you do not hear us putting up a loud bleat or demanding of congress that the government support us.

There is no sense in weeping over the man who speculated in land prices—and hence also in grain and meat prices—and jeering at the man who speculated in securities and hence gambled on the nation's general business.

The farmers may be losing their homes, particularly farmers who bought land on a margin at bull market prices. The security speculator is also losing his home, or the means to rent a home.

Adults are supposed to be able to stand up under the consequences of their own folly. If one entire class of people want to act like babies that weakness is no reason for allowing their demands to be gratified. We all speculated. We all guessed wrong. Now let those who learned something from the experience profit by their hard bought knowledge, but let's not make one group of losers support the other. C. H. P.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Chicago, April 26.—Please, Ald. William A. Rowan, for the sake of mothers with young children, don't extend our daylight saving time. It is bad enough as it is and almost impossible to get children to bed when it stays light so long.

The majority of our people are out of work and don't need any extra daylight. They have too much as it is.

I am sure I voice the opinion of many thousands of people who would like to have daylight saving abolished altogether. If we must have it, why not limit it to the months of July and August?

MRS. D. BROWN.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Chicago, April 27.—I was greatly interested in the editorial in The Tribune of today regarding a public works program. In the list of works deserving of special consideration The Tribune included electrification of railroads and railroad terminals.

By going back over your files you will notice that in September of 1931 you indorsed editorially a proposition of mine advocating electrification of railroads as a means of stimulating industrial activity in the United States. The reasons underlying my proposition were set forth in detail at the time the proposition was published, but they bear repetition at the present time.

I maintained and I still maintain that the construction of public works of the orthodox or standard type, such as postoffices, courthouses, etc., is inadvisable and unsound even as a means of relieving national distress; that distribution of billions of dollars in the shape of doles to unemployed is a disastrous procedure, and that the electrification of railroads properly planned and coördinated would produce greater benefit and do more general good than any other undertaking of a national scope. This work, however, can never be done by private financing with money costing 10 per cent or more, and the only hope of ever having it done is by the use of money at a much lower rate of interest, which means federal help of some sort or other.

We have plowed several billion dollars back into banks, life insurance companies, railroads, and for direct relief to states, with results that are, to say the least, very meager if not entirely negative, but had this money been spent to create facilities and improvements of the nature and character under discussion it is more than probable that our general situation would not now be as distressing as it really is.

THE BRICK BATTLESHIP.

Chicago, May 1.—The Sunday Tribune of April 30 contains in the list of happenings "Forty Years Ago" a paragraph on the battleship Illinois which was built of brick in Lake Michigan at the Columbian Exposition. I wonder how many of your readers realize that the relic of it still stands at Jackson park at the north entrance to the lagoon, looking like a short pier, just south of the entrance, out in the lake. Only the posts are left, but they show the outline of the battleship. North of the lagoon entrance is a long pier which is not to be confounded with the oval hull of the old ship. G. M. McBEAN.

J. B. BERRYMAN, CRANE CO. HEAD, ROBBED IN HOME

Held Prisoner with Two House Employes.

Three armed robbers took possession of the west suburban home of John B. Berryman, president of the Crane company, Tuesday evening and, after binding Mr. Berryman and two other members of his household, fled with jewelry, silverware, and a fur coat, it was learned late yesterday. The value of the loot was fixed at about $1,000. The home is on Highland avenue north of Downers Grove.

The bandits remained in the house for about an hour and a half. When they left, Mrs. Bessie Duncan, the housekeeper, managed to unfasten the copper wire with which she had been tied and released her husband, Charles, and Mr. Berryman. The two men had been tied together by the robbers.

Robbers Leave Clews.

An investigation was started by Chief Deputy Sheriff Arthur Bennett of Du Page county and his aids. They found finger prints of the bandits on a flask, and at the entrance to the grounds of the 16 room home they discovered an automobile hub cap which had been lost by the intruders.

The Duncans were in their room on the second floor when one of the robbers, masked and carrying a sawed-off shotgun, stepped in. He and his companions had entered by a side door.

When a second man, similarly masked and armed, came in the first told him Mr. Berryman was in the library downstairs. Bandit No. 2 then went down and compelled the Crane company executive to march upstairs. The three prisoners were forced to lie on a bed after they had been bound.

Take Silver and Guns.

From Mrs. Duncan the coat and a number of small articles of jewelry were taken. Mr. Berryman gave up $200 and Duncan surrendered his watch. The two robbers and the third, who had remained outside the room, then went downstairs and took the silver plate and two shotguns.

Mr. Berryman has been with the Crane concern since 1892. He was made president in November, 1931, following the death of Richard T. Crane Jr. He is a widower.

JOHN HORAN.

Police and the coroner's office joined yesterday in an investigation of the death of Jack Horan, 26 years old, of 6322 South Union avenue, who was struck by an elevated train at Randolph street and Wabash avenue early yesterday.

Unable to determine the exact manner of Horan's death, a coroner's jury returned an open verdict. Whether he fell off the station platform was not determined. One suggestion was made that Horan might have been a murder victim. The youth was a son of Daniel J. Horan, an undertaker, and a nephew of Fire Chief Horan, who was killed years ago in a south side fire.

What puzzled investigators was the finding in Horan's pocket of several blank checks of the Flatiron Laundry, 3629 North Halsted street. Two days ago police seized George Fiedler, former laundry employé, for carrying similar check blanks. Just how young Horan obtained possession of his checks mystified police. It was said some one might have put them into his pockets without his knowledge. Young Horan had an excellent reputation.

ARRESTED AS STOCKING THIEF.

James Casey, 30 years old, 536 Wellington avenue, a waiter, was arrested yesterday by Lieut. Richard Cull of the fire department after Casey had allegedly stolen five boxes of stockings from a counter in the Montgomery Ward & Co. store at Chicago avenue and Larrabee street.

GROUP HOSPITAL PLAN ATTACKED BY PHYSICIANS

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A group hospitalization plan proposed by the Chicago Hospital association met opposition from Chicago medical leaders last night after the plan had been outlined at a joint meeting of the Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin hospital associations in convention in the Hotel Sherman.

The hospital plan, known as the "Chicago plan," as described by Paul Fesler, superintendent of Wesley Memorial hospital, would make available to persons of moderate means 21 days of hospital care a year at an annual fee of $10.50. These persons would be members of employed groups only, but later, it was explained, the plan might be extended to include dependents. The plan is now before industrial leaders, and later will be taken before hospital boards in the city.

Leaders Attack Plan.

Dr. M. L. Harris, former president of the American Medical association, and Dr. Austin A. Hayden, president elect of the Chicago Medical society, attacked the plan.

"I object to the Chicago plan because it makes no mention of physicians, and the hospitals must have the coöperation of physicians," Dr. Harris declared. "Medical ethics goes back 2,500 years, but it does not seem to extend to hospitals and hospital superintendents. The greatest drawback is that the plan would create competition. Nothing has been said here regarding the reaction of employers of labor. They will turn the plan down."

"The only way to reduce hospital and medical costs," Dr. Harris concluded, "is to educate the public so that they will insist on going to the hospital and when they get there not demand things they do not need."

Dr. Hayden voiced two objections to the Chicago plan and similar group plans, after declaring that the cost of medical care now seems to be an expression of the group versus the individual.

"In the Chicago plan," he said, "you propose to give $126 worth of service for only $10 a year to selected and preferred groups of clients on the basis of $6 a day for their hospital care. The chief factor out of line is the $6 charge. The truth is that hospital expenses have not been lowered as other things have been.

Fails to Lower Costs.

"Probably the reason 52 per cent of the hospital beds in the United States are empty is this failure to lower costs. I believe hospital costs must be lowered. The medical profession has lowered its fees.

"The second point is that medical service is not made of equal importance. Patients go to the hospital to get well, not to be housed. Medical service is the main thing. The Chicago plan, however, is a good point to start from in devising a comprehensive plan for medical and hospital care."

Dr. W. H. Walsh, hospital consultant, also called the $6 a day charge excessive as a basis of cost for the class the plan is expected to care for. He declared that $4.50 a day in a four bed ward is sufficient.

DIES VISITING FRIEND.

Mrs. Mattie Takkiman, 55 years old, 6422 Stony Island avenue, died last night of heart disease while visiting Mrs. Phoebe Alexander, 4550 South Park way.

EX-WIFE OF GENERAL MOTORS OFFICIAL TO WED A THIRD TIME

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Dee Furey Mott, former wife of Charles S. Mott, vice president of General Motors corporation, today announced her engagement to Lewis L. Bredin, former Michigan amateur golf champion and state commander-in-chief of the Crusaders. The marriage will be the third for each and will take place in Rye, N. Y., within a short time.

Mrs. Mott was divorced in Detroit in 1929 after Mott charged her with criticizing and humiliating him in the presence of others. At the time of the divorce it was reported that Mott settled upon her and her daughter by her first marriage more than $2,000,000.

She gave her age at that time as 29.

Bredin is a Yale graduate and served in France during the world war as a captain in the air service. His home is in Grosse Point, a Detroit suburb.

FIRST TEN OF 'QUEEN'S' COURT ON VIEW SUNDAY

100,000 Hearts to Skip a Beat at Photos.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Before the last paint brush is flicked across the final building on A Century of Progress grounds Chicago will have found its Queen of the Fair. June 1 is the opening date of the Exposition, but the excitement as to the identity of its sovereign will have reached fever heat by this coming Sunday. In the rotogravure section of this newspaper May 7, pictures of the first group of ten girls named to be members of the queen's court will be reproduced.

Out of an aggregate of approximately 100,000 photographs, mailed in from every civilized country on the globe, these girls have survived the competition and have been named by the jury to contest on May 29 for the crown of queen. Fifty-one will comprise the court. Ten additional photographs of the finalists will be published on succeeding Sundays until May 28, on which date twenty-one will be shown.

Fêted Before Fair.

All of the fifty-one, from this country and abroad, will gather in Chicago on May 26 to participate in ten days of entertainment before and after the spectacle of the Exposition opening. They will meet the judges in the Bal Tabarin room of the Hotel Sherman on May 29, where the three ultimate winners—the queen and the first and second maids of honor—will be elected after a personal revue wherein all the girls will wear identical costumes. First place and the right to wear the royal robes carries with it a check for $5,000.

The two remaining checks will be for $3,000 and $2,000, respectively, and will go to the contestants named by the judges to their positions next to the throne. Special robes also will be provided for these girls.

Two from Overseas.

Day by day the members of the court are being advised in personal interviews of their selection by the judges. Chicago and suburbs have a sizable representation, but they will be gathered literally from every point of the compass in this country and two will cross the Atlantic to attend. A whirl of gayety awaits their arrival here.

All that visitors to Chicago customarily seek will be shown the girls. All the amusements favored of their age will be provided. They will be taken on tours of the exposition grounds, shown through the great stores, and guided through the famous institutions of the city and its environs. They will see a military review one day.

At least 100,000 hearts are due to skip a beat when they open up the roto section next Sunday. You may be there!

READERS START VOTING TO NAME FLOWER FOR FAIR

The public responded yesterday to the invitation extended by THE TRIBUNE to select by popular vote the official flower of A Century of Progress. Ballots poured into the garden department of THE TRIBUNE yesterday, the first day of voting.

The first ballot to be delivered was signed by O. V. Morgan, president of the Men's Garden Club of Chicago and an official of the Elmhurs Men's Garden club. Mr. Morgan conducted a poll in the offices of the Commonwealth Edison company, with the result that Marigold Guinea Gold was favored.

Early voters yesterday expressed a wide range of selections to set the pace for a spirited contest. The blank ballot to be found on this page lists six popular flowers which may be voted for. These were recommended by a committee of horticulturists headed by John A. Servas, director of Horticultural Exhibits, Inc., the agency conducting the flower shows at the fair. Voters are not limited to these six flowers, although care should be exercised to name varieties which are adaptable to summer growing conditions on the lake front.

All votes cast for the official flower of the exposition should be mailed to the Garden Department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, not later than May 20 when the balloting will close.

PRINCE OF WALES CONSIDERS TRIP TO CHICAGO FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3.—The prince of Wales may visit A Century of Progress exposition in a combined trip to Canada and the United States this year.

The proposal is at present under consideration that the prince visit his famous "EP" ranch at High River, Alberta, during the summer should public engagements in this country permit. It is understood that consideration also will be given the suggestion of extending his visit to the Chicago fair.

Wales' last trip to Canada and the ranch was in 1927 when he was accompanied by Prince George. His last visit to Chicago was in October, 1924.

Rufus Dawes, president of A Century of Progress, and Col. A. A. Sprague, representing the city, departed for Washington yesterday to extend an official invitation to President Roosevelt to attend the opening of the World's Fair. The President has indicated a willingness to be present. If he accepts the invitation it is possible the opening date of the fair will be advanced a day or two as an accommodation.

DEPUTIES CHEER BALBO'S NEWS OF CHICAGO FLIGHT

ROME, May 3.—(AP)—The whole chamber of deputies rose to its feet to applaud today when Air Minister Italo Balbo, presenting the $27,000,000 aviation budget—reduced 10 per cent from last year—announced that preparations for a flight of 20 seaplanes to Chicago this summer were nearing completion.

He praised the "reasoned audacity" of the spirit of the expedition in which nearly 100 men will endeavor to span the ocean in late May or early June, adding that bravery was praiseworthy in aviation but that prudence and adequate preparation were also most necessary.

400 U. S. Soldiers Arrive for Guard Duty at Fair

Two companies of troops, consisting of four hundred officers and men of the Sixth United States infantry, arrived yesterday from Jefferson barracks, Mo., for duty as guards and exhibition drill units at A Century of Progress.

AIR VIEW SHOWS WORLD'S FAIR IN FINISHED FORM

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A Century of Progress observed from the air yesterday revealed much of the gay character the exposition will assume when it opens in less than a month. The brilliant hues, white, silver and gold of the buildings, the painting of which is well under way, gave a carnival appearance to the structures on the man made mainland and Northerly island, lying between Chicago's skyline and the lake.

The plane, which was one of two scheduled to inaugurate the new air line service between Chicago and New York over American Airways, made its first flight with passengers over the city, twice flying over the World's Fair. The initial Chicago to New York flight of the service was postponed because of weather conditions in the east.

Open New Air Line Today.

More favorable weather conditions were predicted for today, and the plane, a new Curtiss Condor high speed transport, is scheduled to leave Chicago at 1:10 this afternoon bound for New York, by way of Detroit and Buffalo. The first west bound plane leaves New York at 2 p. m.

Before flying over the World's Fair buildings and along the lake shore as far south as Gary, the plane was christened at the airport by Miss Narcissa Swift, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden B. Swift.

As seen from above, the World's Fair buildings reveal a symmetry and a unified whole which in their present stage is less apparent from the ground. From the south end of the exposition grounds, where the huge Travel and Transport building shone in white and blue paint, to the brilliant yellow and blue of the Administration building at the northern end, the exposition buildings gave the appearance of a formally laid out garden of bizarre and brilliant blossoms.

Northerly island, crowded with color and with white capped waves rolling in on its eastern shore line and a lagoon separating it from the mainland, presented a fantasy of gold domes, green towers, red surfaces, and one long stretch of silver which was the Agricultural and Foods building.

To the south could be seen the magic mountain in the children's paradise, the Enchanted Island.

Install More Totem Poles at Fair's Indian Village

More totem poles were installed yesterday at the Indian village on A Century of Progress grounds. These religious relics come from the northwest and are curiously carved. The camp will portray pictures of other Indian groups, including the woodland Indians, the hunters of the plains, herders of the southwest, and the cliff dwellers.

Judge Charles E. Bull of Whittier, Cal., who bears a striking resemblance to President Lincoln, visited A Century of Progress grounds yesterday. The judge will remain here a week as the guest of L. L. Latour, 20 East Delaware place, and will return for the exposition opening. Because of his resemblance to Lincoln, Judge Bull has played Lincoln roles in the movies many times.

FARMERS MEET AT DES MOINES; DELAY STRIKE

Radical Delegates Take Rap at Herring.

BULLETIN.

Des Moines, Ia., May 3.—(AP)—Arnold Gilberts of Wisconsin, a member of the resolutions committee of the National Farm Holiday association, said tonight the committee will recommend calling a general farm holiday, or marketing strike, to begin May 13. Gilberts said the committee had adopted a resolution favoring a nation-wide holiday and would place it before the convention for vote tomorrow.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Des Moines, Ia., May 3.—[Special.]—The National Farm Holiday association's delegates, about 1,500 in number from the central farm belt, including 300 from Illinois, met at the Iowa State fair grounds today. They celebrated the association's first anniversary and will consider its future action on foreclosure legislation and the question of a farmers' strike on May 15.

MILO RENO.

Shadows of the Le Mars outrage, the presence of troops in nearby farming regions, the sunshine of the inflation news from Washington brought a hesitant mood, as far as that strike proposal is concerned. Leaders are delaying a vote, with the possibility tonight that the strike plan will be abandoned for the present. The sentiment seems to be to "give Resolutions were drawn by a committee headed by A. C. Townley, Minnesota radical, to censure Gov. Clyde Herring for calling the state troops.

Sympathy with Farmers.

While the attack on Judge Charles C. Bradley in Le Mars last Thursday was deplored, sentiment was strongly sympathetic with farmers driven to such straits. Several Iowa leaders of the movement are under arrest. Circulars written by a little group of communists in Sioux City, who were arrested Monday night, were distributed, calling for a big demonstration against Gov. Herring this morning. The demonstration did not take place, although the governor was referred to in an unfriendly manner at the convention. He was criticized for not welcoming the delegates.

Gov. Herring, sitting under the gold dome of the big state capitol on the hill above the fair grounds, said he would have come to speak to the convention, if he had been invited. The delegates are representatives of the more radical farm groups of the state, he said. He added that messages he had received convinced him that the farmers and other residents of Iowa generally supported his action in sending troops to Plymouth and Crawford counties.

Martial law, the governor said, would probably be lifted in a few days to permit the civil courts to function in the Bradley and Denison riot cases. Sufficient soldiers will remain in each community, however, to insure order. The charges against the Le Mars prisoners will be contempt of court, and change of venue may be taken to the Dutch settlement of Orange City.

Report Funds Are Low.

The farmers' delegates here gathered first in the horse pavilion, but there were so many of them, counting the wives and children who had piled into the family car and come along, that they moved to a bigger pavilion, open at the sides, so that the chill spring winds wandered at will among them. Out in the sun it was warm, with new grass and buds making the air fragrant. There were 326 cars on hand. The organization has little money, the treasurer reporting receipts of $942 and a balance of $1.42 in the bank. The association maintains, however, a headquarters in Des Moines, with a well paid publicity staff, and President Milo Reno said he had traveled 46,000 miles during the year and had organized branches in twenty-one states. So all the finances could not be accounted for apparently in this report.

Mr. Reno, a gray haired man with a shaggy mane, looking a lot like the elder La Follette, presided at the meeting and pulled all the strings.

"We all regret happenings such as occurred at Le Mars, but we regret even more the inhuman and unthinkable program that has made such happenings possible, if not inevitable," Mr. Reno said.

"I also regret the shortsightedness of those today who imagine that free men can be intimidated, coerced and abused by military tyranny until they accept a condition in life equal to the serfs and peasantry of old."

Mr. Reno said his speech undoubtedly would be misrepresented, but he wanted the people of the United States to know that there was not an organization in the country that stood more squarely on the Declaration of Independence and the golden rule, or one which had a warmer faith in the principles on which this country was founded.

When asked if Gov. Herring was going to welcome the delegates Mr. Reno said, "No, he welcomes us with state militia."

Delegate Tom Rickard of Oklahoma said there were 25,000 members in his state and they had stopped foreclosures, adding:

"I tell the farmers to stop raising so many hogs and so much cotton and start raising hell."

Wires to Roosevelt.

Harry Bragarnick, who refers to himself as an arbitrator or mediator in the milk situation, was on hand working to put off the strike. He had wired to President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace urging that the federal administration give early consideration to the dairy program.

"Our farmers are in an angry mood over continued low prices, debt burdens and mortgage foreclosures, Bragarnick told the President. "It is my conviction that if a group of farm states strike, the situation will be serious, with city unemployed joining the picket lines of the farmers. I am confident of averting the strike in Wisconsin if there is a reasonable action on dairy prices."

Secretary Wallace of agriculture is reported to have replied that he intends to call a dairy conference soon to develop lines of action, but could not promise anything definite until that time. William Dripp of the Wallace Homestead was present at the convention today.

Hear Story of Outrage.

Le Mars, Ia., May 3.—(AP)—The huge task of sifting evidence against a hundred or more farmer-defendants involved in the abduction and maltreatment of a district judge and several riots at farm foreclosure sales was begun today by a military court.

Among those testifying were three eye witnesses to the abduction and threatened hanging of Judge C. C. Bradley of Le Mars last Thursday. The mob of 150 to 200 men threatened the jurist unless he took an oath to uphold the constitutionality of Iowa's new mortgage moratorium laws.

One eye witness said members of the mob shouted, "Get a rope, let's hang him" while other members tossed a rope over a telephone pole cross-arm and fastened it around the judge's neck.

The three witnesses, who were passing the scene in a truck, said they were noticed by members of the mob and told to "Get out of here. You're not part of our gang."

HITLER APPOINTS DR. GOEBBELS AS ENVOY TO FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 3.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler today appointed Dr. Joseph Goebbels, German minister of propaganda and public enlightenment, as Germany's special envoy to A Century of Progress exposition at Chicago.

Goebbels, a small man of dynamic strength and a great orator, fears he will not be able to reach Chicago for the opening of the fair, however, because he is scheduled to go to Vienna and Rome in the course of the month.

German industrialists, who deeply deplore Germany's failure to take part in the fair on a more lavish scale, hope that Goebbels will plan special activities for his visit to Chicago which will make up for the reserve shown earlier by German officials on account of a shortage of funds.

ALDERMEN BACK BILLS TO ALLOW GAS TAX STREETS

Council Group Hears Full Report on Plan.

BY HAL FOUST.

The city council traffic committee yesterday voted unanimously to approve the Hunter bills before the general assembly. These bills would allocate 1 cent of the gasoline tax for expenditure by the state highway department within municipalities. Chicago would get $5,000,000 a year

The committee, before voting, heard Col. H. L. Kellogg of the Chicago Association of Commerce explain the road plans under consideration in Springfield.

Systems Near Completion.

"The state bond issue systems, which did not provide for municipal connections and extensions of the rural pavements, are being finished," he said. "This session of the general assembly must prepare for the future. The legislators received recommendations prepared by a state commission that spent a year on traffic and economic surveys."

Col. Kellogg and Robert Kingery, now acting director of the state department of public works, were the Chicago members of this advisory commission of seventeen.

"The Hunter bills," Col. Kellogg continued, "were introduced to carry out the recommendations of this commission. Urban traffic improvements would be financed with gasoline tax revenue. Restrictions as to designs and type would be removed so that the improvements would fit the needs of the motorists without burdening abutting property with special assessments."

Allows Elevated Streets.

Ald. John Coughlin [1st] asked if this meant elevated highways.

"It means elevated highways if that the final judgment of the engineers and economists and the will of the people," replied Ald. John Massen, chairman of the council committee.

"I heartily approve the Hunter program," said Eugene S. Taylor, manager of the Chicago Plan commission, "but wish to suggest that the state should be authoried to acquire its own right of way."

Howard Olson, engineer for the Chicago Regional Planning association and a co-worker with Mr. Kingery in this association, replied that the present laws authorize the state to acquire its own right of way should the department of public works wish to change its policy in this regard.

The council committee also directed that the Chicago traffic survey by Dr. Miller McClintock of the bureau of traffic research at Harvard should be concluded. The survey to date has established the need and economic justification for west side elevated highways. A final report is to designate specific routes and designs.

M'KEE LEAVES POLITICAL FIELD FOR FINANCIAL

Gotham's Ex-Acting Mayor Springs Coup.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Joseph V. McKee retired from public life today. He resigned as president of the board of aldermen to become president of the Title Guarantee and Trust company on May 15.

JOSEPH V. McKEE.

That step, he said, marked his "complete elimination" from politics and governmental office. His decision is said to have been reached in the last 48 hours.

The dramatic and unexpected exit of the man who got a quarter million write-in votes in the last mayoralty election and who was the chief hope of the anti-Tammany groups in the election to come, left the opposition to Tammany Hall without an outstanding candidate.

At the same time it materially strengthened the position of John F. Curry and advanced the political fortunes of Mayor John P. O'Brien.

Although Mr. McKee's resignation has not yet been received by the city clerk, announcement of the step was made simultaneously by Mr. McKee and the trust company at noon today.

In a formal statement, released here in Mr. McKee's behalf during his absence in Washington, the former aldermanic president said two considerations had moved him to take the step. Mr. McKee was acting mayor of New York between the resignation of Jimmy Walker and the election of Mayor O'Brien.

"Leadership in politics under our party system is hemmed in by party limitations," the statement said, adding that he believed he would be "of greater use to the community" outside of "any governmental job."

The second consideration, he declared, was the opportunity his new position would give him to assist the 400,000 home owners of the city.

Mr. McKee later told Washington newspaper men who asked him if his retirement meant that he was "disgusted with politics."

HANGS HIMSELF IN CELL.

First gagging himself, Frank Jacob, 42 years old, 1015 North Clark street, hanged himself last night in a cell in the Chicago avenue station. Jacob sought protection at the station Monday, under the delusion gangsters were going to kill him. He carried a gun.

WIDOW INDICTED IN POISON DEATH OF HAMMOND BOY

Mrs. Daisy Harmon, 53 year old widow of Hammond, was indicted on charges of first degree murder by the Lake county grand jury yesterday. Mrs. Harmon is accused of poisoning Anthony Braubender, 13 year old schoolboy, who had been living at her home at 543 Truman boulevard in Hammond.

Mrs. Harmon confessed two weeks ago that she had fed the boy arsenic in a glass of milk. The lad died April 16 after a week's illness. Mrs. Harmon insisted that she poisoned the boy because of animosity toward his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. William Fox, 534 Indiana street, Hammond. The police discovered, however, that she had taken out insurance policies totaling $4,250 on the boy's life.

Child Is Born as Fire Sweeps Hospital; Man Dies

Sayre, Pa., May 4 [Thursday].—(AP)—Harvey Mayo, 87, a patient in the Robert Packer hospital, which was destroyed by fire here last night, died of shock early today after he had been removed from the burning structure. He was being treated for a broken arm. At the height of the fire a child was born to a Mrs. Stewart.

Smart Styles for Infants Hold Spotlight in Stores This Week

Dotted Swiss and Laces and Frills Feature Fashions for Youngest Generation.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

DOTING relatives and proud but troubled godparents with rather hazy ideas about infant apparel ought to hurry to the stores this week, as most of them are celebrating baby week with the usual amount of ingenious new bits of fashion that would really make a grownup pale green with envy. You wouldn't dream that dotted Swiss has shaken the foundations of the fashion world as seen by either a 1933 crib occupant or those carefree toddlers who didn't use to care whether they were dressed or swaddled.

For instance, did you know that the latest things in small summer coats are crisp white dotted Swiss affairs, trimmed liberally with fine lace, quantities of fine hand work, to say nothing of capes also dripping with lace? And then for capricious pram riders you can have these same confections with detachable silk linings in pale blue, pink, or even yellow . . . and on the hottest days the silk linings are left at home. Adorable bonnets to match are also be-frilled to be-laced to the last inch, and likewise are fitted with matching, detachable silk linings.

Three piece outfits of this dotted Swiss feature tiny, short sleeved, or sleeveless frocks, bonnet, and coat, and if you don't believe this ensemble would stop traffic in any park you simply haven't the proper amount of appreciation.

The entire population under six will no doubt live in dotted Swiss, if very many grownup shoppers see these lovely things. You find navy blue with white dots decorated with plenty of white smocking, tiny white sheer collars that will be perfect with matched hats and even a coat. Sister and brother outfits feature this dotted stuff, too; little sister wears a frock of dotted Swiss and small brother wears navy blue linen pants topped with a simple shirt or blouse of Swiss to match sister's frock.

Stripes are used lavishly in these brother and sister costumes . . . a sister dress of fine striped "sheer" matches the striped shirt of the little brother outfit, made with dark plain linen pants. Tiny flowered prints are every bit as popular with the youngest set as they are with seasoned shoppers . . . and the posies are small, precise, young, and gay. And the confetti printed voiles are just what they sound—clean, white, sheer backgrounds spattered with colored spots exactly like showers of confetti.

If you have tiny toddlers who spend a great portion of their time snoozing you'll be glad to hear about the new sleeping quarters. Look for the motoring baskets first. They are snug retreats for the babies who insist upon going places with their restless parents. None of the old time frills and fripperies are allowed . . . but how the ruffles of glazed chintz have received the approval of the newest inhabitants . . . you will see one basket enlivened with delft blue glazed chintz, printed with the smallest sized white square dots, and then contrasted with the latest thing in snow white ball fringe. These motoring cribs or baskets can be bought with or without standards, so they can be used in the car or at home.

Cottage babies are being put to bed in cottage cribs, also trimmed with flowered glazed chintz . . . the deep hood of the crib is lined with flowered chintz, the outside ruffle is chintz, and matching pads, also of chintz, are supplied for the compartments of the dressing tables.

The last chuckle in ensembles is the wrapper and bonnet combine . . . especially designed for tiny babies. A wee little bit of a pink, or blue, or white wrapper [kimono or negligee to grownups] will be used for the out-of-doors rambles of the smallest baby. A matching bonnet completes the ensemble that pinch hits for a more complicated and hard to manage coat.

Such are a few of the newest ideas that are causing most of the excitement in the crowded baby departments this week!

Summer Near, Doris Weighs Parking Habit

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"He can't dance. He doesn't care for shows or movies. He has a car, and all we do is to go riding and parking."

So "Peg" sums up her current "heavy." Not what you'd call a versatile youth, is he? One talent overplayed is worse than no talent for entertaining a girl. But why do the Pegs keep on riding—and parking? How expect to change a boy's style without showing discontent?

After all, if a young lady is giving her evenings she should have some say in the way they're to be spent. Beside, we think it a poor return on money spent for marcels and fixing up for dates to be taken for a ride and parked along some dark highway. We'd ask more than that or stay at home and pray for better luck next time.

However, we just wanted to make a few remarks about this parking business, since the open season is upon us. Chiefly to young men we'd address said remarks. It is a pretty cheap way of entertaining a young woman. It's not what you'd call a flattering way.

There may be girls who encourage the sort of thing, to be sure—but they are not the average girl. If you really want to make a hit with a nice girl you want to be pretty sure who you're toting down that dark street. And don't think you've squared your social accounts with her by submitting her to a lot of embraces. Dances and movies and the like are normal tastes. Give the girl a chance to express herself in normal amusement. You'll be better off, too, boys, for keeping to the well lighted highways.

Art Institute Students Will Decorate Fair

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The students of the Art institute school under the guidance of Charles Fabens Kelly, head of the school, are preparing a group of interesting wall decorations for A Century of Progress. They will decorate the southeast interior ramp of the Hall of Science, which connects the industrial exhibits with the biology section of basic science. Sixteen students went recently with Mr. Kelly to gain a clearer idea of their objective by discussing the matter with various Fair officials.

The proposal is that the students spend a week at making sketches and deciding what treatment and selection of subjects they can best work in. They will then take another week to develop their ideas and by that time be ready to start on canvases, which will be prepared in the Art institute.

Several attractive ideas have been suggested which would easily lend themselves to the simple and poster-like treatment the decorations must have. The wall space is too large for delicate or detailed work.

Dr. J. F. W. Pearson outlined the general story which his exhibits in the biology section will tell and the visualizations of his material pictorially are many. The students might embroider the theme of magnification, natural size humans first, then panels leading away from the first scene in which the grass, insects and smaller plant life become greatly enlarged in successive stages, the normal humans remaining to indicate scale.

Botany might be illustrated by successive plant transformations such as occur on the nearby Indiana dunes. And then there are the germs and germicides, the scientist and the biologist at work, a dozen possibilities in each endeavor.

The work is part of the program of mural decorations which is now being pushed through by the committee on fine arts at the Fair.

Miss Hepburn Loses Overalls; Feud on Way

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., May 3.—[Special.]—What looks like a feud with lots of possibilities in the way of future excitement has sprouted on the set of "Morning Glory" at Radio studio. Katharine Hepburn showed up late and much disturbed. Lowell Sherman, the director, asked why so late, and the others in the cast shot her some uncomplimentary looks.

"I'm sorry," said the Hepburn girl, "but somebody stole my overalls."

A pair of ordinary blue jean overalls, with a patch in the seat and the upper, or bib, portion cut off, has been Katharine's working uniform and mascot ever since her flying start in films at Radio about one year ago.

Going on to explain how the jeans had disappeared from her dressing room overnight, and how she had had prop boys and wardrobe women out searching the studio grounds, Katharine had her attention subtly directed to a big gilt frame above the mantelpiece in the ornate drawing room which was the setting for the day's emotional scenes. There, proudly pressed and framed, were her missing overalls.

It's the first time Hepburn has been publicly taken aback for something to say since she first blew into Hollywood, and the rest of the cast, Mary Duncan, Adolphe Menjou, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., and Don Alavardo, took a malicious enjoyment out of the moment.

Sherman, who had devised the gag, got his later. The Hepburn girl fixed it up with one of the electricians on another set to make her a gadget with two wires which, when plugged into an electric fuse and attached to a chair, provides a "hot seat." She gave Sherman the juice, and got a real nasty look, not a posed one, which made all the rest of the cast feel happy again.

What Sherman does to Hepburn from now on ought to be worth chronicling.

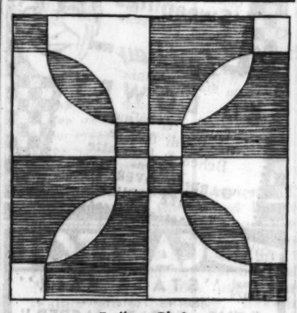
Incidentally, Hepburn is another of these dramatic actresses who, like Garbo, takes her shoes off when it comes to highly emotional scenes. I don't know if the ticklish nerves on the sole of the feet have anything to do with it or not.

May Skrivens, former nurse, and current wife of Buster Keaton, announces she will follow the comedian to Europe in a couple of weeks. Buster signed to appear in some comedies in London and took out his passport last week. The couple may be remarried abroad, as under California law they cannot be legally husband and wife—in spite of their Mexican wedding last January—until expiration of the period of Natalie Talmadge Keaton's one year interlocutory decree from Buster next Aug. 12.

A Weehawken, N. J., houseboat man, styling himself Capt. G. H. McNall, has written Mae West for official permission to name his houseboat after her.

Fred Astaire is to arrive in June for a lead part in Radio-RKO's "Flying Down to Rio," which is to be the musical version of a passenger plane load's adventures in the air on the way to the Brazilian capital.

"Endless Chain" Is Much Easier than It Looks



Endless Chain.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The blocks of this pattern when set together without intervening panel of plain material form an interlacing "endless chain" over the entire surface of the quilt. This same design is also called the "rose charm" when it is pieced in rose and white. As an "endless chain" it may be made of any two colors. Take heart. It is not nearly so difficult to piece as it appears.

For a pattern of this quilt design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Chicago Society Starts Annual Trip to Kentucky Race Classic

Autos and Trains Carry Gay Parties to Louisville; Usual Number to Attend.

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOCIETY is off to the Derby! Yesterday a half dozen parties headed for Louisville and today and tomorrow many more will leave by motor and train for the 59th Blue Grass classic.

There is to be a notable representation of Chicagoans in the boxes and stands at Churchill Downs this year contributing color to a picture that is notable in America's sporting calendar. A few . . . the Peabodys, the Warren Wrights, the Lehmanns . . . have known for weeks they were going because they always go, but more have made up their minds at the last minute to join the trek southward.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto W. Lehmann boarded the train last night with the Roy Carruthers and Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Lobdell. Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers, who have a house at Versailles, Ky., are to entertain there the Lehmanns, the Lobdells, and the Warren Wrights, who are coming up by motor from their winter home in Miami. On Saturday the party will be together in the Carruthers box.

While in Kentucky the Wrights will also stop for a day or two at their famous farm at Lexington before coming on to Chicago for the summer. They are bringing with them, we hear, their twin black phaeton and sedan which caused quite a sensation in Chicago when they were ordered at the time of the auto show.

This noon Thorne Donnelley is leaving Chicago for Bardstown, Ky., where Mrs. Donnelley has already opened their house. Yesterday Mr. Donnelley reported that his "party" plans were still very much in the air though he is sure to persuade some Chicago friends to join him at the last minute . . . among them, perhaps, the Charles Farwell Winstons and the John Wentworths.

Peabodys Will Have House

Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody again have taken a house in Louisville for the Derby week-end and will entertain a party gathered from all parts of the country. From Chicago there will be the Darrow Fultons, who saw the race last year, and Miss Harriet McLaughlin. They went by train last night and the Peabodys left by motor Tuesday morning. Edward I. Cudahy, who has a box close by that of the Peabodys, is going by train today with his young son, Robert, and so is Howell Howard, who with Mrs. Howard has been here from Dayton visiting Mrs. Howard's mother, Mrs. Edward Hines. Mrs. Howard has chosen an extended visit with her mother to the Derby.

If there is to be a Chicago victory in the race, prophets say, the job of capturing the big prize will be up to Charley O., who is going to race for Mrs. Robert M. Eastman. Mrs. Eastman left for Louisville Monday with her daughter, Miss "Patty" Eastman. The late Mr. Eastman was interested in the development of thoroughbred horses and pure bred Holsteins, and maintained the celebrated Eastman Hill farm at Lovell, Me.

L. A. Downses Will Attend

Lawrence A. Downs went to Washington Tuesday in his private railroad car to confer with President Roosevelt, but Mrs. Downs said yesterday he would be back here before the week-end to join her and the George Mulligans [Mrs. Mulligan is Mrs. Downs' sister] and go on to Churchill Downs. They will remain through Monday.

The Charles B. Shaffers are off today by motor with Mrs. Albert T. Evans and her daughter, Miss Kathryn Evans, for their farm, Cold Stream Stud, which is in the middle of the blue grass region near Lexington. They will motor over to the race Saturday and then back for several more days at the farm. One of the gayest parties that has gone "south" includes the Craig Ketchams of Kenilworth, "Bob" Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bartling of Winnetka. They are making a week of it, for they left town bright and early yesterday morning and they will not be back before Tuesday of next week.

"Harry" Knott, who is so intimately related to the Kentucky blue grass region through his mother, Mrs. Henry Knott [she was one of the Alexanders who have lived in that country for at least four or five generations], chose to avoid the Derby rush. He is just back from a visit with his cousin, William E. Sims, who lives at Spring Station in Woodford county.

Gay Luncheon for Miss Horton

The young women who were present yesterday at the small luncheon Miss Janet Busby was giving for Miss Marjorie Horton, who is to become Mrs. Winston Elting a week from Saturday, spent two particularly interesting hours, first admiring the hostess' art works hanging on the wall of the Busbys' apartment in

Some Unknown Woman

By Elisabeth Sanxay Holding

SYNOPSIS.

Dinah Allen and Jane Rosslyn are roommates in a Manhattan boarding house. Dinah, from the south, envies and imitates Janes' air of mystery and sophistication. Jack Fiske, a young boarder from Vermont, is head over heels in love with Dinah and resents Jane's being ever present. Dinah and Jane stroll to the corner drug store for sodas. A good looking young man in a silk hat, not quite sober, invites the girls for a ride in his car. To Dinah's surprise Jane accepts for the two of them. He takes them to his home. Dinah soon finds herself left alone, with Jane's purse instead of her own. In Jane's purse Dinah finds an automatic pistol. All the lights are turned out. Dinah rushes for the door and is grabbed by strong arms. She shoots. Jane reappears. She rushes Dinah away from the scene of their host lying in a pool of blood. Jane takes Dinah for a drink before going home.

INSTALLMENT IV.

HOME AGAIN.

Jane paid the driver and they got out before a most sedate looking brownstone house in the fifties. Jane mounted the steps and rang the bell, and the door opened, a very little way.

"Ah! It's you, madame!" said a man's voice. "But enter, if you please, and mademoiselle, too."

"Let us have a room alone, will you, Giuseppe? And—don't mention our coming here?"

"In my life never!" he cried dramatically. "This way, ladies . . ."

He led them into what was apparently his own office, for it was furnished with a roll top desk, filing cabinet, a comfortable couch, a swivel chair.

"Here no one disturbs you," he said. No one! Trust Giuseppe, madame. Sit down, ladies! What is it to be? Cocktails—that I make for you myself, eh? Something a little special?"

"Two double Scotches, Giuseppe, please, and a bottle of soda. And I'll pay now, and we'll slip out when the hall's empty."

"You pay any time—or no time, madame!" he said. "And to go into the hall, it will not be necessary. You open this door—and you find yourself in the street. All very private. One time, this is the waiting room of a physician—you see? Now I get for you what you desire. The best Scotch. Everything of the best for madame—and for mademoiselle, eh?"

"The 'heat' . . ." he said in a low, unsteady voice. "I don't know where you've taken the poor kid, but it's a darned shame."

He went out, closing the door behind him. From the hall outside Dinah heard the gay light voices of a woman and a man's laugh.

"Jane! What sort of place is this?"

"Just a very superior speakeasy, darling. I've been here before and the proprietor knows me, so I thought——"

"Jane, why does he call you madame and me mademoiselle?"

"Just to be polite, I dare say. You see, I'm older than you——"

"Not such a lot, Jane. I don't like——"

There was a knock at the door and Giuseppe entered with a tray on which were a bottle of whisky, glasses, and a siphon of soda.

"How much, Giuseppe?" asked Jane.

"For you, madame—nothing!"

Jane laid a bill on the desk and smiled. And it was not the smile Dinah had seen on her lips before, not the smile of a reserved and quiet good humor. There was, in this smile, something subtle, cool, almost arrogant. In that instant Dinah realized that Jane was not only her polite and amiable roommate, not only a well educated, well bred girl, reticent about her past, but a girl with a job, and a life, like other girls. She saw Jane now as a woman of the world, assured, at home anywhere.

And now, for the first time, Djnah began to think. She had never tasted whisky before and it burned her throat. The taste repelled her. But it steadied her nerves and gave a strange clarity to her confused thoughts.

Why had Jane been carrying that automatic?

"It's none of my business," she said to herself, loyally. "Perhaps lots of people do, for all I know."

But—how had Jane known the way to the back door?

A little shiver, half fear, half excitement, ran through her as she remembered how surely, unerringly, Jane had moved about in that house. As if it were a house—not at all unfamiliar to Jane . . .

"Perhaps when she went to look for that man, she found the back door then," thought the faithful Dinah. "She's clever about almost everything; why shouldn't she be clever about remembering her way in places? Lots of people are."

The manager here knew Jane, treated her with marked deference. Well, why not? Perhaps Jane had been here often in the past with some one . . . He called her "madame." Well, again, why not? That really meant nothing.

"And if she ever was married," thought Dinah, "that's her own business, too. She doesn't have to tell me everything. I never told her that Jack Fiske asked me to marry him. Lots of things I haven't told her . . ."

If Jane had once been married, if she were married now, if Jane chose to carry a gun, if Jane had been before in that stranger's house, it made no difference to Dinah. Jane had been magnificently loyal to her, had thought of nothing but to get her away, to save her from the consequences of her desperate act. Kind, strong, steady as a rock, Jane had been, planning only to preserve Dinah's horrible secret. Certainly she was entitled to preserve her own secrets.

"Don't take any more, Dinah," said Jane. "That's enough for you."

But because it warmed her cold and terrified heart, because it restored her strength and courage, Dinah drained her glass.

"Let's go, darling," said Jane.

It was strange, thought Dinah, to feel so strong and resolute and yet to have one's knees so curiously unsteady, one's feet like lead.

"Can't we—rest here—just—a few minutes, Jane?" she asked. "I do feel so—tired. It's—the reaction, I guess."

"No, darling, we can't stay here," said Jane. "Come along! I'll put my arm around you."

"My feet—don't walk . . ." said Dinah. "And the lights—whizz around so . . ."

She was aware of Jane's arm about her, Jane's voice assuring her that the lights would soon stop "whizzing." Then they were outside, and the fresh air made her feel better. They walked a block or two and Jane hailed a taxi.

"I think—if I just doze—for a few moments . . ." said Dinah. "I'll feel—lots better."

"Try not to, Dinah. We'll be home in a few moments. Try not to go to sleep."

"I am trying," said Dinah.

But she could not help it. She drifted off—somewhere.

"Dinah! Here we are, home! Dinah, darling . . ."

Jane helped the dazed girl up the steps; even managed to get out her latch key and open the door, still with her arm about Dinah. The hall was empty, dimly lit as usual, with the usual stale closeness to it.

"Come on, Dinah, dear!" Jane was beginning, when, from the dismal parlor at the right, young Fiske came out.

"Dinah!" he cried, and, as she did not answer, turned to Jane. "Is she ill?"

"A little," Jane answered, readily. "It's the heat. After a good night's rest——"

"I'll help you!" he said, and it was his arm about Dinah now.

But before they had reached the first landing he stopped a moment and looked back at Jane.

"The 'heat' . . ." he said, in a low, unsteady voice. "I don't know—where you've taken the poor kid, but it's—a darned shame!"

Outside of Dinah's door he handed her over to Jane and walked off without a word. And Jane looked after his slender, erect young form with tears in her eyes.

GASOLINE ALLEY—DEFLATION

BUT THE 30 PER CENT DIVIDEND GOES TO STOCKHOLDERS OF RECORD LAST WEEK. AND IF I DON'T GET MY DIVIDEND I DON'T BUY ANY STOCK.
THERE WILL BE MANY OTHER DIVIDENDS, MR. AVERY. HOWEVER WE WANT YOU AS A STOCKHOLDER AND IF YOU WILL TAKE $1000 OR MORE WE'LL ALLOW YOU THE DIVIDEND.
$1000 WORTH?
I JUST MENTION THAT AS A UNIT, YOU UNDERSTAND, MR. AVERY. YOU ARE ENTITLED TO BUY FIVE TEN OR TWENTY THOUSAND ON THE SAME TERMS; JUST THINK—THAT 30 PER CENT ON $20,000 IS $6,000 PROFIT RIGHT OFF THE BAT.
$6000 PROFIT! AND 30 PER CENT ON THAT WOULD BE $1800! AND 30 PER CENT ON THAT, IF REINVESTED, WOULD BE $540. AND THE DIVIDEND ON THAT—$162!
YES SIR! SEE HOW IT PILES UP!
I'LL TELL YOU WHAT I'LL DO. I'LL INVEST THE $162 AND WE'LL FORGET THE HIGHER BRACKETS.
King.

Happy Medium Missed by Two TypesofMother

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The advertisements were ravishing—smart, trig tailored hats, delectable flowered ones, severe mannish tweeds, silk dresses feminine to a Victorian degree, shoes of new cuts and leathers. I laid the paper strong mindedly aside and stood at the window.

Just then the personification of the ads—well, not all the ads—came down the steps nearby. She did look fresh and charming.

She walked toward her car, then evidently on second thought turned back. Down the steps were coming her daughter with her governess. As they reached the sidewalk and started in the opposite direction the mother stopped them, gave the little girl a quick kiss and then turned brightly back to her car and her own concerns. The child and her governess continued on their way, the former in a pale and spiritless manner, the latter in a rather clumping, uninterested way. With that freshly groomed, charmingly dressed figure still rather enviously in mind, I stood ruminating at the window when another figure crossed my vision's path. This was a woman with a harried face and a hurrying manner, with evidently not a thought for her own appearance or the sweet spring sky.

"She's a nervous wreck," I remembered some one telling me. "She simply kills herself for those children." Incidentally, she has a really fine husband and a good income.

the Lake Shore Drive hotel—Miss Horton is posing for one of Miss Busby's charming portraits—and then after luncheon listening to an impromptu recital by one of the guests, Miss Ida Lustgarten of Nebraska.

First Miss Lustgarten, who is studying piano with Rudolph Ganz, played some Brahms for her great friend, Mrs. Samuel Gale Taylor, III., whose favorite composer he is, and then she swung into some "piano portraits" or musical impressions of her reactions to each guest's character and personality. As she played each composition her listeners had no difficulty in guessing the subject. A piquant, fragile and charming melody represented the bride-to-be; Mrs. Jacob H. Bischof's dark loveliness and low voice were translated into deep, stirring chords; a joyous, singing tune was Miss Busby, and an energetic allegro made every one turn to Mrs. Taylor.

Miss Busby suggested her newest pet for a subject—she has eleven cats in Paris, but she did not bring any of them to this country with her—and in the hoppity, jumpitty tune Miss Lustgarten played one could almost see the snow white rabbit, Puddles, running across the room.

All the parties for the popular Miss Horton and Mr. Elting are small and informal, just as the wedding will be. Today Mrs. Hayden B. Harris is giving a buffet luncheon and kitchen shower for about twenty of Miss Horton's friends, and this evening Mr. Elting's cousin, Miss Ruth Elting, will entertain eight at dinner and bridge. Tomorrow Miss Frieda Foltz is giving a cocktail party for the young couple, and Sunday Mrs. Mason Phelps will be hostess at a buffet luncheon at her Lake Forest residence.

Victor Elting is giving a dinner for his son and Miss Horton Tuesday night in his apartment at 900 North Michigan avenue, the guest list limited to the bridal party. Miss Horton's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, are giving the bridal dinner the night before the wedding. The marriage is to be an afternoon one at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

Palmers to Stay in City for Fair

Many Chicagoans who customarily go away for the summer early each season are postponing their departure this year until later so that they can see A Century of Progress. Among them are the Potter Palmers who will not open their Bar Harbor residence until July.

The young Potter Palmers and their wee daughter, Rose, will be going east some time during the month of June for a visit with Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. West Movius, in Boston, and to spend the summer somewhere in the east, probably on the north shore of Massachusetts, although they have made no definite plans yet as to where they will be during the warm weather months.

Mrs. Palmer Sr. said recently that the former Bertha Palmer and her husband, Oakleigh L. Thorne, and their little son, Oakleigh Thorne III., were still in Milbrook, N. Y., and that so far as she knew, they had no plans for going west this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson are sailing today on the Conte di Savoia for a quick trip through Italy and France. They expect to reach home about June 1.

Claire Dux Will Sing at Fortnightly.

Members of the Fortnightly always look forward to their annual May recital as one of the very nicest parties of each season and they are sure that the one this afternoon will be even more delightful than usual, for Mme. Claire Dux [Mrs. Charles H. Swift in private life] is to give the program. Luncheon is to be served at 1:15 o'clock with the music beginning at 2:30. This is the last meeting of the season of the club, but there is to be a round table luncheon on Wednesday of next week.

Mrs. Frederick L. McNally will be up and out early this morning, for she is in charge of a rummage sale for the benefit of the Grant hospital that is to be held today, starting at 8:30 o'clock, at the Nurses' home, 536 Webster avenue. Mrs. Albert F. Madlener and Mrs. Robert Hyman are among the assistants.

The last meeting of the season of the Boys' Shelter club will be held today at 12:45 o'clock at the Drake hotel. Plans are to be made for the club members to go to Allendale farm for luncheon some day later this month.

Mme. Juliette Alvin, the musician, will be entertained today at the Causerie of the Alliance Française in the Fine Arts building.

The first of the Thursday night buffet suppers of this season at the Saddle and Cycle club will be given tonight, and the first Sunday night affair of the same sort will be a week from Sunday. Tomorrow night there is to be a stag party.

Jean Patou Sponsors the Old Gold, Brown Ensemble for Street Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Jean Patou is a laddie whose okay on a color scheme for feminine fashions means something. Even the most hard boiled buyers get hot and bothered when Patou brings out new shades. He is, this season, featuring pale, pearl tones of a gray, blue, and beige, but he's not daunted by these. The bulk of his clothes come in rich and inviting colors in spite of the feature trio.

Pet colors that Patou harnesses to some of his best summer ensembles for street wear are old gold and brown. Women of the type that look disagreeably grim in neutral and pearl tones will go in for these richer shades and let the neutrals fall where they may.

The Patou way of making up an ensemble in old gold and brown is to compile a dress in yellow and plank a little wrap, either cape or jacket of brown goods, on top of it. That's what he has done with the illustrated ensemble. The dress is made of old gold ribbed crêpe and the jacket of brown smooth wool.

The simplicity of the frock has the burden of dumbness lifted by its amusing way of fastening on brown bone buttons. It closes by being wrapped from the right side of the neck, across the chest, and buttons diagonally on eight brown buttons just behind the left arm, the buttons being placed exactly like those you see at the right side, front of the bodice.

The silhouette line is straight, unfitted, and has a brown belt at the lowered waistline. The jacket buttons down the center front, has a dropped shoulder yoke, and long sleeves slit to above the elbows and folded up to be short.

Cold Shower, Friction Help Tone Up a Sluggish Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Frequently there come queries about tiny lumps that seem to have hardened in the skin, are like blackheads, yet are not blackheads. These are whiteheads and are the sign of a sluggish skin.

They are caused by oil gathering in the tiny oil ducts, hardening just below the skin surface. The best and only remedy for these facial irritants is stimulation.

They may be removed by the process administered in case of blackhead removal. And like the other treatment should be confined to the removal of but a few at a time to prevent a raw, irritated splotch. If the face is not cleared of these small hard, white lumps they may in time fester and grow into ugly little pimples.

The chief thing, however, is to work up stimulation. This may be done by friction with a coarse towel, or wash rag. Better, however, to include the whole body in the stimulating work. That is, train yourself to the morning shower of cold water, and turn the face up for a special extra shower of very cold water. There is nothing like cold water to regulate these tiny oil glands and put them in proper working order. If you can't take the shower, at least hold your face over the basin and splash cold and colder water on it. Follow with a brisk rub until the face is beefy red.

In the meantime, toning down the diet to an almost fruit and vegetable one for a couple of weeks will help.

"West Point Exercises," an illustrated booklet outlining the series of exercises recently presented in these columns through the courtesy of the United States Military academy, may be obtained by sending five cents in coin or stamps to Antoinette Donnelly, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Or call at The Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn Street.

School Player

"Annabelle," a musical comedy, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in De Paul auditorium, Webster and Sheffield avenues, with Miss Mary Twohig, 255 East Marquette road, the title rôle. She is a liberal arts freshman at De Paul university. The production was written by James J. McGuinn, a student, and will include a cast of sixty persons. Other rôles will be played by William Schmitz, Anne Mustari, John Rafferty, Hal Cherne, Madeline Wallace, Joseph Casey, and Edward Slominski.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt today left by motor for parts unknown, to be absent for a week. She was accompanied by her business associate in the Todhunter school, Miss Nancy Cook, who has been a guest in the White House for some time. Mrs. Roosevelt plans to be in New York on May 8 and to be present at a dinner to be given there on the 9th by Fannie Hurst, novelist, in honor of the first woman to represent this country at a foreign capital, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, who will sail next day for her new post of duty in Denmark. Mrs. Owen will be accompanied to Denmark by her two children, John Bryan Owen and Miss Ruth Owen.

The Italian ambassador, Augusto Rosso, entertained at dinner tonight in honor of the Italian minister of finance, Dr. Jung, who is representing Mussolini at conferences with the President.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. E. Roland Harriman, Mrs. George Partridge, and Robert J. Gerry Jr. gave dinners tonight in the roof garden of the Hotel Pierre.

The marriage of Miss Dorothea Onativia, daughter of Mrs. John Lord Boatwright, to Jouett Ross Todd of Louisville, Ky., is to take place on June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Bourne Jr. have opened their country place, Arbet farm, Oakdale, for the spring and summer.

Perfect Toast Brings Cheers from Family

Crab and Cheese Tasty Novelties.

The regular weekly radio feature presenting Miss Meade with her economical tips for week-end food shoppers has been changed to Friday at 11 over Station W-G-N. Tune in tomorrow for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Toast is what you burn and scrape off in the sink."

So goes the saying—and too sorrowfully often so go the facts—more's the pity. For if there's anything that can be more radiant with goodness, more crunchily delectable than royally browned, soft-crisp piles of toast, smiling under the blandishments of spring butter and morning jelly—name it to me! But when the toast is hard, scorched, cold, and dry—prithee have me excused!

But all these sad things need not be. There's not such a trick to toast especially in these days of electric hookups and improved toasting gadgets. And once we have learned to perform properly on the toaster there's a vast reward waiting for us in glorified bread treats—cheese, cinnamon, French and Melba toast. Also oyster, lobster, or crab toast, mushroom toast and platoons of other tempters guaranteed to bring out the cheers at breakfast, luncheon, or tea time.

But yesterday I ate the king of them all—crab toast. This combination of sweet crab, sherry flavor, and creamy white sauce defies you to be nonchalant.

CRAB TOAST.

2 tablespoons butter
2 level teaspoons flour
1½ cups crabmeat
¾ cup evaporated milk
½ cup chopped celery
¾ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sherry flavoring [or lemon juice]

Melt the butter and add the flour Stir in the evaporated milk and when smooth add the other ingredients. Simmer until thickened, then serve hot on thin slices of buttered toast.

Then cheese toasts are something else to conjure with. Here are two favorites for tea time or a buffet supper:

CHEESE TOAST

Deep fat is the proper cooking medium for this toast, but if you find that inconvenient pan-fry the slices and you have something almost as good. Simply take thin slices of bread from which the crusts have been cut. Spread each almost to the edge with Swiss or American cheese. Now dip the slices in an egg-and-milk mixture made of 1 beaten egg to ½ cup milk Fry till golden brown. Drain on rough paper and serve very hot.

CAMEMBERT TOAST

Cut slices of white bread quite thin and remove the crusts. Take creamy Camembert cheese and slice off the crusts of it, spreading the cheese over the bread. Sprinkle each slice with salt and paprika and bake for 7 minutes in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.], or until golden brown.

MELBA TOAST

Next for thin, crisp curls of Melba toast—with some of the many variations. The bread should be a day old to slice best. Remove the crusts, slice very thin and cut the slices in any shape desired. Inch wide strips make convenient soup and salad accompaniments. Now bake the bread in a slow oven [300 degrees F.] until light brown. The slices will curl a little. This may be served cold or hot—usually without butter.

Then for the variations. Tea toast is Melba toast which has been buttered lightly before baking.

½ cup melted butter
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water
½ cup bread crumbs
3 eggs, separated
1½ cups chopped meat
2 tbsp. minced parsley
Onion salt and pepper to taste

Combine the milk and water and heat not quite to scalding. Blend the flour with the melted butter and stir in the milk and water, cooking till smooth and somewhat thickened. Add the bread crumbs and seasoning, continuing the cooking for 5 minutes. Take from the fire and add the meat, then the well beaten egg yolks, stirring vigorously. Add the parsley and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Now turn the souffle into a buttered baking dish and place in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderately slow oven (350° F.) for one-half hour or until set and browned.

MINUTE MYSTERY
BY H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE FATAL DROP.

Detective Ed Palen was on his first big case with Prof. Fordney.

As the two stood on the threshold of Ronnie Standford's comfortably furnished living room Fordney, with a wave of his hand, stayed the excited Palen.

In a chair of peculiar design at rather a small table, where he had apparently been having tea, sat the body of Standford. The professor nodded and they entered. On the table were found the dishes and food of the uncompleted meal. At the far end of the room were three large windows which opened outwardly. Near the center window was a large Coxwell chair covered in bright green. Fordney looked out and saw a sheer drop of twenty floors.

Warrington, the valet, told them that Standford had been despondent for some time and had complained on arising that morning of feeling quite badly—though he refused to have a doctor. No, Standford had seen no one that day—that is, as far as he knew. Warrington said he was busily engaged in the kitchen for several hours over a scheduled party of Mr. Standford's for the next evening.

Fordney noted the dilated pupils, the fixed and glassy stare, and with a long "H'mmmmmm" said, "probably hydrocyanic acid," smelling a stain on Standford's lapel.

An exhaustive search of the room revealed no clews and the man's clothes produced only a package of cigarets, pencil, and matches.

"Well, son," the professor said, turning to Palen, "what do you make of it?"

"Suicide, of course."

"Wrong—this is murder."

HOW DID FORDNEY KNOW?

Hamilton Club Chorus Gives Spring Concert

Unusual Ability Shown in Good Program.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Hamilton club chorus, an organization of male singers of more than usual ability, gave their spring concert at Orchestra hall last night under the direction of Harry S. Walsh. About ninety in number, the group is made up of many of the best known Chicago singers. For the reason that so many talented individuals are in the ranks, it has been possible to form so meritorious an ensemble.

The choir has volume, fine tone, and sings with much spirit. It excels in numbers like Mana-Zucca's "I Love Life" and Harriet Ware's "Boat Song," two compositions which happened to be placed together on the program and were greatly to the fancy of the audience.

The program was popular in character whether the chorus or the assisting artists were taking part. The Northerners, a male octet, appeared in a group; Charles L. Sears, one of their number, sang another group; Willard Andelin, bass, another Northerner, assisted in a solo number; Kathryn Witwer, the possessor of a lovely soprano voice, took part with the Northerners in a selection from Victor Herbert's "Rose of Algeria" and also sang a solo group, all to the great approval of the patrons.

The Women's chorus of the Western Electric Hawthorne plant will make a concert debut at Eleanor hall in the Stevens building tomorrow night. Verna McCombs will conduct them in Bliss' cantata, "Three Springs." A number of shorter works will also be included in the program. Mathilda Fritz, president of the chorus, will be the soloist, and Rene Urban, formerly a member of the Civic Opera ballet, will appear in two dance numbers.

American compositions are being featured in the Music Week concerts held every noon this week at Kimball hall. The concerts are free to the public. There are appearances by solo organists, duo-pianists, string trios, and quartets, instrumental and vocal soloists, the Elmhurst Choral club, River Forest Choral club, University of Chicago choir, a Parent-Teachers' organization, and other musical talent.

Cite Growing State Control of Education

The tendency of the state to dominate education, trends of socialism in colleges, what to do with unemployed college instructors, and whether concessions should be granted to attract students were among the problems discussed yesterday at a conference of more than fifty colleges of liberal arts of the Chicago area. The conference, held in the Hotel La Salle, was attended by presidents and other officials.

Dr. E. E. Rall, president of North Central college, deplored the tendency toward public monopoly of education, declaring that both the government and education suffer and that progress is more difficult.

Dr. Rall pointed out that last year 576,000 students were enrolled in private colleges, against 472,000 in public institutions. In 1929-'30, he said, the public institutions operated at a cost of $200,000,000, or $392 per capita, while the private schools, with the larger enrollment, operated at a cost of $201,000,000, or $309 per capita.

Dr. Albert Fox, S. J., of Carroll college, Cleveland, expressed the opinion that the students of today want something more than history, geography, engineering—something more than a diploma. They want a philosophy of life and are out to get it, he said.

In the morning session President W. I. Maurer of Beloit college outlined a plan to maintain unemployed college teachers in school dormitories in exchange for part time work.

Another Dynamite Theft at Lemont Bared.

United States district attorney to step in and investigate affairs of the racket ridden Chicago Teamsters' union, whose internal feuds and strife with the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers are blamed for the existing turmoil.

Attorney Charles S. Schreiber, counsel for the teamster union group which overturned the old leadership in a quiet revolution Tuesday, said he had found evidence that the ousted chiefs had been supporting such well known gangsters as William [Klondike] O'Donnell, Willie [Three Fingered Jack] White, and George [Red] Barker.

One canceled check in the union records showed, according to Mr. Schreiber, that the union had had to pay a $5,000 fee to Attorney W. W. Smith for defending Barker on a "public enemy" charge two years ago. Barker has since been slain in union strife.

Ratification Meeting Sunday.

The new leadership, professing to represent the rank and file of the coal drivers and coal hikers of the teamsters' union, will call an open meeting next Sunday, Mr. Schreiber said, to ask ratification of the overturn and consider affiliating with the international brotherhood and Chicago Federation of Labor. George Roy Baker is president of the coal drivers' local under the new setup.

With his reputed gang backers, O'Donnell and White, reported hiding at Hot Springs, Ark., the ousted chief of the coal haulers, John Sheridan, sent Attorney James Nicholas Lorenz before Superior Judge William J. Lindsay yesterday, asking renewal of an injunction which the Appellate court had dissolved, to restrain Baker and his men from taking possession.

Inasmuch as the Baker group had moved all union records from the former quarters at 637 South Ashland avenue the previous night and was already negotiating for new quarters just outside the loop, Sheridan's plea for the injunction seemed a little tardy, Attorney Schreiber observed.

In the injunction plea Sheridan's son, Jack Sheridan Jr., ousted president of the coal haulers, and Milton Booth Jr., ousted treasurer, set forth that Baker and his men had invaded the headquarters "with hands in their pockets, thereby intimidating your orators and placing them in fear of their lives." The petition also alleged that police had attended the invaders, a claim which Baker informally denied.

Lindsay Reluctant to Act.

Judge Lindsay evinced an attitude of impatience with both sides, and with the police as well.

"I don't know why this court should take chancery jurisdiction when the police and others are interfering," he said. "Why should I waste my time when the police and state's attorney's office have things under their auspices?"

Attorney Schreiber broke in with a remonstrance that Baker and his other clients had been rightfully elected officers at a union meeting protected by police two years ago and had been restrained from assuming their duties after dissolution of an old injunction by Judge Lindsay only because of their fear of Gangsters White and O'Donnell.

The dispute waxed warmer until the judge broke in with a remark that "you lawyers seem to be resorting to the same tactics your clients use; cool off and come back tomorrow."

Thereupon the case was continued to 2 p. m. today, Attorney Schreiber promising to draw up an answer to Sheridan's bill in the interval.

In the event Judge Lindsay denied Sheridan's petition for an injunction, it was said, James Lynch, veteran labor leader and business agent of the coal haulers until Sheridan took control, may be recalled. Attorney Schreiber said Lynch was well regarded among the men.

RACING TIPSTER IN LOOP SEIZED ON FRAUD COUNT

Jack Grossman, operator of the "Darkie Bob" Williams race information service, 123 West Madison street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of operating a confidence game. John Allen, 159 Goethe street, who said he had paid $35 for information without getting a winning horse, obtained the warrant in the Municipal court of Judge Joseph McGarry.

Sergt. William Burns of the police gambling detail went with Allen to Grossman's headquarters and made the arrest. Telegrams from all over the United States and a list containing names of 2,000 Chicagoans and 3,000 from other parts of the country were seized.

Clients of Grossman are said to have accepted the service with the understanding that they would bet $3 on each horse for the service operator. All winnings from the $3 bet were to be turned back to Grossman. Capt. Martin Mullen of the gambling detail said Grossman sent out tips each day on every horse in a race.

LEVINSKY STOPS RETZLAFF IN FIRST ROUND

CHICAGO DERBY CROWD BIGGEST IN FOUR YEARS

First Special Train to Leave Tonight.

Chicago's representation at the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs in Louisville Saturday will be the largest since 1929, it was indicated last night despite the reports of railroad officials that their reservation lists were the smallest since the war.

Hotel reservations, however, show an increase of nearly 300 per cent in the number of Chicagoans over last year, indicating that the automobile will be the principal means of transportation to Louisville. H. J. Fawcett, manager of the French Lick Springs hotel, said the increase in reservations was general throughout the turf centers.

The Indiana resort has the heaviest Derby week-end demands in three years, he reported, with 300 more reservations to date than last year. Other hotels, principally those in Louisville and just over the Indiana line, also announced an increase in Derby visitors.

Four Special Trains.

Chicagoans will go in four special trains, as last year, but the extra trains operated by the railroads have been cut considerably. None of the roads is operating its own special. All, however, are offering special rates and privileges.

The largest single party out of Chicago will be the Democratic special, over the Monon, which will carry 75 persons. The Joe McDonough-Sammy Wolff special, over the Pennsylvania, will have approximately 50 passengers and as many more are expected to make up a special section under the direction of the Chicago Travelers' bureau, which is running a Derby party for the first time this year. It also will go by way of the Monon.

The Democratic party and that headed by County Treasurer McDonough will leave late tonight. The Travelers' group will leave tomorrow night. Al Bloom and Billy Skidmore will run a special train over the Big Four.

Governor and Mayor to Join Group.

P. A. Nash, national committeeman and Chicago Democratic leader, will head the delegation on the Democratic special. The train will proceed to French Lick, where the party will spend tomorrow. Gov. Horner, Mayor E. J. Kelly, and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney will meet the party there.

Others with reservations on the train are:

John Nash, James M. Whalen, M. S. Szymczak, city controller; E. J. Whitty, Frank Zintak, Paul V. Colianni, Raymond W. Moore, Ald. Henry Sonnenschein, John J. O'Keefe, H. L. Brody, Ben P. Epstein, Horace G. Lindheimer, James W. Ryan.

Kennelly, Hal Reading and Commonwealth club party, Irvin Rooks and Iroquois club party, Ald. James B. Bowler, Vito Marzula, Ald. Roger Kiley, Ald. James J. Hurley, Richard Shaughnessy, Dr. James Whitney Hall, and Judge Edmund Jarecki.

Travelers' Bureau Party.

The Travelers' bureau party will include:

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woods, Harvey Hill, Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Heap, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. J. Oliver Johnson, Capt. M. L. Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert McCaleb, Mrs. C. O. Owen and niece, and Miss Betty Shearer.

McDonough's special will carry among others:

Joseph Fitzgerald and party of 20, Al Spellman, Harry Sandell, Paul Peerling, Thomas Knudson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bohner, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kuffer, Miss Agnes Daritt, and Leo Stone and party.

French Lick Reservations.

Chicagoans who have made reservations at French Lick Springs hotel include:

EASY LIES HEAD OF LADYSMAN, DERBY CHOICE

Favorite Reaches Track, Goes to Bed.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—Ladysman, the sheik of the American turf and the favorite for the Kentucky Derby, is snoozing away peacefully in his thick bed of straw in barn No. 8 on the back stretch of the historic Churchill Downs track tonight.

If he's worried about what's going to happen to the bank rolls of all the people who are wagering on him at 2 to 1 and 8 to 5 to win the race, he gives no evidence of it. He went to bed shortly after the sun went down like a tired schoolboy who had played baseball for eight hours would hop in between the sheets. He was asleep three minutes later with apparently nothing to worry about until the big $50,000 Derby job confronts him on Saturday afternoon.

Brings 4 Roommates.

The Derby favorite arrived early this afternoon after an overnight trip from Maryland. He had plenty of company on the journey. His two roommates, Pomponious and Pompoleon from W. R. Coe's stable came along with him; Trace Call from the Audley farm in the valley of Virginia, and Dark Winter, which will race for Willis Sharpe Kilmer of New York.

It is possible these rollicking 3 year olds were not on their good behavior during the train ride and didn't get much sleep, and that might have been responsible for Ladysman's early retiring hour tonight.

When the big party from the east arrived it caused the Derby to take on a decidedly Atlantic seaboard complexion, for there are eleven eastern candidates on the scene, and if you don't believe it, count 'em—Ladysman, Sarada, Inlander, Dark Winter, Mr. Khayyam, Good Advice, Trace Call, Pomponious, Pompoleon, Kerry Patch, and Silent Shot.

West Is Outnumbered.

Showing no signs of retreating, the western forces realized they were greatly outnumbered and that their backs were to the wall. Tonight it looks like the western color bearers will be Head Play, Broker's Tip, Fingal, Charley O., Fair Rochester, Stride Away, and possibly Isaiah and Warren Jr. The Chicago filly, At Top, will also be named through the entry box and possibly may go to the post.

Western horse men who had watched Ladysman win the Futurity at Arlington Park last August were impressed with his splendid appearance. He looked thoroughly fit, there wasn't a sign of a leg ailment about him, he had the poise of a champion. He also looked to be a larger and more robust colt than he was when he raced to the 2 year old championship last year.

The ever present Bradley Derby threat became more evident than ever early this morning, when Broker's Tip, who will represent the master of Idle Hour farm, worked the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter over a dull track in 2:08 3-5.

Bradley Is Pleased.

Owner Bradley looked on, and to all appearance was highly pleased with the rehearsal. It was the same sort of work he put under the belt of Bubbling Over three days before Bubbling Over won the 1926 Derby.

Broker's Tip can go a distance, there is no doubt about that. He ran the last three-eighths in 37 seconds, which was the fastest three furlongs he ran during the mile and a quarter drill. Clockers caught the mile in 1:43 2-5 and the mile and an eighth in 1:55 4-5.

Spicson, owned by L. M. Stevenson of Chicago, and Stride Away, from the Three D's farm in Texas, also went the full Derby route, but their moves were not impressive. Spicson's time was 2:10 3-5 and Stride Away's mark was 2:11 2-5. Kerry Patch also failed to impress the early morning railbirds when the best he could do a mile and an eighth in was two minutes flat.

Between races this afternoon Sarada, with about 130 pounds on his back, went a mile and a quarter in 2:10. He did his work handily.

The stage for the 59th Derby show seemed to be set after Ladysman arrived. When the sheik stepped off the cars, the action definitely put at rest rumors that he was not training well.

GREAT GOLFERS ALL PLAY ALIKE, ARMOUR FINDS

Sound Principles, Not Tricks, Make Them Good

[This is the first of a series of articles on golf by Tommy Armour, who recently came to Chicago to become professional at the Medinah Country club. He has been ranked as one of the world's leading players for nearly a decade, having won every major title open to professionals.]

BY TOMMY ARMOUR.

When the honor and prestige of writing a series of stories about golf for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was offered to me I promptly accepted. I accepted with one proviso—that my stories would not be a series of stereotyped instructions, similar to many that have been written before by every golf professional, caddy master, caddy, insurance broker or bond salesman who happened to be able to break 90 on a golf course.

TOMMY ARMOUR.

My reason for this attitude is a simple one—merely that I found the usual articles so similar in form and subject matter, but so vastly different in golf theories. I therefore thought I would not add to this confusion, but would confine my efforts to an endeavor to show why great players are great players, some of the reasons for their greatness, and also some lessons to be learned from their failures.

Great Players All Use Same Method of Attack.

This leaves me with a great "out," of course, for whatever dissatisfaction the public might feel with my deductions, no personal blame can attach to me from the lessons I draw from these incidents. Aside from that, however, it really was my sincere wish not to dispute the theory of golf instruction with the runner up for the Podunk championship. It has always been a source of amusement and amazement to me that there could be so many varying opinions among professionals, teachers and shoe clerks as to the manner in which the golf ball should be hit.

It is a certainty that the really great players all play in practically the same manner. There are very few differences in their style of attacking the game, either mentally or physically. Among the so-called top notchers, the greatest difference is found in the thickness of the grips and in their manner of gripping the club. Sarazen uses an interlocking grip, while the rest of the best players use the regulation overlapping. One or two of the best professionals use the square stance, and one or two a slightly closed stance, and the rest adopt the open stance.

They all groove the club to within an inch or so of each other and their method of attacking each shot is the same. This is a combined diagnosis of the great players' methods, and no analysis of mine. They all use approximately the same type of golf club, all about the same length, weight, and thickness. The balance of clubs used by MacDonald Smith, Sarazen and Hagen would be within a fraction of each other, even though Smith uses wooden shafts.

It's Sound Playing, Not Tricks, That Wins Titles.

Presuming then, that the really great golfers play and think alike, we can safely assume, also, that their methods are very nearly correct. I can assure you that they have no hidden tricks up their sleeves, which they pull out at the psychological moment to play one of those great shots.

It is all merely a champion's conviction of the soundness of his underlying principles. When asked the whys and wherefores of any bad showing the champion may make, he is never in need of any excuses, either, and does not revert to the well worn excuse, "Teaching too much." He merely states that he happened to be playing indifferently.

Accepting, then, the correctness of the methods used by the stars in golf, I will try to bring out some certain point in each story of this series that will be of instructional, common sense value to the reader.

CUBS SEND HACK AND VIN BARTON TO ALBANY CLUB

Rain Prevents Game with Giants; Two Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—Today was something different in rainy days for the Cubs. Other washouts have found the lads sad in reflection on defeats. But when rain caused today's scheduled contest with the Giants to be put over as a part of a double header tomorrow it was not at all unpleasant to sit around and think about that 11 to 0 three hit licking the Cubs gave the Giants to get their first invasion of the east under way yesterday afternoon.

Happiness did not put on a 100 per cent spread for the Cubs, however. It was a bitter day for Stanley Hack, the busted phenom, and not such a heartening one for Vince Barton. Stanley and Vince were shipped to the Albany club of the International league, in an order issued by Manager Grimm as the rain was pouring its hardest.

May Be Back Next Year.

Hack will be back with the Cubs, probably next year, and the assignment to Albany on option probably will cause him to return a greatly improved player.

Hack reported to the Cubs at the outset of last season, after a sensational year with the Sacramento club in the Pacific Coast league. He was a standout in his first season in baseball, both as a fielder and a hitter.

In the winter of 1932 Manager Rogers Hornsby announced that Hack would be placed on third base right off, and the plan was carried out from the first day of spring training through the early weeks of the regular season. But the load was too great for a kid with only one year in a class AA league and it became necessary to bench him.

Stan, a flighty kid of likely personality, has been a favorite with his employers and associates, and for a time during spring training it was planned to keep him throughout this season. Then came the change of plans, as revealed today.

Gives Hack Experience.

The Cubs were two men over the limit they must reach May 15. Albany wanted a third baseman and an outfielder. This was the opportunity to give Hack experience and to place Barton, whose services were not desired by the Los Angeles club, which had first call on the big Canadian.

Hack, it was reported at the time of his purchase, cost the Cubs $40,000. He can be recalled and sent out two more times before the investment is dissipated. While Barton also is on option, it is doubtful if he ever will adorn many more National league club lineups.

Tomorrow's doubleheader will be the second of the season and second of the week for the Cubs. The pitching will be done by Bud Tinning, making his first start of the season, and Guy Bush making his fourth start Parmelee and Hubbell are scheduled to pitch for the Giants.

Gabby's Work Cheers.

The reflections on yesterday's big victory centered on Gabby Hartnett, who pounded out two homers to make it three in two successive games. Gabby, who went into something of a slump after a great comeback in 1930, has been hitting as never before in his 12 years as a Cub. In 52 times at bat he has made 20 hits, for an average of .385. More than half of his hits have been essential to victory and a majority have come with men on bases.

Gabby has gone hitless in only three games this season. His best day on percentage was opening day when he made three hits in four times at bat. In three games he has made two hits in three times at bat. Three time, including yesterday, he has batted .500 with two hits in four times at bat.

Prep Cheer Leader Struck by 12 Pound Shot; Dies

Pine Bluff Ark., May 3.—(AP)—A 12 pound shot that went awry when an athlete threw it during a track and field meet killed a high school cheer leader here. J. R. Bolin threw the heavy ball 40 feet from the ring, but the shot slipped and struck Roy Lee Dunn, 17, on the head. Dunn died in a hospital last night.

THE KINGFISH PROVES HE HAS A PUNCH

Too Cold for Baseball; Sox, Macks Rest

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Too much chill in the air and too much mud on the field brought on the second consecutive postponement for the White Sox and Athletics yesterday. The athletes could have gone through with the program if necessary, but so long as prospects for business at the gate were poor the officials can be excused for deciding to create another double header. One of the postponements will be worked off in a Sunday bargain bill when the Macks return in June.

It's Still Jones for Sox.

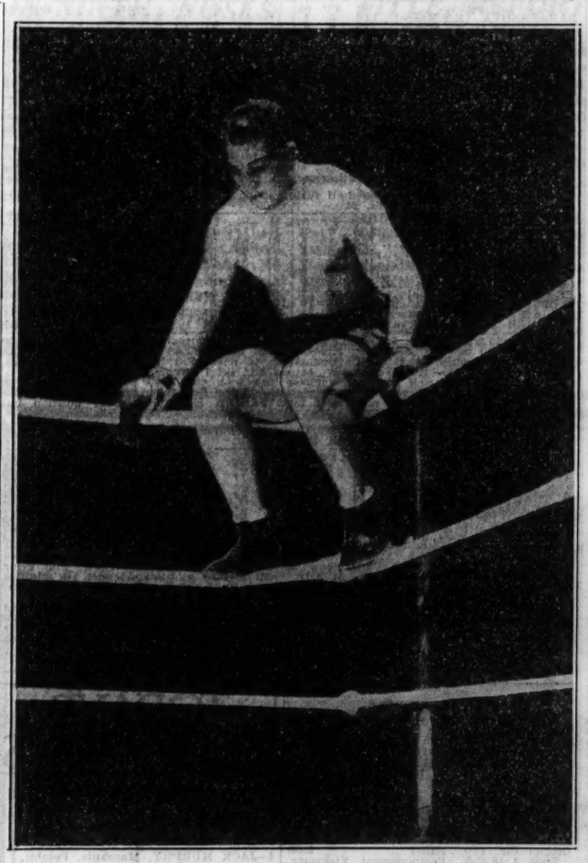
Given proper weather this afternoon Connie Mack will be able to give the town at least one glimpse of his 1933 machine in the present series. Thus far the machine has given signs of not being the same without Al Simmons, Jim Dykes and Mule Haas, who now wear Chicago uniforms, but the veteran Mack doesn't subscribe to the idea that his plans are going to turn out as dismally as some experts have predicted. The experts have hinted rather broadly that they wouldn't be surprised to see the A's nudged right out of the first division.

The pitching program the two managers have been trying to work off for two days will be carried out today if possible. That means Sam Jones for the Sox and either Tony Freitas or George Earnshaw for the Macks. As a matter of fact, Lew Fonseca, the Sox boss, is just as well satisfied that Jones has enjoyed the extra rest and that the same has been accorded other members of his staff. The real reason is that Ed Durham now may not have to work for another week. Fonseca believes he can get by for that length of time without summoning the former Boston expert.

Re-Schedule Games.

Durham injured his arm on opening day and hasn't been the same since. He insists the soreness has vanished, but in the games he has worked he has acted as if he was trying to favor the injured member. Besides Jones, the Sox have Lyons, Frasier, Gregory and Gaston ready for starts. That's enough to carry them through the three game series opening with Boston tomorrow and into the second of the four game set with the Yankees. By that time Durham may be fully recovered.

The three postponements encountered by the Sox previous to the current series with the Athletics have been reëntered in the schedule. They'll play a double header at Detroit June 1, two games at St. Louis June 4 and another pair here with the Tigers June 11.



Any one dropping into the Stadium after Levinsky knocked out Retzlaff might have thought it was the King who had been knocked goofy. Here he is perched on the top rope of the ring in one of the gymnastic stunts he performed in celebration of his victory.

2 RIGHTS FLOOR DULUTH HEAVY FOR FULL COUNT

Small Crowd of 6,000 Sees King Win.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

King Levinsky swung several roundhouse curves at Charley Retzlaff at Chicago Stadium last night and in 2 minutes and 15 seconds Retzlaff was counted out. The fight was over, but the fun had just begun.

The King promptly went into his act. The personality kid—that's what he calls himself—did everything but skin the cat on the top ring rope. He essayed a tight wire exhibition, then decided to play ring around the rosy with Referee Tommy Gilmore. With a few more kangarooish leaps, the Kingfish tripped to his corner like a tornado sweeping through Kansas, crouching and swinging at his three seconds.

A Kick Restores King.

These boys, each clad in the blue and white of the King's colors, with grotesque crowns embroidered on their backs, weren't in on the King's act. Two of them sprawled through the ropes, but the other, more courageous, fetched a swift kick to the seat of the kingly pants and brought Levinsky out of his trance.

An official attendance of 6,332 watched the short lived fight. They contributed $12,117.80, a great portion of which will go to the firm of Levy & Levinsky.

Some of the crowd, probably those who have seen Levinsky's every fight in the hope that he'd be stretched on his spine, advanced the theory that the King's celebration marked the end of his three year search to find a heavyweight he could knock out. Since the King stopped Leo Lomski, who, incidentally, wasn't a heavyweight, old Angus Snyder and Jumping [K. O.] Christner were the only lads who had strayed into the path of the King's punches until Retzlaff came along.

Charley Drops in Corner.

There were others who advanced the opinion that Retzlaff didn't try. But those who know that Jack Hurley, Charley's manager, had begged for this fight for months and finally got his man nominated believed the scrap was on the up and up. Charley secured the nomination to be the lad who was to knock out Levinsky, but the King controlled the election.

After the usual delay, during which no less than nine seconds and hangers-on pulled on gloves and examined this and that, the fighters were turned loose. Retzlaff led with his left and jabbed the King's nose lightly. Then Charley leveled a tremendous right which glanced off the King's neck. The King's knees sagged.

Then, unexpectedly, as the fighters closed, the King shoved a right to Retzlaff's jaw and Charley was down. He jumped up immediately and attempted a swift retreat, with the King swinging and swinging. In his own corner Retzlaff backed into the ropes and the King connected. Charley rolled along the ropes and to the floor, coming to his knees while Referee Gillmore took up the count. Just after ten Retzlaff got up, but his vacant expression, which matched the King's actions, advertised his helplessness.

Plenty of Knockouts.

Five of the six bouts last night were between heavyweights. All ended in knockouts. The Tiger Jack Fox scrap with Art Laskey was counterpart for the main battle. Tiger Jack, something of a tabby before Laskey's punches, ducked trouble for four rounds, but in the fifth Laskey pushed him against the ropes and let fly. The Negro dropped to his knees and then to the floor for the count.

Mickey Patrick of East Chicago, Ind., and Martin Levandowski, Grand Rapids, Mich., staged the best fight of the card. In the first round Patrick's left hook dropped Martin for eight seconds. However, Levandowski proved himself the sturdier catcher, and with a series of body blows he had Mickey down for a count of nine in the third round. Shortly afterward Referee Gillmore stopped the fight and gave the decision to Levandowski.

Tony Cancella belabored George Panka's stomach until Panka could stand no more. Cancella won by a technical knockout in the third round. Young Walker, Chicago Negro welterweight, outpointed Solly Dukelsky in four rounds in the opener.

ROSS DEFEATS GHNOULY EASILY IN TEN ROUNDS

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—(AP)—Barney Ross, Chicago lightweight championship contender, won a ten round decision here tonight from Joe Ghnouly, St. Louis.

Ross, who weighed 137 pounds, won all but the fifth and tenth rounds, in which Ghnouly managed to break even.

Johnson of Normal Runs 100 Yards in 9.4 Seconds

Bloomington, Ill., May 3.—(AP)—Jimmy Johnson, Negro sprinter of Illinois State Normal, today raced 100 yards in 9.4 seconds in a dual meet between Normal and Illinois college. Johnson had a brisk wind at his back. Normal won the meet, 87 1-3 to 42 2-3.

DIAQURI EARNS A LAUGH; LASTS TO DEFEAT FAVORITE

Whips Miss Melody by 2 Lengths at Cicero.

BY BRUCE DENNIS.

Diaquri, a little brown mare whose daddy was Golden Broom was indulging in a good, old fashioned horse laugh last night over in that part of the Sportsman's Park stables where Trainer Chester Adams keeps his charges.

It was all because Diaquri won the Cicero purse, feature race on yesterday's card, from a band of good sprinters. And Diaquri was laughing because she put one over on the folks who expected her to fold up in the last furlong of the five furlong race. She had a habit of doing that last year, although she managed to win five races in 23 starts.

Fans Pick Miss Melody.

Most of the fans in the crowd of 4,000 had fancied the chances of Miss Melody, which races for Stuyvesant Peabody of Chicago, vice president of the American Turf association. They made her an even money favorite, and nobody paid much attention when the veteran jockey, Johnny Majestic, rushed Diaquri into a lead of two lengths at the start.

When they rounded the clubhouse turn Miss Melody, in second place, had cut half a length from Diaquri's lead. Gay Past was in third position. Pounding down the back stretch, Miss Melody moved up another half length. They rounded the last turn and started for home. "Come on, Miss Melody," shouted the crowd, with all the confidence of a man shaking loaded dice.

Diaquri Keeps Stepping.

Now was the time for Diaquri to slow up. But instead she responded gamely to Majestic's urging and breezed across the finish line two lengths to the good, with Miss Melody still trying to catch up. Espanica took the show money. He was only a head behind Miss Melody.

Diaquri's time for the five furlongs over a track deep in mud, was 1:05 4-5. She paid $14.16 for a $2 win ticket.

Jockey T. P. Martin returned in the rôle of the long shot player's hero in the first race, when he kicked and pounded Brilliant Lad to victory in a thrilling stretch run with Zode. Brilliant Lad paid $143.52 to win, $124.56 to place, and $24.02 to show.

Daily Double Pays $40.58.

The daily double combination of Uforme and Alpers paid $40.58 for a $2 investment. Uforme, ridden by the young apprentice, Sterling Young, outclassed the field in the second race. She took the lead soon after the start and won by three lengths without extending herself. In the mutuels she paid $10.84.

The third race was something different. Eddie Arcaro, the leading rider of the meeting, had the mount on Alpers, which Mr. Peabody considered good enough to nominate for the Kentucky Derby.

Arcaro rushed Alpers into the lead, but in the back stretch Reggie Cooper came up with Go Fetch. He tried to come through on the inside as they went into the stretch, but Alpers resisted the challenge. Then right at the finish Go Fetch crept up again along the rail and lost the decision by only a neck.

It was Arcaro's sixth victory of the meeting. He scored his seventh with Flirting in the seventh race.

The quinella on the last race paid $19.72. Deserve, which started 60 times last year, more than any horse on the American turf, won the race, with Baboo second.

YALE PITCHING STAR SUSPENDED FOR SECOND TIME

New Haven, Conn., May 3.—[Special.]—Yale's chances of retaining the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball league title, which it won last season, suffered a blow today when Coach Joe Wood suspended Pitcher Johnny Broaca indefinitely. It was the second time this season that suspension had fallen on the bespectacled mound star, who was the sensation of the league last year.

Neither Wood nor Broaca would discuss the matter further than to admit the mound star was asked to turn in his uniform when he refused to pitch against a semi-professional team led by Albie Booth yesterday at New Haven. The Booth team defeated Yale, 8 to 0.

Feature Race at Aurora Won by Wood River

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Wood River, cleverly ridden by Jockey McTague, came from last place to win the feature race yesterday at Exposition Park. Finding an opening close to the rail as the horses swung into the home stretch, he moved up speedily and won breezing by a margin of four lengths. Kybo was second and Dreamy Belle third.

It was a great day for favorites, five of them scoring in succession. These were Gay Prince, Morsun, Sweet Lassie, Wood River, and Mike Reynolds. By Product, winner of the seventh race, was just a shade less popular in the betting than Spanflow, the top choice. Both Spanflow and Last Heels, the only other favorite to fail, finished in the money.

Daily Double Pays $22.60.

Daily double tickets on Gay Prince and Morsun paid $22.60. Gay Prince, who went to the post at 3 to 1, scored a fairly easy victory over his field, but Jockey Richard was forced to call upon Morsun for everything he had, first to race Linmast into subjection and then to stand off the closing rush of Donday. It was a blanket finish, Morsun being first by a head and Donday second by a neck.

In the first race, a dash of 4½ furlongs for two year olds, there was a plunge on Just High, which sent him to the post as odds-on favorite at 7 to 10, but he got away to a poor start, while Daddy Bill went out to set the pace. Little Donald came up with a strong challenge on the turn, and then quit soon after turning into the stretch, while Daddy Bill went on to win handily. Just High moved up steadily and took second place from Singing Girl in the final strides.

Girl Seeks Jockey's License.

A girl from Nebraska is giving the Aurora steward some perplexing moments. Lillian Jenkinson arrived at the track yesterday with her father and three of the latter's thoroughbreds, King Boy, Sweetest Heart, and It's Keen. Immediately the girl applied for a jockey's license.

MICHIGAN GOLF TEAM DEFEATS NORTHWESTERN

Fischer Shoots 146 in 14 to 4 Victory.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Johnny Fischer, Big Ten and national intercollegiate golf champion, shot rounds of 71 and 75 as his contribution to Michigan's 14 to 4 victory over Northwestern at Kildeer Country club yesterday.

The meet was Fischer's first Chicago appearance and his sensational shooting over a water soaked and wind blown course indicated that the youngster probably will return here next month for the national open at the North Shore Golf club.

Johnny's par equaling 34—37—71 came in the morning best ball four some and enabled him and his teammate, Cal Markham, to defeat Hal Reid and Bob Brown of Northwestern, 3 to 0. Reid shot 40—37—77 in this round for the second best score of the day.

Beat Flynn, McDonald, 2-1.

In the other foursome match, Alex Jolley and Ed Dayton of Michigan defeated Northwestern's pair, Bill Flynn and Bob MacDonald, 2 to 1. Dayton's score was 79 while Jolley had an 80. MacDonald and Flynn shot 81 and 83, respectively.

It fell to the lot of Paul MacDonald, Northwestern's captain, to face Fischer in the afternoon singles match which the Michigan star won, 3 to 0. MacDonald shot par golf for the first six holes in the face of three scorching birdies by Fischer on the third, fourth, and fifth holes.

MacDonald Gets 38 on Nine.

Such brilliancy proved too much for MacDonald and he was one over par on each of the next three holes to finish the nine with a 38. Fischer drove over the green to take a 5 on the ninth for a 36, one over par. Fischer toured the home nine in 39 for a 75, while MacDonald scored a 41 for 79.

Results of the other singles matches:

Markham [Michigan] defeated Bryan [Northwestern], 3 to 0.

Reid [Northwestern] and Dayton [Michigan] tied, 1½ to 1½.

Flynn [Northwestern] tied Jolley [Michigan], 1½ to 1½.

The private clubs of the Chicago district are not the only golfing organizations hereabouts looking forward to a busy summer during A Century of Progress year. The Chicago Daily Fee Golf association, having made a success of its first annual championship tournament last year, is now planning the second event on a far more extensive scale, one which may bring hundreds of title seekers to the 26 member courses of the association over a period of nearly two months.

According to Bill Langford of Mid-City, secretary of the association, a preliminary series of rounds will be held at each course from May 27 to June 11. During this period, any golfer may turn in any number of 18 hole medal scores made on a particular course, and at the end of that time the course manager or professional will select three flights—championship, first and second—from the best cards turned in. Club championships will be decided in each of these flights on successive Sundays.

The winners in each flight at each course will then become eligible for the grand championship finals, to be decided on three courses July 21, 22 and 23. The championship flight will battle at Northbrook, the first flight at Kinsman, and the second at Woodridge. Two eighteen hole match play rounds will be played the first two days, with a 36 hole at each on July 23.

A new method of conducting the annual par competition of the Women's Western Golf association, to be held on Aug. 1 at all clubs, has been decided upon by the executive committee of the association. Instead of playing from scratch, as has been the case in the past, handicaps will be applied, and since the tournament is at match play, the allowance will be seven-eighths of the players' handicaps. It is hoped in this way to balance competition. Each member club of the association is allowed to enter four players.

Jess Sweetser has been elected chairman of the handicap committee of the Handicap Golfers' Association of America, and Francis Ouimet chairman of the tournament committee. The purpose of the association is to establish a nation-wide system of course rating and individual handicapping, and has been endorsed by all of the leading associations throughout the country, with the eventual result that more than 200,000 golfers are expected to be enrolled on the association's list.

A national handicap championship will be decided before the summer ends, with each club conducting its own play on its own course before July 15. The association will then determine the difference in players and courses throughout the country, and a final playoff will be held between July 16 and Sept. 1.

Max Marston is president of the association, while R. Arthur Wood of Exmoor, president of the Western Golf association, and Harry E. Radix of Ridgemoor and Oak Park, president of the Chicago District Golf association, are among the vice presidents and also are members of the executive committee.

The unemployment situation, as well as golf, will figure in the general scheme at Tam o' Shanter this year, according to a new caddy arrangement devised by Dr. Robert L. Borchert, president of the club. As each caddy is registered for the season he is questioned concerning how many are in his family and how many are employed. Preference will be given to caddies who are the sole support of their families. No caddy will be assigned to a member when there is a worker in that caddy's family until all those caddies whose earnings are the sole income of a family are given employment.

"This is likely to lead to some objection from members who have regular caddies," Dr. Borchert said, "but we feel that all of them will see that we are trying to help these boys support their families and will coöperate with us."

MOON MULLINS—THE SECRET OF EMMY'S SUCCESS

FEED BOX DOPE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—[Special.]—The Wake's sunrise route, if there had been any sun this morning, was to the barn of Head Play, leading western hope for the Kentucky Derby Saturday. The chestnut scion of My Play-Red Head was in fine spirits after his victory in the Derby Preparation purse yesterday.

Freshly shaven, Head Play was slouching around in the cool air in heavy golf knickers, wool stockings, and a sweater of green with cerise band, stable colors of Mrs. W. Crump, his owner, who is the wife of a former jockey.

"Glad to see you, Harve," whinnied Head Play in his exuberance while we were still some distance away. "Let's see, last time we met was when I beat a good field in the Hawthorne Juvenile last summer, wasn't it? Well, I'm on my way for 1933.

"Yesterday was my first start as a 3 year old. Lived right up to my workouts, didn't I? Took Charley O. and these other westerners easily. Same thing next Saturday, only the eastern starters will be included. You'll be around to see me Sunday morning all right for an interview with the winner.

"But, Heady," we remonstrated, thinking he was becoming a little egotistical, "from where I sat Charley O. ran as good a race as you did. He was 15 lengths out of it after half a mile and finished only 4 lengths behind you and coming strong."

"Sure enough," retorted Head Play, "but I was in a jam, too, on the back stretch, but came away when I was called on and was scarcely breathing at the end. Praise Charley O. all you like, but to whose owner did they pay first money? That's the answer.

"Have a cigar," said Head Play, handing us a long cheroot and lighting one himself. "Trainer Crump is letting me smoke today on the strength of that victory. Guess he wants to watch my smoke Saturday," and the son of My Play emitted one of those throaty horse laughs to which we have become accustomed at Churchill Downs.

"Take a slant at my record. I started twelve times as a 2 year old, with 5 victories, and only 4 times, including once left at the post, outside the money, with total winnings of $16,590. Pretty good for a cheap yearling, isn't it? You remember I drew no bidders at the yearling sales, so Mr. Crump was coaxed to bid me in for only $575 and gave me to his wife for a Christmas present. Now some fellows are trying to buy me for $30,000 and half my Derby purse if I win, which I surely will. Rather hope the Crumps keep me, as I'd like to run in a lady's colors in the Derby.

"Now, another thing, Harve, I'm American—all American, if you please, as you say in football, if you don't mind my jesting. I'm of the Fair Play-Domino cross, distinctly American breeding. No foreign blood, so I'm not asking any one to scale down any war debts. Just inflate your bank roll Saturday with a little wager on me."

We left this confident, impressive fellow for a peek at Mr. Khayyam, which won the Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace last Saturday. Mr. Khayyam was resting after a morning workout and sipping a chocolate malted milk. To our greeting he responded, "You're always great on sentiment, Wake; you ought to be for me. Although previously I've always raced in the east, I'm a westerner at heart, for we're a Kentucky family on mother's side and dad took out his naturalization papers to become an American citizen here.

"You probably saw dad win this Derby in 1917, the only imported horse that ever did. He was a long shot, too, just as they're making me a long shot despite my Chesapeake win. They say I got off to a running start. Certainly I did. That's what you try to do at the post if you can. Even so, I beat Pomponius by a greater margin than the advantage of the start. Pomponius is Ladysman's stable mate and will run with him Saturday. Now I want to beat the pair of them and end this argument.

"As a 2-year-old, I started ten times with three brackets and four times outside the money for earnings of $3,490. That's not so much money but it more than kept me in cigarets. Besides this is 1933 with a new deal on as President Roosevelt says. Already I'm started with $7,475 net in the Chesapeake, more than all last year, and I'm just beginning. Now don't forget what I say, even if some of your eastern friends are not giving me much credit or even much chance in the Derby. Therefore, it's a sure thing I'll be at a price. I may see you in Chicago. The Derby will supply the answer."

The Wake is conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

Boston, Mass., May 3.—(AP)—Extra base hits off the bats of Walter Berger, Wes Schulmerich and Wilfred Knothe today conquered Red Lucas for the first time this season and gave the Boston Braves a 6 to 4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the only game played in the National league.

Going into the eighth, Lucas was well on his way to his fourth victory when Randy Moore, whose triple had led to the Braves' first run in the fourth, cracked out a single. Berger followed with a triple, and in rapid succession Knothe and Schulmerich hit home runs. Score:

Phagan, Purvis Are Rematched on Cicero Card

Johnny Phagan, 1932 Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Jackie Purvis of Indianapolis signed yesterday to meet in an eight round bout at the Cicero stadium on May 12. This match replaces the windup between Kid Irish and Jimmy Lamberson. Irish will face Johnny Fitzpatrick, Chicago featherweight, in the six round semi-final. The Phagan-Purvis bout is a rematch. Purvis won an eight round decision from Phagan at the Cicero arena several weeks ago.

The balance of the card follows: Hershie Wilson vs. Ed Smith [4], Biff Bennett vs. Bob Stone [4], Little Pal vs. Al De Rose [4], Walter Jerz vs. Jackie Parker [4], Joey Kleko vs. Izzy Lubansky [4].

Metnen Kumis and Paddy Waltier, local lightweights, meet tonight at the Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street, in a five round contest. Four other contests and a wrestling exhibition will complete the bill. They are: Johnny Reba vs. Henry Wyzorak, Art Mitchell vs. Arthur Greer, James Jenkins vs. George Williams, Al De Rose vs. Jim Richards.

Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, has resumed drills after several days' idleness because of a bruised right hand. He is anticipating a bout at the Stadium May 19.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Fighting Irish are coming back to the gridiron.

Tobin, Costello, Layden, and Hanley. Believe it or not, but all four are candidates for the right half back position on the 1933 Notre Dame football team.

If that isn't convincing, we hasten to add that one of the most promising newcomers to the Notre Dame squad is a tackle named Sullivan. And there are Gorman, McGuff, Roach, and De Vore, all full blooded descendants of Brian Boru. It looks as if the new deal is in effect at Notre Dame, too.

ANDY PILNEY.

There will still be plenty of room for the Italians, Bohemians, Poles, and Jews. An Italian quarter back named Mazzoitti is the best looking field general the squad has had since Frank Carideo. He comes from White Plains, N. Y., the neighborhood that sent Carideo to South Bend.

"Mazzoitti has more natural ability than the average run of back field men," said Coach Heartly Anderson the other day. "He weighs 195 pounds and is built close to the ground. He has plenty to learn about the mechanics of the quarter back job, for he played half back in high school. But I am impressed with his blocking. That was our great need last season—a quarter back who could block."

Notre Dame completes spring football practice today. Anderson at the risk of ejection from the coaches' association admits he is satisfied with his material. He even predicts he has a great team in the making.

Anderson will be assisted in the development of the squad by Marchmont Schwartz and Nordy Hoffman, who recently received salary increases; Tom Conley and Ike Voedisch. Conley, captain of the 1930 eleven, is the new member on the staff.

You may as well become acquainted with some new names that will appear frequently in Notre Dame stories next fall. We referred in an earlier paragraph to Mike Layden. He's a brother of Elmer the Great, who was full back on the Four Horsemen teams of 1922-'23-'24. He is a hurdler of note, and South Bend fans say he will be equally brilliant on the gridiron. He will have to battle it out with Brancheau, Tobin and Costello, holdovers from last season, and Hanley, a full back on the 1930 team, for the right half back position. Hanley dropped out of school after one year's competition.

At left half back will be Lukats, the fast stepping boy from Gary who was a standout on the 1932 eleven, and Andy Pilney, the sensational Harrison High school star of 1931. Pilney led Harrison to the Chicago Public school championship and his team swamped Mount Carmel, Catholic league winner and Miami Fla., in post season games.

"Pilney is no flash in the pan," Anderson explained. "He is a brilliant runner but more important he can block and tackle. He may provide the spark we lacked in the back field last fall."

There are three strong candidates for full back. Two of them are experienced workmen, Melinkovich and Banas. The third is an all around athlete from Gary named Elser. He weights 225, runs 100 yards in 10 seconds and throws the shot and discus far enough to place in any meet.

You can see that Anderson's taste runs to Grade A beef. He can put a backfield on the gridiron next fall made up of Elser, 225 pounds; Mazzoitti, 195; Brancheau, 185, and Lukats, 185.

Among the linemen in whom you will be interested are Krause, Gorman, Roach, Pavarnik, Vairo and Munch, all holdovers and Muchitua, tackle; Sullivan, tackle; Millner, Davis, and Peters, ends. Millner is a Jew from Salem, Mass., and Muchitua was the 1932 Detroit Golden Gloves heavyweight champion. Peters was a basketball star at Spalding institute of Peoria before enrolling at Notre Dame.

Hoosiers Loom as Champs in Big Ten Track

Indiana, known far and wide as the basketball state, may soon become the track state, as well. The Hoosiers have captured all of the important track titles in the middle west this year and now are favorites to win the Big Ten outdoor track and field championships at Dyche stadium on May 19 and 20.

The western conference outdoor title is the only honor to elude Indiana in its rise to track supremacy in the last few years.

After a brilliant indoor season, climaxed by winning the Big Ten indoor championship and the Butler relays, the Hoosiers have set their hopes on adding the outdoor title to their list.

Michigan Is a Contender.

To win this championship the Hoosiers must accept a strong challenge from Michigan, which won last year's meet and which finished only four points behind Indiana in the indoor games last winter. Both teams have picked up additional strength as a result of the field events in the outdoor program.

Indiana will present a well balanced squad which figures to score heavily in both the track and field events. Charles Hornbostel, crack half miler, heads the running contingent, which includes, among others, Ivan Fuqua, indoor quarter mile champion, and Cliff Watson, indoor two mile titleholder.

They're All Headliners.

All three rank among the best in the country at their respective distances. Hornbostel won the Millrose A. C. 1,000 meter run and the New York A. C. half mile last winter. His best time for the half this year is 1:53.8.

Noble Biddinger, who set a new hammer throw record at the Drake relays last Saturday, heads the field event stars on the Hoosier squad. His Drake mark was 161 feet 4.9 inches. Wesley Busbee, sophomore weight star, is expected to pick up points in the shot, discus and javelin events.

HELEN MOODY TO DEFEND BRITISH TITLE, REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 3.—The secretary of the English Lawn Tennis association was quoted today in a local newspaper as saying that Mrs. Helen Wills Moody would defend her Wimbledon championship this year. Previously it had been understood that Mrs. Moody would not make the trip to this country.

MRS. MOODY SILENT.

San Francisco, Cal., May 3.—[Special.]—No definite announcement has been made whether Mrs. Helen Wills Moody would defend her foreign tennis titles this year or not. Mrs. Moody could not be reached as she is out of town. Friends, however, said that there is a possibility she might go to Wimbledon, but that they thought she would not defend her French championship.

PATTERN OF FLY NOT EVERYTHING; USE TAKES SKILL

Anglers Must Look to Nature for Bait Tips.

BY BOB BECKER.

Brown nymph flies, black and orange bodied nymphs, small, fuzzy patterns, and large yellow and black nymphs—in fact, artificial nymph flies of every size and description—have found their way into the fly books of May trout fishermen this year, judging by the flood of patterns placed on the market. There is no doubt about the popularity of these imitations of underwater insects with fly fishermen. But as one manufacturer of flies pointed out last week, many anglers are giving too much attention to pattern and not enough to methods of handling flies in a trout stream.

Possibly the answer to the proper way of casting a nymph fly is found in the fact that many nymphs in their natural state crawl around on the bottom of streams, under stones and other débris. In fact, some of our most abundant species prefer the fastest water, where a stream rushes over boulders or tumbles through a stretch of rocks. One in particular [chiroteneles] frequents such water, and, when it feeds, braces itself tail down and head up and waves its front legs about to catch food. This nymph when adult is an inch long.

Have Strong Claws.

With only a few exceptions, stone fly nymphs clamber over stones on the bottom of a stream, hanging on to the slippery surfaces with their strong claws. These habits of nymphs are a clew to a natural presentation of an artificial nymph. That is, do not be afraid to fish a nymph fly quite deep.

Another point about a stone fly nymph is its gait in the water. It does not swim straight nor directly through the running water. It sides along with an uncertain forward movement. Therefore, if we wish to go to nature for tips on handling an artificial nymph we have another one offered. In other words, work the nymph fly with your rod so that it drifts a little with the current and then is retrieved with a jerky sidling gait.

Streams Full of Nymphs.

Undoubtedly trout consume a tremendous number of nymphs every year. And, of course, early spring is the time for the streams to be filled with these curious little forms of life which eventually will undergo a change and becoming flying insects.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR MOTOR BOAT SHOW TOMORROW

Final plans for launching the fourth annual Motor Boat and Sports show, which will open at 7 o'clock tomorrow night at Navy pier, were completed yesterday. The show will last ten days.

Mayor Kelly and Capt. F. Roberts will open the show officially in a ceremony wherein they will be assisted by Commander Eugene F. McDonald and Capt. J. Evers. The show differs from its predecessors in that more than fifty exhibits of an outdoor nature have been added to the regular display of motor boats, engines, and other equipment.

EPISCOPALIANS FACE SPLIT OVER LIBERAL TREND

Bishops Bring Issue Out Into Open Here.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A rift of the proportions of the fundamentalist - modernist controversy, which threatened many denominations until it was politically buried by the Presbyterian church four years ago, now is threatening to disturb the traditional calm of the Protestant Episcopal church.

This became evident last night at St. Luke's pro-cathedral, Evanston, when two prominent bishops debated the question as to whether intercommunion should or should not precede church unity.

The two bishops were the Rt. Rev. William Scarlett, liberal, of Missouri, and the Rt. Rev. Irving P. Johnson, traditionalist, of Colorado. The debate was held in connection with the national church congress, which is holding its annual four day sessions here. The controversy did not arise suddenly, like the fundamentalist strife, but has been coming into the foreground gradually as liberalism has increasingly challenged restrictions which tradition has laid on fellowship with other Christian groups.

Rift Years in Developing.

Dr. Howard Chandler Robbins of New York, chairman of the congress, introduced the debate by saying that this was the first occasion when the dispute actually had come into the open, although it has been politically important in the conclaves and ecclesiastical appointments of the church for many years.

Bishop Johnson asserted that the letting down of the bars to permit intercommunion with other Christian churches would "make the Episcopal household of faith a cafeteria." He condemned Bishop Scarlett for holding a communion service in the St. Louis cathedral about a year ago in which Methodist, Baptist and other ministers officiated at the altar. Such practices, Bishop Johnson contended, like all compromises, are sources of conflict. He said a previous Missouri compromise was a leading cause of the civil war.

Calls Practices Erroneous.

"If such practises are persisted in," Bishop Johnson continued, "I should feel it my duty as a bishop to banish and drive away from the church such practices as erroneous and contrary to God's word and destructive to the faith as this church has received the same."

Bishop Johnson drew his illustrations from jelly fish and other spineless creatures as he contended that the altar and the historic priesthood form the backbone of the church. When the bishop concluded his argument, Dr. Robbins, a widely known liberal, called for the singing of the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ Her Lord."

Defends Intercommunion.

Bishop Scarlett's argument was based on a clear definition of intercommunion. He made it plain that intercommunion was not to be indiscriminate or careless, but that "when a group of sincere men, perplexed by the divisions in the Body of Christ, meet together for the purpose of exploring paths to unity," a service of intercommunion then is "an event which 'introduces God into the world' in a new concretion."

Bishop Scarlett declared that there is no authoritative definition in the Anglican communion which would imply that ordination of a priest by a historic bishop is essential to the celebration of a valid service of holy communion.

The congress continues today and tomorrow. This afternoon the visitors will tour the grounds of A Century of Progress and also will visit Hull house.

John Rasmussen, 89 years old, 1807 Morse avenue, who was boatswain of the Union ship, the Monitor, during the civil war, died yesterday at his home. Rasmussen, who was a custom shoemaker with a shop in the Temple building, 77 West Washington street, had made shoes for many prominent men, including the late President Wilson.

Hiram P. Roundtree, an instructor in public speaking with offices in the Temple building, who was an usher with Rasmussen in the First Methodist Episcopal church, told yesterday of Rasmussen's exploits in the civil war.

Fires Shell Into Porthole.

"John never tired of telling of that fight between the Monitor and the confederate ironclad Merrimac in 1862," Roundtree said. "He was particularly proud of the fact that he fired a shell into a porthole of the Merrimac, silencing one of her guns.

"And then there was that day in 1865 when another naval vessel on which he served came up the Potomac river and President Lincoln shook hands with all the crew. John never forgot that moment. The next day President Lincoln was assassinated."

$35 for Wilson's Shoes.

Rasmussen was recommended to President Wilson in 1914, Roundtree said, and Rasmussen made a pair of shoes for him, and charged him $35.

Rasmussen was a bachelor and had no immediate relatives. Funeral services will be held today from the First Methodist Episcopal church.

SIX RELATIVES ATTACK WILL OF MISS LIZZIE BALL

The $100,000 estate left by Miss Lizzie Ball, who died on March 13, 1932, is sought by six nieces and nephews, who filed a bill seeking to set aside her will in the Circuit court yesterday. The Little Sisters of the Poor, the sole beneficiary under the will, and Miss Mary Parkinson, head of Ball & Bros., playing card manufacturers at 25 North Wacker drive, were named defendants.

The bill recited that Miss Parkinson was for many years a secretary to Miss Annie Ball, one of the founders of the playing card company, a sister of Miss Lizzie Ball. At Miss Anna Ball's death in 1916, the bill stated, Miss Parkinson purchased control of the business and remained a close friend of Miss Lizzie Ball. The bill charges that Miss Parkinson "used many undue arts and fraudulent practices and resorted to falsehood and misrepresentation" to induce Miss Lizzie Ball to bequeath the Little Sisters of the Poor her entire fortune. None of Miss Ball's relatives was named in the will, the bill said.

MUSTACHE RACE REBELS REVERSE AN OLD CUSTOM

Years of tradition were reversed yesterday at the University of Chicago when rebels in the senior class mustache contest ducked three mustache growers in Botany pond.

The mustache contest started last week, every senior being expected to grow a mustache. In years past those who failed to enter the race were ducked in the pond.

Yesterday a group of nonmustache growers, or rebels, banded. In a few minutes they tossed into the pond Jerry Johntry, cheer leader; Don Birney, Maroon football captain last year, and Ross Whitney, president of the intrafraternity council. The mustache growers more than evened the score by nightfall, however, ducking the following nonmustache growers: Bill Cassels, Walter Maneikis, Bob Wallace and George Schnur, football players, and Tom Reul and Marshall Newman.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia Overcomes Troubles Caused by Acid Indigestion

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full, bloated feeling after eating is almost certain evidence of too much hydrochloric acid in the stomach, causing so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous. Too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leads to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to try to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from Walgreen's a little Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in water right after eating. This will drive out the gas, wind and bloat, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and stop sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder form — never in liquid or milk) is harmless, inexpensive, and a fine remedy for acid stomach. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no fear of indigestion.

STOCK PRICES FLOW LIKE TIDE; FINISH ON EBB

Sag When Inflation Good News Is Out.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—Capricious winds blew across the stock market today and the course of price movements was zigzaggy and uncertain. A steady run of profit taking in the first hour and a half or so gave way to a rather smart little rally in the afternoon when news came that the inflation bill had made the house hurdle. But realizing orders gained the balance again in the final hour and the close found a majority of the group leaders behind minus signs. Losses were limited generally to a point or so. Volume rose to over 4,600,000 shares.

Fluctuations on the grain pit were a factor of some weight, particularly on the farm and mail order stocks, and brokers thought the slightly improved tone of the midweek business reviews, particularly those on the steel and utility industries, might have contributed to bullish sentiment.

Believe Shorts Selling.

Some of the late selling was supposed to have come from speculators who had been itching to increase their short positions during the last few days, their offerings being based probably on the theory that the "inflation" advance had been too rapid. Now, with the bill through the house and "the good news out," they think the list might reasonably be expected to fall back and consolidate its ground. Leading issues met with encouraging support, however, and bull ring masters reported themselves as well pleased with the manner in which the market had stood its test.

Naturally enough, the so-called commodity stocks made the best net showing on the day. Rubber and tire shares had an early rapid spurt on the general rise in tire prices.

"Farm" Issues Advance.

In the farm implements division, Case set the pace with a spurt of some 3 points but the setback in wheat brought the issue down to within a point of its previous closing levels. Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward were active and strong for most of the session.

On the other hand, the rails found that their new found friends in yesterday's market had deserted their corner for other fields and the group made a rather sorry showing on the whole, such sometime favorites as Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific, and Norfolk and Western falling behind the procession for as much as 1 to 3 points or more.

Utility shares enjoyed a burst of strength or two in the course of the day, thanks in part to the week's power and light statistics.

POWER OUTPUT DRAWS NEARER 1932 PRODUCTION

National electric power output for the week ended April 29 showed the smallest decrease from output for the corresponding week of the preceding year since July 18, 1931, according to the Edison Electric Institute.

On the other hand, as a consequence of brighter weather this year, the electricity output for the Chicago district offered a slightly less favorable comparison with output for the like week of 1932 than production for the last two weeks has.

National production aggregated 1,427,960,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended Saturday, representing a decline of 1.8 per cent from output of 1,454,505,000 kilowatt hours in the comparable week of last year. While the decrease from the output for the preceding week, or 1,431,095,000 kilowatt hours, was in harmony with the seasonal drift, it was less than in any of the last three years.

Following are the output and percentage comparisons with last year for the Chicago district:

K. W. H. OUTPUT.

Public Builds Roads, Then Piles On Tax

BY REUBEN CAHN.

Before the era of railroads, the usual price of carrying grain over the highways was 50 cents a hundred pounds for each 20 miles. At the then prevailing prices, even though corn could be produced for nothing, it would not pay to move it as much as 25 miles.

Kentucky at the beginning of the nineteenth century was the most populous state in the west, but at the cost of moving freight nothing raised in that state except gingseng could be sold in Philadelphia for enough to pay for the cartage.

Recalling that at the time the population of the United States was probably three-quarters farmers, the public pressure for cheap transportation may well be appreciated. The railroad promoter was lavished with gifts. Federal and state governments donated to the railways 176 million acres of land. This is approximately one-eleventh of the total area of the United States.

Roads Sold Part of Land.

Dr. H. G. Moulton and associates in their recent study of the "American Transportation Problem" stated that 149 million acres of this land was sold for 376 million, 314 thousand dollars, or a little over $2.50 an acre, but the roads still owned 18,500,000 acres of the donated land.

The state and federal investment in railroad construction was found by Dr. Moulton to be slightly over a billion dollars, including the land, donated cash, and subscriptions to stocks and bonds. That would represent about 4 per cent of the total present railroad valuation.

A further investment on the part of the government has been made during the last year. Railroads rank next to banks in loans granted by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. By the end of March, 1933, a total of $365,782,000 had been authorized for the railways out of R. F. C. funds. When, as, and if railroading again becomes profitable, banks become willing to make loans to railroads, and investors become willing to buy railroad securities, these loans may be repaid. As it stands, however, governmental investments in the railroads have been increased by one-third.

Mail Carrying Aids Roads.

There remains to be mentioned the railway mails. Currently the post-office department is paying the railroads a hundred million dollars per year. This is said to be one of the most profitable phases of the railroad business at the present time.

If railway promoters were bountifully treated by the governments, that treatment has not been extended to the present management. Railroads are among the worst sufferers from extravagant governmental expenditures. Excessive taxes are a principal cause of our prostrate railroad system. Here is one case, however, where Washington may not be blamed much. Federal taxation of railroads is confined to income taxes, and since there has been little income, there has been little tax.

But state and local governments collect for their extravagances largely by assessments under the general property tax. And the general property tax is a tax almost exclusively upon tangible property, which is practically the only kind of property a railroad owns.

Local Taxes Tripled.

State and local governments are asking the railroads to pay about 300 million dollars a year, which is the same as it was when business was at the peak and about three times what was asked twenty years ago.

Railroads have another fixed charge, which is also burdensome, in the form of interest on indebtedness. Congress is taking cognizance of the fact that sustained high taxes and high interest charges have impoverished the farmers. Exactly the same causes have had exactly the same effects upon railroads.

But farming has several advantages over railroading. The farmer is free to diversify his activities in the light of changing conditions. But the railroad is not permitted to make any changes in rates or service except when authorized after prolonged hearings at Washington by a committee of officeholders known as the interstate commerce commission.

Railroads are at a further disadvantage. The bulk of the farmers' taxes go to local governments. Thus the bulk of the farmers' taxes are voted by themselves and spent in their own community. Not so the railroad. It has no vote and no township high school is going to stop teaching dancing and fancy work merely because the railroad, which pays a good share of salaries of the teachers, is hard up.

Auto Salesman Gets a Hunch and an Order

Informed by telephone that one of his firms trucks had been destroyed by fire a flabbergasted business man turned from the telephone to find a truck salesman waiting at his elbow.

"Yes, we need a truck, but how did you get here so soon?" the salesman was asked.

"I was driving back to my office," he replied, "when I saw a truck burning in the street. I read the name and address of your firm on the side of the truck and came here at once."

He got the sale. It was closed before the fire wagon left the scene of the fire.

Alfred MacArthur, president of the Central Life Insurance company, tells the story of a friend who went abroad a conservative "hard money" man and returned the other day an ardent inflationist.

"In Cairo," says Mr. MacArthur, "he went to buy some socks. The proprietor of the haberdashery showed him several British makes. He also brought out a brand made in Wisconsin and offered the American the remaining five pairs in his stock at a reduced price, adding that he was closing out the Wisconsin brand because the American dollar was so high in relation to the British pound that he couldn't afford to handle the American brand.

"In Jerusalem he went to buy some food for a picnic luncheon. He asked for some salad dressing and was shown several British brands and an American brand. The salesman mentioned incidentally that the store was closing out the American brand for the same reason that the Egyptian haberdashery was discontinuing the sale of American socks—the comparative cheapness of British money."

At least one corn belt farm was reported rescued by the rise in the grain market during the last month. P. K. Willson, 75, and his son, 53, of DeWitt county, Ill., hired unemployed men to build cribs along their road, storing 20,000 bushels of 15 cents corn. They sold enough live stock to buy the grain as a temporary investment. Their clear profit was $2,600, enough to tide them over for the time being. They operate 1,300 acres.

The Board of Trade is to lose one of its old timers. "Sid" Jackson, for nearly 30 years with the Anglo-American Provision company has resigned, and will enter a new line of business from his usual haunts.

* *

"Squawks" regarding insufficient help on the part of some of the leading commission houses were heard among the clerks in the corridors of the Board of Trade yesterday. While it is said the number of employés is sufficient to take care of a normal business, the clerical help is snowed under when an avalanch of buying and selling orders comes as was the case yesterday.

Eight Downstate Banks Get Permits to Reopen Today

Eight more banks were authorized to open today by State Auditor Barrett yesterday. They are:

BRUSSELS—Bank of Brussels.
GIFFORD—Morse State Bank of Gifford.
BENSON—Farmers' State bank.
HUTSONVILLE—Farmers and Merchants' State bank.
ELLSWORTH—Bank of Ellsworth.
LE ROY—Le Roy State bank.
LEXINGTON—People's Bank of Lexington.
BELLE PRAIRIE—Farmers State bank of Belle Prairie.

RIVAL BONDHOLDERS' PROTECTIVE GROUPS ASSAIL EACH OTHER

BY AL CHASE.

Charges of racketeering, hints of legal suits, and uncomplimentary remarks were hurled back and forth yesterday, both orally and in letters sent out by the original "bondholders' protective committee" for Cosmopolitan State bank issues and the newly formed rival "bondholders' protective committee." The latter has just been organized by William L. O'Connell, receiver of the bank, and it at once sent out a letter to bondholders asking for deposit of their issues.

Simultaneously the "regular" committee, which has been in operation for a year and a half, sent out a letter to all bondholders in which is this comment: "Much has been said of late of racketeering bondholders' committees and we feel, therefore, that you should be informed of the personnel of the committee which appears above, and also of its program."

The letter lists the committee as follows: Charles S. Macaulay, attorney, chairman; Joseph H. Meyer, Henry C. Brummel, Albert F. Madlener Jr., and Richard E. Schmidt. Schmidt, Brummel, and Meyer are directors of the closed Cosmopolitan bank.

The rival committee, which claims to have among its members one bondholder, is made up of the following: William A. McClelland, deputy receiver, chairman; Peter B. Carey, Chicago Board of Trade; Matthew A. Morrison, vice president of H. M. Byllesby & Co., and Harry J. Reynolds, president of the Independent Boiler and Tank company. The latter is listed as a bondholder.

ORDERS OWNERS' ACCESS TO LISTS OF BONDHOLDERS

Referee in Bankruptcy Garfield Charles yesterday issued subpoenas duces tecum for two bondholders' protective committees to bring in lists of the bondholders so that the owners of several properties may negotiate a reorganization or extension of interest payments under the new bankruptcy act.

In one of the cases an answer to the original bankruptcy petition, attacking the constitutionality of the new law, was filed by the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin. It is contended that the act does not pertain to insolvency and is therefore beyond the purview of the bankruptcy powers of congress.

The bankruptcy petitioners in this case are Lewis F. and Catherine L. Burgh, owners of property at 5644-5654 Washington boulevard, on which a $140,000 bond issue is in default. Robert C. Fenner heads the bondholders' committee. Eunice C. Parmenter, owner of an apartment building at 5012 Winthrop avenue, against which there is a $75,000 defaulted issue, is the other petitioner. There will be a hearing tomorrow on the petitions and the attack on the validity of the law.

THREE RAILROADS REPORT TRAFFIC GAINS LAST WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—Carloadings of the New York Central for the week ended April 29, though falling 7.1 per cent short of the traffic of a year ago, showed a gain over the preceding week. Loadings for last week were 83,325 cars, compared with 76,968 in the week ended April 22 and with 89,698 for the like week of 1932.

Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific reported loadings of 21,156 cars for last week, compared with 20,974 last year.

The Pennsylvania system's carloadings were 80,901 cars, against 72,802 in the preceding week and 88,731 in 1932.

Dollar Gains on Franc, but Pound Firms

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—Dollar exchange continued to improve against the gold standard currencies today, but it lost a fraction in terms of the pound sterling. The market was quieter than it has been on recent days and the net changes in quotations were of almost normal size.

Sterling reached $3.93½ early in the day, but fell on steady offerings to $3.88⅛ and closed at $3.89⅝, up ⅛ cent. The French franc ranged between 4.63 and 4.57½ cents, compared with parity of 3.92 cents, and closed down 2¾ points at 4.58½ cents. Guilders were off 25 points net to 46.85 cents, belgas were down 5 points to 16.35 cents, and Swiss francs dropped 9 points to 22.55 cents.

BRITISH MAY RAISE FUND.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 3.—Neville Chamberlin, chancellor of the exchequer, will ask the house of commons tomorrow to authorize his projected increase of the exchange equalization fund. The general belief is that the fund, now amounting to 150 million pounds sterling ($585,000,000 at yesterday's rate), will be doubled.

There is keen speculation regarding the profit made by the fund in keeping the pound sterling relatively stable in the last few months. Estimates put it at £40,000 ($156,000).

Control in Evidence.

The official control, aimed at keeping the American dollar and the French franc from the erratic fluctuations which characterized dealings immediately after America left gold, has been evident in the exchange market in the last few days, market authorities said today.

The operations of the British government's equalization fund are a closely guarded secret, but dealers believe it is working in New York and Paris as well as in London.

Commodity prices in Great Britain have been gradually improving, in sympathy with those in America, but they have been moving more slowly.

BUSINESS HEADS REVEAL HOPE IN 'RADICAL' LAWS

U. S. Chamber Told Old Rules Outworn.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—The extent to which industry is looking to Washington for guidance and aid, and the widespread feeling among business men that the present economic machinery is inadequate to meet the needs of modern complex social problems, was evident today at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

H. I. HARRIMAN. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

While cautious in their comments on recent and proposed legislation, with members clinging to the belief that industry could best cure its ills with a minimum of government control or supervision, there were others who made it plain that unless business did coöperate for the good of workers, as well as for profit, there would inevitably result a drastic seizure of the country's activities by government agencies.

What Leaders Say.

The present economic system was called antiquated by Henry I. Harriman, president of the chamber; Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, warned that the question of regulation and discipline in industry was not "shall it be done," but "by whom shall it be done"; P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, said emphatically that if traditional freedom is to be maintained it must be by concessions to what used to be regarded as the radical school of thought.

The destructive competition which has marked American business in the past must be done away with, members were told, and not only did Mr. Swope urge the coöperation of allied industries in trade associations to coordinate production and consumption and stabilize industry, but also he foresaw a day when by grouping such trade associations a national economic council might adjust all the needs of capital, workers, and consumers to the end that all would have a secure place in the economic and social scheme.

Tired of Losses.

That business men were tired of being "in the red" and were willing to take almost any steps to get out of it was plain from their comments at the meeting. The lack of enforced trade agreements which have for year been brought before the federal trade commission was a common topic of conversation. It was said that industry would welcome a bill which would give legal authority to trade agreements that would not only control trade practices but which also would fix minimum wages and prices, and make possible planned economies in the various industries, as are possible under the farm bill.

Even inflation was not entirely regarded with a jaundiced eye by all those present, and Mr. Harriman, in his opening address, laid stress upon the great desirability of a reasonably fixed relationship between the value of money and the general average of prices and the need of more purchasing power.

"I confess to a grave fear of inflation," he said, however, "because of the difficulty of maintaining adequate control over it, yet I recognize the need of higher prices. I believe that the latter can be brought about through the medium of the minimum wage, minimum prices for basic commodities, and an elastic control of the hours of labor."

JOHN R. THOMPSON REPORTS FIRST LOSS IN HISTORY

The first quarterly operating loss reported by the John R. Thompson company in its history was shown in the report issued yesterday, covering the first three months of 1933. The company lost $93,643 from operations, which compares with net income of $195,433, or 65 cents a share in the first quarter last year.

An additional loss of $134,905 was sustained on its real estate holdings, which brought the total deficit for the period to $228,547 after depreciation and all charges. Sales were $2,543,055, as compared with $3,282,226 in the first three months last year.

INFLATION SURE, CREDIT OF ALL KINDS LOOSENS

BY HOWARD WOOD.

If there were any doubters who still held to the belief that inflation could be forestalled they probably were convinced to the contrary by the vote of the house of representatives—307 to 86—in favor of the inflation amendment attached to the farm bill.

When the bill was first proposed there were many in the financial district who believed that it would not be passed. Even going off the gold standard did not convince them. Many conservative bankers and others who have been trained all their lives to regard the dollar and 23.22 grains of gold as inseparably linked have found it hard to attune themselves to the idea of a wobbling dollar.

The majority of bank and other financial executives, however, have been basing their decisions on the probability of inflation for weeks.

The president of the life insurance company says:

"The day the bank moratorium began we called in all our liquidators and instructed them to suspend all sales of farm lands and city real estate until further notice.

"We thought it highly probable that there would be an attempt to expand money and credit. Later, when specie payments were suspended we were convinced that inflation was coming.

"Inflation means rising prices for farm lands and city real estate. We are convinced that the price bottom has been reached and we think it wise to hang on to what real estate we have acquired because it won't be long before we can sell it at a better price. Other insurance companies, I am told, are doing likewise."

This position taken by insurance companies has also been taken by the banks. The squeeze on the debtor has been released now that prices are turning upward and the debtor's chances of paying have accordingly improved.

When he couldn't pay the pressure was applied to make him pay. When he can pay he will be urged not to repay borrowings but to borrow more. It has been the history of depressions that that's the way you discover that the worst of the storm is over.

An executive of a big warehouse concern also corroborates the story of the easing of pressure on debtors.

"Instead of demanding that we pay installments on customers' paper we are encouraged to bring in new paper," he says. "Increasing prices for commodities and other goods have thickened the margin of protection on such paper and caused the banks to be more liberal."

This easing of credit is most important. Last year the reserve system made credit easier for member banks, but the latter didn't reflect this in their loan policy because of the heavy punishment being inflicted on them by withdrawing depositors.

Now the story is different. The depositors are reassured and deposits are increasing. Even if they should decrease sharply the banks would have no cause for alarm because the reserve banks have been instructed by the treasury to deal out the new "asset money" liberally to banks if they want it and bring in fairly good assets for security.

The big factor, however, is the advance in prices.

New York banks last week expanded their commercial loans nearly 80 million dollars. No such increase was shown in this district, but normally New York precedes Chicago in enlarging commercial credit.

If the advance in commodity and security prices continues, even though it be very gradual, many individuals and corporations long denied credit may find it easier to borrow.

Alliance National Bank to Pay 13 Pct. Dividend

An initial dividend of 13 per cent will be paid to depositors of the Alliance National bank, 1604 West Chicago avenue, as soon as approval is received from Washington, D. C., M. J. Pufahl, receiver, announced yesterday. The distribution will aggregate $69,000.

STEEL ORDERS TURN UPWARD AS PRICES RISE

Buyers Seek Guard Against Inflation.

The iron and steel industry shows "mounting production, rising prices and broadening demand," the Iron Age said yesterday. In addition to seasonal influences, the release of requirements accumulated during the bank holiday and "protective buying prompted by the fear of monetary inflation" are contributing to the expansion of business. The new impulse in steel production particularly is attributable in the main to "motor car requirements, together with tin plate buying and a broadening demand from miscellaneous sources." Ingot output is now 29 per cent of capacity, compared with 25 per cent a week ago.

"The widespread belief that prices are definitely headed upward has resulted in a general resort to precautionary tactics which, in some cases, verge on speculative activity," the review says.

Scrap Held for Advance.

"The scrap trade is showing increasing reluctance to sell, holding its material for further advances. The rising tendency of scrap prices is nation-wide." The Iron Age says that heavy melting grade at Pittsburgh has advanced $1.25 a ton, raising the review's scrap composite prices from $8.83 to $9.25 a ton, its highest level since February, 1931.

Pig iron is also strengthening. An advance of 50 cents a ton on valley basic iron has elevated the Iron Age composite from $14.01 to $14.10 a ton, the highest figure since May, 1932.

Finished steel prices are buoyant, says the Iron Age. Advances of $2 a ton on hot rolled sheets and hot rolled strip and $3 a ton on cold rolled sheets, have just been put into effect.

Expect Higher Auto Prices.

"The trend in iron and steel may soon be reflected in higher prices on manufactured consumer products," says the review. "The possibility that increased material costs may soon force an upward revision in automobile prices is already having its influence on motor car demand."

Total pig iron output in April was 623,618 gross tons, compared with 542,011 tons in March. There was a net gain of ten active furnaces during the month.

The steel industry still lacks the support of the building industry and the railroads. On the other hand, structural steel lettings of the week aggregate 126,135 tons, the largest total since the last week of October, 1931.

Tin plate output as a whole has increased to 55 per cent from 50 per cent of capacity a week ago, the Iron Age says.

Expect Scrap Shortage.

Cleveland, O., May 3.—(AP)—Directors of the institute of scrap iron and steel meeting here today were told by the institute's director general, Benjamin Schwartz that "a further increase in scrap prices is imminent, due to a scrap shortage and increased demand by mills.

"Steel mill operations will reach 35 per cent within three weeks," he said. "There is only enough prepared scrap in dealers' yards to supply the steel industry at the present rate of operations for six weeks."

ILLINOIS SCENIC TOURS BOLSTER USE OF GASOLINE

Gasoline consumption in Illinois declined only 1.1 per cent in 1932, as compared with 1931. The state was fourth among all states in gasoline consumption during the year. The percentage decline was fourth from the lowest among all other states, with only Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, and New Hampshire making a better showing.

"Illinoisans, during the last two years have been busy rediscovering their own state," says the report. "They have been avid readers of interesting accounts of rich scenery and fascinating history in more than one hundred localities. Many newspapers have issued well written descriptive articles of interesting and economical tours within the state."

HOGS KEEP PACE WITH UPTURN IN FOOD PRODUCTS

Average Rises to $4, Best Since March 24.

Stimulated by additional advances in pork products, particularly lard, and the higher trend of prices in most of the principal food products yesterday, the hog market drove upward to the highest point since the latter part of March.

Advances of 10 cents were general. The average price of hogs at $4 was highest since March 24 and compared with $3.75 at the close of last week. On the corresponding day in 1932 hogs averaged $3.69 and at the low time of last winter the average was $2.80.

Top sales reached $4.10. This price was paid for load lots averaging from 189@265 pounds. Buying again converged in the lard types, resulting in the narrowest price spread of the year. The top and average prices were only 10 cents apart.

Hogs averaging 300 pounds reached the $4, while 352 pound averages were sold as high as $3.95. This buying was reminiscent of former times when such weights brought a premium because of the extra lard they carried.

Cattle Top Prices $6.75.

Light cattle and some of the plain medium weights got good action at steady to strong prices yesterday, but the bulk of the supply met a more cautious array of buyers and the upward swing of the general market was halted. The trade was inclined toward dragginess at the close, particularly in the big weights, which have been selling to good advantage.

Top sales at $6.75 equaled the highest point of the week, but nothing of "stick out" quality was in the run. The bulk of beef steers sold at $4.50@$6 and thin light steers ranged down to $1, with poor yielding kinds becasionally as low as $3.50.

Lamb Buyers Balk.

A deadlock lasting several hours developed in the lamb market yesterday when buyers attempted to prod prices off their higher perch. It was late in the day before the bulk could be moved and prices were mostly steady to 15 cents lower for the day. Springers declined 25 cents. Packers bought wooled stock at $6 and under, paying $5.75 for shorn and $6.50@6.65 for California springers.

According to reports the wool trade has absorbed much of the wool that has been carried at several points in the country for the last two years.

New York, May 3.—The bond market today reacted to house passage of the inflation bill with a broad price rise. Speculative issues advanced from 1 to 5 points and treasuries improved more than one-half point to lead the high grade section. Late profit takin reduced gains, in most instances.

Improvement in governments and other high class issues, in the face of approaching inflation, was contrary to past performances, but the movement was traceable to an accumulation of favorable influences.

Today's improvement in United States government securities was a continuation of yesterday's upswing, both short and long maturities rising impressively. Selling until yesterday at a slight discount from par, the issue of 2¾ per cent three year notes rose to a premium of 5-32 bid.

The rise included bonds of utility and industrial companies, the former group aided by increased power output and the latter by gains in industrial earnings.

Foreign bonds were without definite trend, with German and Argentine issues somewhat softer than others at times.

GRAINS SOAR ON INFLATION NEWS, THEN FALL BACK

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish sentiment strongly predominated in the grain markets yesterday. The anticipated passage of the inflation measure by the house swelled the volume of buying orders to tremendous proportions and swept prices upward 2 cents or more for wheat and corn. All deliveries of the two grains, except May corn, and oats, and rye, in addition, rose to new high levels for the season.

Highest prices of the day were made a few minutes after announcement that the house had passed the inflation bill. But the news brought on heavy profit taking and also what was regarded as "good news" selling by many local element traders.

Big Trade in Wheat.

Wheat reacted more rapidly than it had advanced and closed at the inside figures of the day with prices unchanged to ⅝ cent higher. May wheat, which had sold up to 75⅝ cents, finished at 71½ to 71⅝ cents, while July was 72½ to 72⅝ cents; September, 73½ to 73⅝ cents; and December, 75½ cents.

Numerous sharp advances and declines were witnessed in the wheat market throughout the day. The July delivery, apparently was for sale on scale orders but it was not until the active future had sold at 74⅞ cents that the upturn was checked. This top figure was within a fraction of the price anticipated by some of the leading local bulls over a month ago. Houses with eastern connections, the public and local professionals vied with each other on the buying side early, with profit taking under way in heavy volume.

Corn Leads Advance.

Corn developed into the market leader yesterday, with speculative interest the largest so far.

Despite heavy profit taking, a good part of the upturn was maintained at the last, with net gains of ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, the May showing the most strength. The nearby future closed at 38 cents, with July, 40⅝ to 40⅛ cents and September, 41⅜ to 40⅝ cents.

Local and commission house buying lifted oats prices around 1 cent early, but profit taking toward the last caused a reaction from the best figures. The close was ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher, with May, July, and September all quoted at 24⅞ cents at the finish.

Rye was ⅝ to 1⅛ cents higher, with May at 50¼ cents or ½ cent over July. Barley was ⅜ to 1⅜ cents higher, with the May at 37 cents; July, 38⅝ cents; and September, 41 cents at the last.

SAYS HARRIMAN BANK DIRECTORS WERE IN "POOL"

Cooper Tells Senators Deposits Were Used.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—About 25 of the 27 former directors of the Harriman National Bank and Trust company participated in a pool headed by Joseph W. Harriman to purchase the bank's stock, Henry E. Cooper, Harriman's successor as president and now conservator of the bank, testified before a senate judiciary subcommittee this afternoon.

The syndicate was operated entirely with the bank's funds, manipulated by Mr. Harriman at least in part with $1,393,000, which he withdrew from depositors' accounts. At the time he was purchasing stock apparently for his own account, for the Harriman Securities company, and for the pool.

The pool, organized to trade in the stock, "surprisingly but firmly believed" it could make a profit in buying the securities at $1,400 or $1,500, but "lost everything," he said.

Says Harriman Juggled Funds.

When Harriman ran short of funds he borrowed money from the bond department of the bank illegally, Cooper said, and when the bank examiner came around temporarily transferred funds from depositors' accounts to conceal these loans. When the examiner left Harriman restored the funds to the depositors, Cooper added.

"He did not specifically thieve the money," Cooper explained. "There may have been a loss, but Harriman did not directly take money and steal it."

"Is that much different from the bank clerk who takes money and intends to put it back?" Senator Robinson asked.

"I am not defending it," Cooper said hurriedly. "I condemn it from top to bottom."

Says Officers Joined Pool.

Virtually all of the 20 of the 21 present directors were members of that syndicate, as well as three present officers of the bank, Mr. Cooper estimated, although he said he did not have the definite facts before him.

The witness, who said the directors entered the syndicate as a sincere proposition, was pressed to say whether these men knew of Harriman's diversion of the bank's funds. He insisted time and again that he did not "know"; personally he did not think so.

The New York clearing house gave him absolute assurance that it would "not let the bank fail" and that the depositors would be paid in full, Mr. Cooper testified.

BUTTER NEAR YEAR'S HIGH

Heavy buying carried butter and egg futures forward on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Butter was up ½c to ¾c, while eggs gained ¼c to ⅝c. Butter opened firm and started moving forward rapidly on active new buying. Strong profit taking checked this early drive, but another buying movement at the close pushed the price to within ¼c of the year's high. Statistical news had no influence. Production reports were favorable but the storage news slightly bearish. Eggs were less active than butter. Bearish storage news continued to carry a very slight influence. The four markets stored 29,000 cases more than last year. However, new buying was active and held the market to a firm close. Sales: butter, 166 cars; eggs, 111 cars. Deliveries: eggs, 3 cars. Prices follow:

A FEW DESIRABLE POSITIONS OPEN FOR MEN WHO CAN QUALIFY TO DO THIS PARTICULAR KIND OF BUSINESS

In this business men from all walks of life, who have some aspirations, character and ambition, and who will learn to do the things which we teach them, and then follow these instructions faithfully, are making money. Their incomes range from $4,000 to $6,000 to $10,000, or even more yearly after a period of experience. They do not do as well usually at the outset, because this work demands attention and study. They may start on a basis of $125.00 to $150.00, and increase from there for their first month, and then steadily build up their earnings. In this business there is no deposit or investment of money required, and you do not buy anything—it is not a seasonal business, but is permanent.

Earnings may average but $50.00 a week after you have really begun to acquire an operating knowledge of this business, but within a few months this income may range from $125.00 to $150.00 a week. Weekly earnings of $135.00, $165.00, $185.00, and $210.00 will be found frequently among the incomes of our men, and men newly entered into this field show earnings of $35.00, $45.00, $50.00, $65.00, and above a week for last week in this branch we received $86.25 in cash—D. K., $131.14—A. T. J., $72.43—W. M., $105.29—F. E. L., $94.47—J. J. C., $74.31—H. W. E., his first week in this work, received $48.82.

You realize that today there must be tremendous value back of any business. It must be sound, and yet unique and unusual. It must lead, as Electrolux (not refrigeration), does lead in many cases. Men who make big incomes in this business learned how to do the essential things. They developed self-management and self-assurance like business men. They learned to surmount obstacles. First of all, it was necessary for them to get acquainted with us, know our product, and become familiar with our modern method of doing business.

Former salesmen, clerks, builders, contractors, architects, machinists, farmers, tool and die makers, carpenters, plasterers, locomotive engineers, tailors, merchants and many others will be found in our organization. The majority of them, after sufficient time to bring out their real ability, do better than they did in their previous occupations.

We prefer men from 25 to 48 years, with family obligations. If you are sincere and believe you can qualify, call Thursday, May 4, 9 to 1, at 327-333 Madison Kedzie Bldg., 9 South Kedzie-av.

FOR THE MAN WHO KNOWS THE PROFits made from street and wayside merchandising we have a new, portable retail store which attractively displays and sells quick sale popular 5c confections, frozen products, soft drinks, candies, and gums. Three types of equipment leased with deposits of from $25 to $50. Not a vending machine. Call at Icidairy Corp., Room 804, 520 N. Michigan-av. Phone Superior 5475.

YOUNG MEN, ABOUT 20 YRS., UNUSUAL opportunity in Chicago branch of national firm.; local or travel for order dept.; moderate earnings while training. 11 a. m., 1124 Century Bldg.

MEN—WHO NEED MONEY. TO SELL 350 items, includ. food products. Low prices. Every woman buys. Par daily. We train you. No invest. Davis, Rm. 300, 564 W. Randolph-st., 1110 W. 63d. 3649 Southport.

What Marinello Training Means

We regard our graduates as personal representatives of the Marinello System. Therefore every girl is trained to the highest degree of efficiency before receiving her certificate. Each girl is graduated with the equivalent of at least a year's practical experience and ready to earn big money at once.

The most money is made in shops where particular women gladly pay good prices for the kind of service that Marinello Beauticians render. Why not train for positions that pay the most? That's good economy, good sense.

Day or evening classes now forming. Easy tuition payments. Free international Employment Service—or we will help you establish your own business.
